Items of interest Taken From Neighboring Papers

N. Hildahl had the misfortune to have his knee cap broken Monday in an auto accident. An agent was demonstrating how his car could stick to the road at a high rate of speed in turning a corner. While making the turn in Kendrick, the car failed to make the curb and hit a hydrant. The car came to a stop but Norman kept on going and lit amongst a pile of rocks, with the result as above stated. He is now confined to the house.—Troy News.

The Pool Merc. Co. has a very large squash on display in their show window this week. It was grown by Mrs. W. Buchanan and weighs 117 lbs. This shows what can be grown in Juliaetta in a dry year and with no irrigation.—Record

One of the important events this week was the presentation of a splendid bust of Abraham Lincoln to the Genesee high school by the class of 1924. In a brief but impressive talk, Conrad Caldwell, president of last year's graduating class formally presented the bust to the assembled student body. Wilma Casebolt, president of this year's senior class, responded for the school. The bust has been temporarily placed in the assembly room.—Genesee News.

Robbery at Orofino

The safe of the Palace of Sweets conducted by F. E. Erickson, was blown by robbers at 2 o'clock Monday morning and cash in the amount of $100 and a gold watch belonging to Mrs. Erickson, were taken, says the Tribune. Entrance was secured by skeleton keys through the front door.

The robbers then attempted the office of the Grangeville Power and Light company but were frightened away by a dog. Don Keyes, local manager, heard the dog and went to the door in time to see two men running down the street.

It was disclosed this morning the robbers had entered the Owl drug store, conducted by S. R. Swantek but nothing was missing. Entrance had been effected by removing the glass from a rear door.

The jewelry store of J. R. Hughes was also entered and here the robbers took only an Ingersoll watch. A diamond ring left in a tray was overlooked.

The warehouse of the Orofino Mercantile company was also entered and here the robbers secured the two blankets that were used to smother the explosion when the Erickson safe was blown.

O Wonderful Horse

"O horse, you are a wonderful thing no buttons to push, no horn to honk; you start yourself, no clutch to slip; no spark to miss, no gears to strip; no license-buying every year, with plates to screw on front and rear; no gas-bills climbing up each day, stealing the joy of life away; no speed cops chugging in your rear, yelling summons in your ear. Your inner tubes are all O. K., and, thank the Lord, they stay that way; your spark-plugs never miss and fuss; your motor never makes us cuss. Your frame is good for many a mile; your body never changes style. Your wants are few and easy met; you've something on the auto yet."

Otto Burns and two sons arrived last Saturday to spend the week end at the A. G. Wilson home.

Will Take Big Hunt

George Davidson and Wade Keene have been planning from year to year, ever since they were boys, to take a big game hunt together. This fall they are making definite plans to leave some time this month for the Elk country somewhere in the upper Clearwater region. Byard Davidson of Colton, Wash., will accompany them. None of the party can cook but they are trusting that combined efforts will be sufficient to produce a savory dish from a piece of bull elk steak.

Brocke Brothers Had Big Fire

The Confectionery Stock and Fixtures Burned

Brocke Bros. confectionery was almost totally destroyed by fire about 2:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Prompt action by volunteer fire fighters saved the hardware building and theater, on each side of the burning structure.

The fire is said to have caught from a gasoline stove in the confectionery. George Brocke was the first one to discover the blaze. He stated that it has been the custom of the night shift at the warehouse to get a midnight lunch at the confectionery. They didn't come at the usual hour, so he went to the warehouse to see if they wanted a lunch, leaving the gasoline stove burning during his absence. He said he was away about an hour and when he returned found the inside of the building on fire.

After giving the alarm at the central office he got out the hose, cart and had it ready for business by the time a crowd had collected. The fire alarm soon had half the town at the scene of action and after sending a stream of water from the fire hose into the flaming interior, the blaze was soon extinguished, but not until practically everything in the way of fixtures and was stock destroyed.

It is reported there was no insurance carried on the building but the stock and fixtures were well covered.

