Items of interest Taken From Neighboring Papers

Willis Huntsberger, 14, was taken to the county jail Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Grant Robbins upon complaint of a number of residents and business men of this community. He has been attending school in the seventh grade, and it is charged that he has stolen various articles from the teacher. He also admits taking flour from a Troy warehouse, fountain pens, candy and other articles from stores.

His mother is dead, while his father has been making his home at Long Lake, Minn. A wire was sent to that place, Tuesday afternoon, stating that if transportation were furnished, he would be sent to his father.—Troy News.

This fall some 2,500 cherry and 500 apricot trees were shipped into Juliaetta and next spring fifteen-hundred more received. So far as we could learn, Carl and Marion Porter and their associates were the largest shippers. They formed a local company and purchased the Elmer Stewart place on the bench west of town and are setting about 20 acres of it to cherries. They are spacing the trees 40 feet apart and filling between with apricots. Ray Harris and N. C. Halliday, just across Potlatch creek are each planting about 7 acres to the same variety of fruit. The rest of the shipment was scattered among several parties.—Juliaetta Record.

According to a report just issued by F. L. Burkart, cooperative weather observer at the University of Idaho, the rainfall in this section of the Palouse country, from September 1, 1923 to September 1, 1924, was but 17.47 inches, or 4.44 inches below the normal, the season being the third driest in 32 years. The shortage occurred between March 1 and September 1, 1924, was on March 1, 1924, the amount of rain recorded from September 1, 1923 was .50 inches above the normal to that date. During the period from April 1 to September 1, 1924, is the growing season, only 2.57 inches of rain fell which is 4.07 inches below the normal, and made this the driest growing season on record.—Star-Mirror.

Some farmers are said to object giving census data under the mistaken impression that the government is meddling with their private affairs. The government wants the information for the purpose of making estimates. It is held strictly confidential. The government will compel all to answer questions, if not to the census taker, then by recourse to law under the federal statute.—Deary Press.

The three cases of infantile paralysis in this section of the country have fully recovered and two of the boys are in school, while the third is yet too young to go, but all are getting along nicely and do not show any lameness whatever. Dr. Ehlen, who had charge of the cases, reports. This freedom from lameness he attributes to the injection of what is known as the Rosenau serum, made by Mayo Brothers at Rochester, Minnesota, and procured by him from private physicians at Spokane.

The wonders of science are many and this serum is not one of the least.—Genesee News.

Doctor: "Well, John, how are you?"

John: "I be better than I was, sir; but I haint as well as I was before I was as bad as I be now."

Writes the Prize Memorial Story

Latah Girl Wins in Contest Among Fifty

Lucinda Tuttle of Latah is a happy girl and a much honored one for she has won first award in the state contest for writing the best essay answering the question, "Why should we erect a memorial building in honor of Idaho's soldier dead?"

THE WINNING STORY

"It is related of Alexander the Great that when seated at the banquet table, surrounded by his favorite generals, he asked, 'Are all here who fought at Issus?' Clitus answered him saying, 'Yes, Alexander all are here who fought at Issus, for the fallen brave live forever in our hearts and memories.'"

"It is true that 'the fallen brave live forever in our hearts and memories.' We have evidence of this all about us. Everywhere all over the world, memorials are being erected in memory of those heroes who so gallantly gave their lives in the World war.

Monuments and statues are being erected; trees are being planted, bridges are being built; bronze tablets have been put up; and one town in New York state installed a beautiful lighting system on its main street. All this in honor of those valorous fellows.

"But this is not too much. Of all the soldiers and sailors who died, none were more noble, none were more valiant, none were more praiseworthy than Idaho's 'Six Hundred'."

"For them we shall erect a memorial. Shall it be a shaft of Marble, or stone? Shall it be a tree, a bridge, an arch, or a cold slab of bronze on a wall? No. It shall be better than any of these. It shall be a building, beautiful to look upon, expressive of our gratitude, and useful to the living.

"Where can this building be placed to render best service? At the University of Idaho, where students from all Idaho meet.

"What kind of a building is it to be? It is to be a gymnasium, where our young men and women may gain vigorous health, and useful education; where entertainments may be given for recreational purposes. Besides a gymnasium, an armory is to be included. The need of such a building is great. The part of the memorial which is of utmost importance however, has not yet been mentioned. That is, the 'Hall of Memories'. This shall contain records of every Idaho man and woman who took part in either the Spanish-American war or the World war. It is here that the men and women now living and who are to live, will receive inspiration to live nobly, honorably and generously. For it was nobly, honorably and generously that Idaho's 'Six Hundred' lived.

