KENDRICK DEFEATED BY LAPWAI INDIANS

Non-League Game Played With Lapwai Last Monday.

A non-league game was played at Lapwai between the Lapwai Indians and Kendrick last Monday afternoon, the Indians taking the long end of a 9 to 4 score. Campbell for Kendrick was hit freely for the first three innings, Lapwai netting seven runs in the three frames. Sparber pitched the balance of the game and held the red men down to two more scores.

Mike Raymond, young Indian pitcher, did good work and struck out a goodly number of opposing batters.

At one period of the game a fly ball was lost in the tall grass of right field and by the time it could be located three Indians had kicked the dust on home plate. Allowing for this misfortune the score should have been 6 to 4 for Lapwai, which would have sounded better at least.

Recital And Operetta Pleases

Mention of the recital and operetta, given by Mrs. R. F. Brown Tuesday evening of last week, was unintentionally omitted by the Gazette last Friday. The entertainment was given by the pupils of Mrs. Brown's music classes and was a very successful affair. In addition to the piano solos and duets, an operetta entitled "The Day Before Yesterday" was given by the young people.

Bride With Him

A sailor and his bride were in front of the parson for the wedding ceremony. On being asked the usual question, "Wilt thou have this woman?" Jack answered, "I'll." "You must say, 'I will,'" corrected the parson, and repeated the question. "I'll" responded Jack more firmly than ever. The ifate clergyman threatened to stop the service if the response was not given properly. This was too much for the bride, who broke in angrily: "Look here, ye'll ave Jack sayin' 'e won't in a minute if ye keep on badgerin'!" —Ex.

William Allen White, in an editorial in his Emporia Gazette, makes it just as plain as mud, "The bug under the chip," Bill says, "is the flea on the tip of the tail of the dog in the manger."

Entertainment Here June 9

Rev. and Mrs. Metcalf of Julieta, who have successfully staged a number of interesting entertainments in various parts of the Potlatch community during the past few weeks, will appear here next Thursday evening at the Methodist church. Their entertainment offers an evening of pure enjoyment, featured by funny songs, humorous and dramatic readings. They will also be assisted by local musical talent.

One of the features of the evening will be a one-act comedy portraying sketches of real married life, entitled "The Happy Pair."

An admission charge will be made for the entertainment, the proceeds to be turned over to the Methodist church. Everybody is most cordially invited to be present.

Bought New Band Instruments

A large number of prospective band members bought instruments here the first of the week. A shipment of sample instruments was sent here from Spokane and instruments selected under the direction of Bandmaster Thomas. There is keen interest in the "beginners' band" and with this prospective organization well started there will be no question but that Kendrick's band problems will be solved.

Claud Stanton is driving a new Willys-Knight coach, which he purchased the first of the week.

Judged Ayershire Herd

Prof. Knott, of Washington State College, brought his judging class to the Wm. Cox farm near Kendrick last Saturday. The class made the trip down to judge the Ayershire herd owned by Mr. Cox, as it is the largest herd in this section of the country and is considered the best herd of purebred Ayershires in Idaho. The judging was done solely for the experience it afforded the class. Mr. Cox has 40 head of purebred Ayershires. His herd is known all over the northwest.

HIGHWAY DISTRICTS SHOULD PAY BONDS

Guy Flenner Says to Keep The Slate Clean.

When the largest taxpayer in Idaho declares it will pay its taxes as to highway levies notwithstanding the proceedings bearing on Idaho highway bonds, there should be no reason why any other taxpayer should refuse payment and thereby weaken the highway districts, discredit its bonds and warrants and almost inevitably incur added expenses due to the delinquency.

By the same token highway districts should pay their semi-annual interest, thereby preserving their credit and that of the state.

The invalidating acts of the last legislature have been held constitutional by Attorney General Stephan. That holds unless the supreme court should declare otherwise, which seems extremely doubtful in view of its declaration of general policy in passing upon legislative acts "that nothing but a clear violation of the constitution will justify the courts in overruling the legislative will" and that all reasonable doubt will be resolved on the side of the act.

These taxes and the interest will have to be paid ultimately, why not now?

The good financial name of Idaho is at stake.

Perhaps too much fuss has been made of the subject, based upon some misinformation. It is an action merely to secure a judicial answer to a similar question raised in Texas over a like highway bond act. The Union Pacific took the lead because of requirements laid upon it by the interstate commerce commission, as its attorneys declare. The railroad has no intention, however, of refusing to pay pending adjudication, which seems to indicate that it believes the proceedings will result in favor of the invalidating acts and merely operate to clear up the record. Its attorneys realize that the legislature has done only what it originally had the right to do to correct a possible error. No vested rights are affected and therefore retroactive legislation organizing the districts "de novo" will stand in the opinion of high legal authority, including our attorney general.