Cratmont Editor Married

Miss Della J. Duncan, editor and business manager of the Lewis County Register, published at Craigmont, was married recently to Mr. Otis E. Turner of Craigmont. Now this was one time when a newspaper publisher had a golden opportunity to say something nice about herself, but she modestly detailed this privilege to a fellow citizen who volunteered to properly notify the readers of the Register of the happy occasion.

Biggest Bean Crop

It is reported from the Leland section that the bean crop raised this season by Claud Craig and his brother will approximate 2,000 sacks. They had a big acreage and got a good yield. This puts Claud back in the bean king class. The crop reduced to dollars and cents would probably be valued at something like $14,000. One of the very desirable features of a bean crop is that with present prices and the average yield this season, there is a very good margin of profit.

Harry Stanton Seriously Ill

Yesterday evening Harry Stanton suffered a paralytic stroke while on his way home from the store. His condition is considered quite serious. The paralytic stroke came on quite suddenly while he was at the store and shortly before he started for home he told some of his friends that he believed he was going to have a stroke. His many friends will be sorry to hear of the serious nature of his illness.

Market Days Drew Crowd

Saturday Auction Proves a Popular Event

In spite of the unfavorable weather last Thursday and Friday, the three-day sales event in Kendrick was a decided success. A big crowd attended Friday and Saturday and took advantage of the specials offered. Thursday afternoon the free picture show at the New Kendrick was well attended, the theater being well filled at both shows.

Friday afternoon there was a good crowd at the Spillman lecture which took up the greater part of the afternoon.

Saturday afternoon the free public auction, with Col. Shepherd in the ring held full sway from 1 o'clock until nearly 5. There was a very good assortment of household goods and miscellaneous articles that sold at a fair price, both buyers and sellers being satisfied with what they got.

Immediately after the auction sale, A. H. Oversmith gave a very interesting talk on vital subjects of the day.

The "Sales Day" was put on under the auspices of the Kendrick commercial club, a committee of five appointed by Chairman Wilmut, having charge of arrangements and advertising. The money to defray the expenses of the sale was raised by selling space in the big circular that was mailed throughout the Potlatch country. Any money over and above the actual cost of putting on the sale will revert to the treasury of the commercial club.

No Egg Laying Contest

Due to lack of time to construct buildings and assemble competing flocks and also due to the difficulty of financing the undertaking late in the biennium, the Idaho International Egg laying contest, scheduled to be started by the college of agriculture of the University of Idaho at its Caldwell substation, has been postponed for this year, according to announcement from E. J. Iddings, dean of the college.

"It seemed advisable to have more time to provide the equipment necessary for so large and important an undertaking and plans are now under way for this contest as a leading feature of the University's poultry program in 1925," Dean Iddings announces. "The only exhibitors who plan to enter in this contest have been notified of the postponement and have been requested to hold their flocks in readiness for the contest next year, which is planned to start Oct. 1."

Oversmith Spoke Here

A. H. Oversmith of Moscow, has made a number of good speeches in Kendrick during the past few years, but his talk here Saturday afternoon was the best yet. It was along lines of vital interest to everyone and was real, good common sense from start to finish. Mr. Oversmith did not touch on political matters except to express his opinion of the policies of the progressive party, which, it might be safe to say, was not at all favorable to the progressives.

Mr. Oversmith stated that in the period of deflation which we are passing through, the worst of which is probably over, we have no one else to blame but ourselves. That following every period of inflation the deflation period is sure to follow and that those who bought high priced land at inflated values must take their losses and start over again on present values.

Miss Joy Bell went to Peck, yesterday afternoon, to look after church affairs at that place.

Spillman Here Last Friday

Talked to Interested Crowd at New Kendrick

The out door meeting of the farmers held at the Wm. Cox ranch on American ridge, last Friday morning, was not very largely attended. Interesting and instructive talks were made by members of the extension department of the University of Idaho, concerning swine and dairying. While the crowd was small, those who attended expressed themselves as highly pleased with the meeting.