"Indeed, it is of eminent importance that for such worthy cause, we, the people of Idaho, should erect a memorial building."

Long Jump for Dinner

Sam, while walking in the woods late one afternoon, was surprised by a wildcat which proceeded to chase him to the top limbs of a large oak tree on the edge of a deep canyon. The wildcat was climbing as fast as Sam, and soon had forced him perilously near the decaying end of a long limb extended beyond the edge of the precipice. Sam decided it was time to remonstrate.

"Wilecat," he said impressively, "wilecat, does yo' make me go one inch furdah, yo' is gwin to have to jump a long ways fo' yo' suppah."—American Legion Weekly.

Family Home Burned

To Have Community Tree

At the meeting of the commercial club Tuesday evening it was unanimously decided to hold a community Christmas tree, probably in the town park, Christmas eve. In addition to the tree a short musical program is planned, which will include a chorus of mixed voices.

The commercial club will have charge of all arrangements and take care of the financing. It is proposed to have a generous treat for all of the children of the community.

The local light company has agreed to have the tree brilliantly lighted with electric lights and the committee in charge will arrange for appropriate decorations.

The members of the committee hope that the people of the community will get behind the proposition and help to make it a success in every way.

Following is the committee appointed by the chairman: E. A. Deobald, H. D. Newton, Edgar Long, R. H. Ramey and John Halseth.

Joe Fruchtl of Lenore was in Kendrick on business, Tuesday.

Strauch, Kendrick, secretary; J. L. Woody, Juliaetta, treasurer; Grace Porter, Juliaetta, conductress; Mary Adams, Juliaetta, associate conductress.

The Public Feed Shed

At the last meeting of the town council and also at the meeting of the commercial club Tuesday night, the question of a public feed shed for the convenience of farmers who come to town, was discussed in most favorable light. There is considerable opposition to some of the public hitch racks on account of their location, but the council feels that until there is a better place provided for farmers to hitch their teams, it is impossible to tear out any of the present hitch racks. The members of the council hope that it will be possible to start the near future, if a suitable location may be provided the shed will be built.

Will Eradicate Rats

County Agent O. S. Fletcher is working on plans for a rat control campaign to be conducted in Latah County starting January 12th. W. E. Crouch of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey, who has charge of rodent control work in the state of Idaho, will assist the county agent in conducting this campaign. Rats have become a serious pest in practically all communities in the southern half of Latah County. Meetings and demonstrations will be held in all communities where rat control is a problem. Additional information of the campaign will be published in the near future.

The Potlatch Telephone Co. is making a number of substantial improvements in the local system. A new line is being installed over the hill from Main Street past the school house.

Item Taken from the Gazette Published in 1904

Interviewing M. C. McGrew as he stopped off here a few hours on his way back to Walla Walla, we are glad to state that there is every prospect of his returning here and engaging in the general mercantile business. He has looked the whole Inland Empire over with a view of locating but after a careful survey could not find as good a point as Kendrick, hence his decision.

W. E. Judson has been called to the Methodist church here and is expected daily. Mr. Judson comes highly recommended and the church people are expecting some good work to be done in this field the coming months.

The first entertainment by any of the lodges since the recent disastrous fire, will be given by the Rebekahs. It will also be in the nature of a celebration.

The mill is now running full blast, the late rains having brought a sufficiency of water. Manager Roberts is a busy man but we talked with him long enough to learn that recent orders filled were from Louisville and one just received calls for 10,000 sacks for Shanghai, China.

John Hamley left Tuesday for a few days visit in Colfax and Spokane.

A meeting of the directors of the Fraternal Temple Co. was held at the office of G. W. Suppiger at which some business was transacted. It is expected that in a few days the stock certificates will be ready to issue.

H. F. Wessels, our live real estate man has made a good sale, satisfactory to both parties. He this week sold to Harvison Brothers of the Big Bend Country, the Maridu Shepler place, situated about three miles east of Leland, and one of the best tracts of land on the Potlatch. The tract embraces 320 acres and was secured for $7,250. James Harvison closed the deal and returned to his home at Wilbur. In the spring W. H. and family and Mr. James Harvison will return and live on the property. Such a sale as the above, is bound to give satisfaction to both buyer and seller.

Successful Duck Hunt

Two carloads of duck hunters left Sunday morning, while the stars still twinkled brightly, for the lower regions of Potlatch creek. After spending a full day and exploding enough ammunition to stock a hardware store, an invoice of dead ducks showed a total of 6. A post mortem held over these unfortunate victims showed that death was due to failure of the heart to function, probably caused by fright. Those who took part in this successful hunt were: Ted Deobald, Ben Cummings, Ralph Knepper, Mevlin Murley, M. B. McConnell, Joe Gardner and Wayne Herres.