A fairly well filled house greeted Dr. Spillman's appearance here Friday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by Mayor Dammarrell, who in a few well chosen words, introduced County Agent Fletcher. Mr. Fletcher gave a brief outline of the intention of the meeting and then introduced Dr. Spillman. He stated that Dr. Spillman was not a stranger in this community as he had visited this territory many years ago when he was with the Washington State College.

Dr. Spillman's message, briefly, was to the effect that the only possible way to maintain good prices for wheat from one year to another, is to raise less wheat. He stated that the world's average yearly production of wheat has been increasing faster than consumption and that the only remedy is to cut down the supply.

He said that the price of wheat does not concern the farmer of the Potlatch country as vitally as in many other sections because of the fact that this small territory contiguous to Kendrick was one of the four places in the United States where it is possible to raise white beans in commercial quantities. That this country is also capable of producing very profitable corn crops. He laid considerable stress upon the fact that the production of corn has practically reached its maximum in the state, as soil and climatic conditions are unfavorable in many agricultural sections to the production of this crop.

Dr. Spillman said that farmers of this favored locality might safely go into the production of corn, beans and wool, as there is no possibility of an over production in these three commodities over a period of years.

He said that he would outline a plan at a meeting in Colfax, which would make it possible for the farmers to know at planting time the safe number of acres to plant in order to insure a demand sufficient to maintain a profitable price. An outline of this plan will be published in this week's issue of the Idaho Farmer.

Bean Harvest Delayed

The showers off and on during the past week have been rather aggravating to the bean growers who still have their beans in the field. Some threshing and stacking has been done between showers, but it is anything but satisfactory weather for bean harvesting. Potlatch ridge has probably more than two-thirds of the acreage threshed, but there are many fields in the Cavendish and Teakane country that are in the shock and some that haven't been cut. The late beans on Cedar Creek are still out and Bear ridge and Texas ridge have a big acreage in the field. Little Bear ridge growers have practically all either stacked or threshed. Only two growers have threshed on American ridge, while many others have their stacking well along and some still have their late beans to cut. Another ten days of good weather would give ample time to harvest the entire crop. Predictions are for plenty of good weather this month. Little or no damage has been done to the beans so far, except in a few cases where they were threshed before they were dry.

Brocke raises Big Corn

N. Brooke brought some yellow dent corn to the Gazette office this week that is simply immense. It was raised by his son, John, on American ridge, he has about 15 acres in corn this year. Considering the dry season it is little short of marvelous that corn of such quality could be produced without irrigation. The corn is well matured and the ears filled out to the ends of the cobs. The corn will be fed to hogs on the Brooke ranch this fall and will in all probability represent a very substantial profit to the grower.

Burglarize Store Saturday Night

Steal Two Guns and Rob the Cash Register

The Carlson Hardware Store was burglarized sometime last Saturday night or early Sunday morning. A Savage rifle and Luger pistol were taken and the money in the till, amounting to $15 or $20, was also missing.

The burglars gained entrance from a side window at the rear of the store room by cutting out a pane of glass. Nothing so far as known was missing except as mentioned above and no clues were left upon which to base an opinion as to the identity of the robbers. While the sheriff's force has been working on the job there is no likelihood of tracing the party or parties who committed the robbery as there is no evidence left behind.

This is the first robbery of the kind that has been committed here for some time, although in the past it was not an uncommon occurrence for a store to be robbed.

Eichner-Hunter

According to a news dispatch from Coeur d'Alene, Miss Maud Eichner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claus Eichner, was married to Mr. Kenneth M. Hunter of Coeur d'Alene. The wedding occurred at St. Maries, September 11, Rev. John H. K. Moffett, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. The first report of the wedding was received the first of the week.

The bride taught school last year at Pleasant View, near Post Falls and has been completing work at the Lewiston State Normal since that time her senior year ending this September. She was very popular here in social circles.

Mr. Hunter is a graduate of the University of Idaho and holds a Masters degree in English. He was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity at Idaho. He now has a position with the news staff of the Coeur d'Alene Evening Press.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter will make their home in Coeur d'Alene.

Kendrick News 20 Years Ago

Item Taken from the Gazette Published in 1904

The following Kendrick and Potlatch exhibitors have been awarded medals by the World's Fair agricultural and horticultural judging committee; Gold medals: E. P. Atchison, flax; Wm. J. Hoffman, Cameron, potatoes; Martin Thomas, American ridge, wheat; H. E. Wesels, Kendrick, wheat; M. J. Wesels, Kendrick, wheat and flax.

Silver medals: Sam Bigham, American ridge, beans; William Sackett, Cameron, oats; Kendrick, dried prunes.

Our genial cigar manufacturer, T. P. Lorang, who with the rest of us saw everything go up in smoke, was here Tuesday from Lewiston, where he is temporarily stopping. While here he closed a deal with McCrea Bros. whereby he secures a lease on the east room of their new building, practically in his old local tion and will again be turning out cigars ad libitum.

We note with pleasure the arrival on our table of the Moscow Daily Journal, successor to the weekly. The paper is of good appearance, well edited and starts with good advertising support. If the Moscow people are alive to their own interests and hope to make that point a central one they will stand by the Journal in royal shape for a daily is the very life itself to a town like Moscow.

H. P. Hull and wife left yesterday morning for St. Louis and their old home in Maine. They will probably spend the winter in the East, during which period it is their intention to purchase a large stock for the store. Bart Helpman will have charge during their absence.

J. J. Hamley and wife left on Tuesday's train for a business trip up the line.

Two new buildings for which contracts have been let are McCrea Bros. store building and a residence by T. B. West.

Small Delinquent Taxes

The report of County Treasurer J. P. Thompson shows there is a small delinquency in Nez Perce county this year, the total tax to be collected having been $666,253.02 and at the present time there is only $43,921.72 remaining unpaid, says the Tribune.

The first collection of the 1923 taxes amounted to $420,941.63 and the second collection amounted to $184,797.89, and at the close of the second payment there was a total delinquency of $60,374.75 but of this amount, $16,453.03 has been paid in since delinquency, leaving the amount remaining unpaid at $43,921.72.

The separation of the tax money into the various funds for which it was collected, shows the state taxes are a little over 13.2 percent of the total amount collected in Nez Perce county. The total amount collected for all state purposes is $88,331.18 while $146,817.70 was collected for county purposes, $146,791.93 for the cities and towns in the county, $204,056.17 for the county schools, $76,567.23 for the highway districts of the county, $3,552.45 for the road districts and $137.36 for a special levy in the town of Lapwai.

Four Varieties of Nuts

Mrs. Charles Jessup of Juliaetta brought a display of nuts to the Gazette office this week that would do credit to sunny California. They were gathered from the Jessup ranch on American ridge. There are four varieties—English walnuts, butternuts, chestnuts and black walnuts. All of them are very fine specimens.

Fred Gohre of Spokane arrived Tuesday afternoon to look after business interests on Potlatch ridge.

Manners

Manners have been somewhat cynically defined to be a contrivance of wise men to keep fools at a distance. Fashion is shrewd to detect those who do not belong to her train and seldom wastes her attentions. Society is very swift in its instincts and, if you do not belong to it, resists and sneers at you, or quietly drops you.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The Cowboys of Asia

The Buriats, a peculiar tribe of Mongolians, dwelling near Balkal lake, on the northern border of the Gobi desert, are known as the "cowboys of Asia." Like the traditional American cowboy they are expert riders and spend most of their time on horseback. The Buriat horse has great powers of endurance and always there is great attachment between master and animal.

Foreign Advertising Representative
THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

If every man in business would take a course in advertising it would double the value of the advertising columns of the local paper. The paper as an advertising medium is too often condemned when the fault lies with the advertiser. An incident occurred last week that rather forcibly illustrates the point. A local advertiser carried a special in a sale circular that was mailed to 1200 homes in the country surrounding Kendrick. The same advertisement appeared in the Gazette last week. This firm discontinued its advertising in the local paper this week because it didn't get results, on the ground that there was not a single call for the special that was advertised. It probably never occurred to the advertiser that the idea embodied in the advertisement was no good; that it hadn't sufficient appeal to the public interest to make it of any value. Such things happen right along in a newspaper office but the best proof that newspaper advertising is good advertising is that there are millions of business houses all over the country using millions of columns of newspaper advertising.