Vacant House Burns

The fire alarm sounded at 6:30 last Tuesday evening in response to a phone call sent in by Bob Dammarell, who first discovered that the residence, known as the John Sandberg place, was burning. The house was vacant and the fire had gained such headway that no attempt was made to extinguish the blaze. The house was located northwest of the school house and was a two story structure. It was owned by a Mr. Bradford of La Grande, Oregon. It is said that the loss was fully covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The local high school basketball team goes to Lapwai tonight to play its second conference game of basketball. The team has so far this season won five straight practice games with Deary, Troy and Juliaetta, and its first conference game with Juliaetta.

News Notes From Kendrick School

Student Activities as Told by Special Correspondent

The basket ball team won another victory from Juliaetta last Friday night when they defeated them with a score of 38 to 9. The score standing 20 to 0 at the end of the first half. This is the first game of the tournament season and gives Kendrick a good start. The Juliaetta team played a fast game but by the team cooperating with each other the local boys were sure to win. Frank Brocke broke into time light and played the best game so far. All the rest are doing their very best and also are improving. A small but very enthusiastic group of rooters went down from here. We will greatly appreciate it at the next game played here if a large crowd would turn out and help support the strong team. The team will also increase in strength with a little encouragement from the people and students. The line up follows: Kendrick, E. Flaig, H. Flaig, B. Dammarell, R. Sparber, F. Brocke, Subs—C. Bell and W. Brown. Juliaetta, J. Carlton, A. Nye, W. Cox, C. Clark, Peppie.

The pupils in the second grade receiving gold stars for perfect reading lessons during the past month are as follows: Raymond Candler, Alberta Sparber, May Candler, Jane Plummer, Evelyn Housely, Frederick Carlson, Russell Humphrey, James Bolon, Gladys Fowler, Herbert McDowell, Dorris Crocker, Ralph Reed. Those in the first grade: Keith Dammarell, Ada Candler and Harold Ellis.

The first primary pupils for the most part, have gained in weight. Their average is somewhat higher than at their last weighing but there is still much room for improvement. There are thirty-two pupils in our room, nineteen of which are underweight. One pupil is 12 pounds underweight, two 8 lbs., one 7 lbs., three 6 lbs., seven 4 lbs. and the remaining underweights range from 1/2 to 2 lbs. Ten pupils are overweight and three are normal.

The following were not absent for the past six weeks period: Phyllis Cummings, Roy Long, Marjorie Newton, Oscar Onstott, Esther Swanson, Ralph Blevins, Everett Bramblet, Dorothy Candler, Elizabeth Carlson, Elmer Fraser, Nettie Mae McDowell and Hazel Sparber.

Last week the fourth grade pupils wrote some very good original poems which brought forth talent along that line.

The third grade pupils wrote letters for one of their language lessons. Some of the letters were sent through the mail; this being an encouragement for them.

This week the music period is occupied by the learning of Christmas songs.

SOUR MILK PRODUCES LARGER SIZED EGGS

It is estimated that approximately one-half of the farm eggs marketed weigh less than 22 ounces to the dozen. This condition can be remedied to a great extent by paying more attention to the balancing of the ration to increase the size of the eggs produced. The poultry department of the University of Idaho, at Moscow, has been working for ten years on the influence of certain feeds on the size of eggs produced. During this period, very definite results have been obtained. It has been found that a combination of wheat, corn and oats in the scratch ration gave larger eggs than a ration of wheat alone, or one in which corn, oats, barley or peas were used with the wheat. The grains ranked in their ability to increase the size of eggs, when fed with the same dry mash, as follows: corn, oats, barley, peas and wheat. When grains were fed without a dry mash, small eggs resulted.

The outstanding results were obtained when certain protein feeds were fed. Pens of single-comb white leghorns gave much larger percentage of marketable eggs, when fed sour skim milk in unlimited quantities than when 20 per cent oatmeal, 20 per cent tankage or 20 per cent peameal were used in the dry mash. When 20 per cent peameal was used in the dry mash and unlimited sour skim milk given only 17 per cent of all of the eggs produced were below 22 ounces to the dozen. When an unbalanced ration was used, containing in the mash only bran, shorts, cornmeal, and ground oats, in equal parts 62 5-10 per cent of the eggs produced were below marketable size. Peameal alone, in the dry mash, did not give any increase in the size of eggs produced over the dry mash not containing it. Eighty-five per cent of the eggs produced were above standard weight, when the dry mash contained 10 per cent meatmeal and unlimited sour skim milk was given. The cost of producing the eggs with this ration was too high, however, and the profits over feed cost did not justify the use of the meatmeal. Tankage in the ration gave a larger percentage of marketable eggs than did meatmeal. Milk whey does not contain sufficient animal protein to give the larger eggs. When dried buttermilk was given with peameal, the eggs produced were large, but the cost of producing was too high.

The largest number of marketable eggs at the lowest feed cost, resulting in the greatest profits, have been obtained by the use of 20 per cent peameal and sour skim milk.

BLAME INDIGESTION FOR COLIC IN HORSE

Colic in horses usually means indigestion. It may consist simply of a few spasmodic pains from which the animal quickly recovers, or the indigestion may terminate in inflammation of the bowels which often proves fatal within 24 hours. Some forms of indigestion are complicated by bloating, and the internal pressure may rupture the animal's stomach or cause it to die of suffocation.

Most cases of colic can be prevented by careful feeding. Sudden changes of feed should be avoided. Also, feed, in a stage of curing, such as new oats, newly cut grass, and new corn, is always dangerous for horses. Heavy grain, such as corn, should have bran or oats added to give it greater bulk and render it lighter.

It is a good practice in feeding work horses during hot summer months to precede the evening grain ration with an allowance of hay. This gives the animal time to become somewhat rested and cooled, and the more concentrated feed will be much less likely to cause indigestion. The drinking of a liberal amount of cold water is likely to chill the intestines and cause colic.

The symptoms of colic are too well known to need description. The trouble, however, is complex and unless recovery is rapid a veterinarian should be called. One quart of raw linseed oil mixed with two tablespoonfuls of turpentine, if given at an early stage of the colic, will help remove the undigested material from the horse's bowels and thereby give relief.

A common method of drenching a horse is to pass a loop in the end of a rope around the upper jaw just back of the incisors. The other end of the rope may then be fastened so that the horse's head will be raised and the medicine, when poured into its mouth, will run down into the animal's throat. Oil should be given slowly, a swallow at a time; and upon indication of choking, the head must be instantly released, as the inhaling of oily preparations into the lungs is likely to cause pneumonia.

Colics which are apparently mild at the beginning may quickly develop into dangerous complications, and a colic that exists for 12 hours will often kill the animal. Colics which are caused by a twist or tie in the intestines or a rupture of some portion of the bowels are incurable.

Best Time for Grooming Work Horse Is at Night

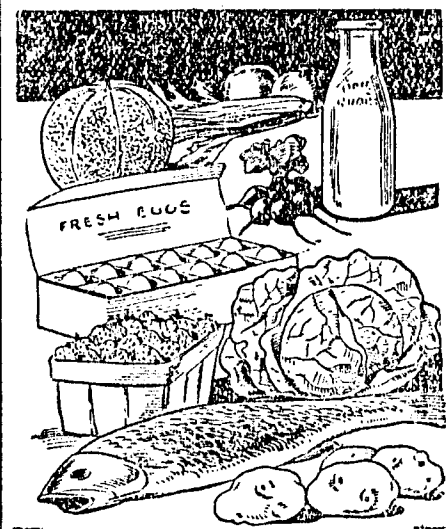

The best time for grooming a horse is at the close of the day's work, unless the work has been exhaustive and the animal is very tired; in this case it should be allowed to rest first. By giving the animal a thorough grooming at night, it will need but a light grooming in the morning, simply to remove the dirt and produce a cleanly appearance.

The horse should be cool and dry. Begin grooming at the left side of the neck, immediately behind the left ear, thoroughly brushing out the coat, moving the brush in the direction that the hair lies; if dirt is excessive and sticks rather close, it may be necessary to move the brush in a circular direction.

To use the brush to the best advantage, it is advisable to stand at some distance from the horse, about arm's length, and holding the arm fairly rigid, lean a portion of the body right against the brush, thus forcing it through the hair. The brush should not be brought down with too much force upon those animals which have a tender skin. If the operator stands too close to the animal, and with his arm bent, he is not as apt to remove the dirt so effectively, since the bristles do not penetrate the coat.

Conviction Needed

"You have all done not so badly," he would say. "But you shall remember that it is not enough to have the method and the art and the power, nor even that which is touch, but you shall have also the conviction that nails the work to the wall."—Kipling.

Teach Young Bull Calf

Teach the bull calf to lead at an early age. Place a halter on the calf when it is a few days old and occasionally lead it around before it becomes very strong. This is better than having a tug of war at a later date when the bull will be apt to find itself stronger than the owner. Bulls often break out and this places a strain on the friendship of the neighbors who own pure bred cattle of another breed.