S. P. Callison is advocating a change in the game laws concerning the opening of the bird season. His idea is that if the season opened October 1 and extended until Nov. 15, on all game birds, there would be a more uniform observance of the law and birds would have as much or more protection than they now have (which isn't very much). In case the birds are being killed off too rapidly a smaller bag limit might perfect a remedy.

The season is now open on grouse and native pheasants but supposed to be closed on China pheasants, yet it is generally known that China pheasants are being killed by many hunters who are supposedly after natives and grouse. By making the open season include grouse, native Hungarian and China pheasants the temptation to kill some of these birds out of season might be somewhat removed.

The value of a good fire prevention system in town was shown Thursday morning by the speedy extinguishing of the fire at the confectionery. The town has an ample supply of fire hose, two hose carts and convenient hydrants with plenty of water pressure. A volunteer fire department, properly organized, would add still more to its efficiency.

Except for the three-cornered mud-slinging fest that is being played up in the dailies lately, it would be hard to realize that a presidential election is scheduled for next month. Few people are talking politics and we haven't heard of a single political row in this locality so far in the campaign. There must be something wrong in Kendrick unless the present peaceful political situation is the calm before the storm. It seems there ought to be plenty of opportunities to get "het up" over the mean things the presidential and vice presidential candidates are saying about each other.

A farmer who sold out at public auction this week stated that he believed an advertisement in the Gazette was worth more to him than all the bills he could put out. He depended almost entirely on newspaper advertising and had one of the best sales of the season. He said that in this day and age when travel through the country is done almost entirely by automobile, people go too fast to read sale bills along the roadside.

No Danger From Comets

The Naval observatory says that the mass of a comet is never large; and the material is, for the most part, exceedingly tenuous. It is probable that the earth, if struck by a comet, would witness nothing more than a meteoric shower. The explosions, if any, would be similar to those hitherto observed in the case of large meteorites.

Feather Picking Caused by Lack of Ingredient

Feather picking is generally caused by a lack of some ingredient in the ration which is necessary to the hen. For one thing, they may lack animal food, such as meat, and it is a good plan in this case to put a hopper of high-grade beef scraps before the hens and keep it there. In case this doesn't do the work it will be necessary to buy fresh meat daily and feed them a limited amount. The best method of feeding is to hang on a string or wire just about as high as the hen's head, possibly half an inch higher.

Do Not Force Pullets

Early hatched pullets should not be forced to quick maturity by heavy feeding of mash, lest they begin laying prematurely and go into a winter molt. These pullets destined for breeders should be raised upon free range and fed largely upon whole grain, that they may develop slowly and well and go into winter quarters in good firm flesh, with undiminished vigor for the coming season's production. Lights should not be used, unless it is found necessary early in January to stimulate egg production.

FARM POULTRY

ATTENTION NEEDED
FOR YOUNG TURKEYS

After the first five or six weeks, roosts should be supplied for the young turkeys. Ordinarily, if there are open trees or rail fences in wooded spots, or other natural protection, no especial pains need be taken to supply roosts. However, where there are high winds it is better to build the roosts in a shed or next to the barn, or under trees where there is some protection. An excellent way to do this is to set the posts in the ground and lay poles across them at a height of from four to five feet. The evening feed should be given to the turkeys near this roosting place just before dark. It may be necessary, at first, to drive them to the place, but after a time they will come up every evening for their feed and will go to roost without any extra bother. By handling the turkeys in this way, the chances of loss will be greatly reduced and this little first trouble will pay in returned dividends, says the Successful Farmer.

During the summer, when wide range is available, little attention need be paid to the turkeys. Along about October or November they will leave the brood mother, the males ranging ordinarily by themselves and the females in another group. About this time it is usual to begin the fattening if the turkeys are intended for Thanksgiving trade. Along about October 1 begin feeding a little corn night and morning. Do not feed enough that the turkeys will be perfectly satisfied. Feed just the quantity which will insure that they will continue ranging and taking the exercise which is necessary for their health. Another object which is sometimes sought in feeding night and morning is the prevention of too wide ranging upon neighboring farms. It is not possible to successfully confine turkeys altogether. However, they may be kept up until noon and in this way be prevented from ranging too widely.

Summer Hardest Season
to Produce Good Eggs

Summer is the hardest season in which to produce quality eggs and for that reason a producer of such should have very little trouble getting a few cents more per dozen. It really costs no more to produce a good egg than a poor one, though it is perhaps a little more work.

The first thing to do when producing quality eggs is to dispose of the roosters. This is the greatest trouble with summer egg production. The egg starts to incubate and then the embryo dies leaving the egg unfit for food. The second thing to do is to never neglect gathering the eggs twice a day.

The third thing to do is to keep the eggs in a cool cellar or cave. They should never be kept in a musty place as an egg will take up odors as quickly as milk. By following these three rules you will not find it difficult to produce eggs that will be a credit to the producer.

GLEANINGS

Owing largely to the extremely busy season, the sale at the George Larson place near Gumeroh, Monday, was very poorly attended and consequently prices were not as good as they might have been.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Looser and family arrived recently from Missouri where they have resided for several years. They expect to locate in the Cedar Creek country. While in Missouri Henry received one of the Kendrick booster sheets. As soon as he got here he secured a number of copies and sent them back to some of his friends in Missouri who were anxious to know about this country.

According to a report from Juliaetta 6 carloads of melons have been shipped from that point over the Northern Pacific and approximately 10 carloads hauled to nearby towns by auto-truck. Many growers have started to feed their water melons to the hogs as the demand is not very great at this time.

✗ Otto Schupfer and Carl Porter of Juliaetta have taken over the lease on the movie theater at that place and are putting on shows every week. The firm name, according to an advertisement in the Juliaetta paper is Otto & Carl.

Harry Hupp got a satisfactory yield from his 90 acre patch of beans. It totaled 552 sacks, which was a good average and better than Mr. Hupp had expected.

Walter Cochran of Juliaetta stated recently that the mistake he made this season was that he didn't plant enough tomatoes. From about three-quarters of an acre he has already sold over $300 worth of tomatoes and still has more to sell. A short tomato crop in other localities has created a big demand for tomatoes, at profitable prices.

Mrs. M. Bleck returned Tuesday from a visit with relatives in Minnesota. She went east last May to visit her aged mother, who was in poor health. While in Minnesota she saw many of her old friends whom she knew during her residence there years ago before she came to Idaho.

There have been some heavy bean yields reported from the Cameron community during the last week. Henry Wendt, Fred Sillow, Herman Meyers and others got an average of between 7 and 8 sacks to the acre. That beats raising wheat.

The Sunshine Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Jennie Plummer Wednesday, October 8.

The Avalon Players, who showed here three nights the first of the week, at the New Kendrick Theater, drew very good crowds for each performance. The troupe consists of five performers. The shows were clean and entertaining and made a hit in this locality.

Warning! The enlarged picture men invaded the country this week.

The Leland high school professor and the M. E. pastor opened fire on the brush pheasants last Saturday with good luck.

Nature of Static

As spoken of in connection with radio static is a condition in which electro-magnetic waves affect the receiving set. Static is produced by electrical storms and by atmospheric electrical discharges. Such waves are also known as "strays" or "r's." Briefly, static may be said to be electric waves set in motion by atmospheric disturbances as distinguished from electric waves from a broadcasting station.

Clean Sand Is Favored for Vegetable Storing

Sand makes a very good medium for the storing of potatoes, carrots, beets and parsnips. These vegetables should be kept cool, fairly moist, and free from contact with circulating air, in order to be stored without wilting or starting growth. In the absence of a suitable storage house, the use of sand is most effective.

The sand for storing purposes should be free from organic matter. It should also be renewed each year, as the sand in which vegetables have been stored may contain rot spores from the previous winter.

The common method of storing is to place alternate rows of roots and sand in a box on the basement floor. Or the roots may be placed in a conical pile covered with a layer of sand about eight inches deep.