The City of Hope

Mountain Home might have changed its name to Hope long ago. For many years its citizens, recipients of benefits from a large producing area, have proceeded as to city structure on hope. They have not added many embellishments, awaiting the time when the ship of their irrigation project would come in, meantime doing a good business and maintaining a sound foundation. Now they are more hopeful than ever in view of steps to finance the project—another empire. Here's hoping.

Do We Know What We Want?

The producers are rapidly changing their minds as to mileage freight rate basis. A leading Idaho daily newspaper recently pointed out the altered view and gave the reason that the many growers have begun to fully realize that such an arrangement would constitute a serious handicap through giving distinct advantage to shippers nearer the larger and more desirable markets, such as Greeley on potatoes. Idaho enjoys a preferential rate over that strong competitor which Greeley wants changed to its advantage, and which would no doubt have been modified but for the Union Pacific's fight against the proposal.

This newspaper said that we want "the lowest rates possible that will move our produce at the greatest profit to us and at the same time that will yield fair returns to the transportation company and maintain it as we want it maintained as to equipment and service." An undoubted authority on dairying declared the other day that the freight rates on bulky commodities grown in Idaho had

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM SOUTHWICK

Owl Puts Lights Out

A big owl flapped his wings against the power wires between Kendrick and Troy, Wednesday evening, and caused the relays on the line at Moscow to burn out, leaving Kendrick, Troy and Julieta in darkness for the night. The fire department at Moscow was called out to extinguish the blaze at the Washington Water Power plant.

made the dairy industry what it is today and will continue to build it up. His argument was that farmers were forced to enter other lines than hay, etc., for shipment to far away markets, necessarily carrying a high rate and meeting nation-wide competition. They saw the advantage of shipping compressed products and went into dairying.

Maybe we do not know exactly what we want. Perhaps we have not sufficient information on freight structures, transportation competition, the antagonism of connecting lines to our producers in favor of their own, and above all, on marketing and distribution. The two latter form the really big problems. All the others, although getting the most attention, are comparatively inconsequential.

Incidentally Idaho will have a big potato crop this year and the indications are for good prices. Beans ditto. Today Idaho beans are being contracted at around double the 1926 price. All Idaho crops will be heavy. It looks like a banner year for Idaho agriculture.

Idaho Pageant Saturday

History of Idaho and the northwest in music and drama will be presented by the Associated Students in "The Light on the Mountains" pageant Saturday night, June 4, at 8:30 o'clock.

An out-door rehearsal of the entire cast will be staged the middle of the week for final preparation before the pageant is presented to the public. Reserved seats are now on sale on the campus, where all tickets will be sold.

Talbot Jennings' version of pioneer history of the state in the production is considered by critics to be unique in pageantry. Revision of the original script by Mr. Jennings for this spring's presentation gives a more unified and dramatic pageant than was presented in 1923. Students of the university make up the cast, with persons taking Indian parts wearing original Indian costumes from the Nezperce Indian reservation at Lapwai.

Miss Helen Mielke accompanied them here.

Time to Part

Phillips and his wife had always been reputed to be the happiest of married couples, so when Mrs. Jones heard that her friend was suing for divorce, she was astonished.

"You say his chief fault is his absent-mindedness?" she asked Mrs. Phillips. "You should try and endure that, dear."

"I did as long as possible," replied the latter. "But when he shook down the player-piano and threw a music roll into the furnace, that was going too far." —Hardware Age.

Heredity in The Child

"What's de name of dis infant?" demanded the colored parson, who was officiating at the christening of Mirandy's latest offspring.

"Her name am Opium Bryant," was the firm reply.

The parson protested: "Opium ain't no fit name for a gal."

"Well, it firs dis gal," said Mirandy. "For dey say opium comes from wild poppy, and dis child's poppy snah am wild." —Ex.

A successful farmer stated this week that the best time to plant beans, any season, is just when the locust trees start to blossom. If he is right, there is still plenty of time this season to plant the bean crops.

COUNTY AGENT SAYS CROPS LOOK GOOD

Yield in This Section Practically Assured.

"Generally speaking the agricultural situation in Latah county now is uniformly good," said L. B. Taylor, county agricultural agent Wednesday morning. "Of course it is early yet but for Latah county, a good grain and pea crop is assured."

Winter grain now averages about knee high the agricultural agent said, while spring wheat is showing uniform though retarded growth.

"The moisture content of the soil is excellent and tends to make up for the late season," he averred. "The only thing which could do serious damage now would be a sudden hot spell which might ripen and burn the grain before it had a chance to mature and headout. But the soil moisture will tend to allay that possibility."

"Peas are coming through in good shape, potatoes will be planted about June 10 to 15, and bean-land is being made ready for planting within the next week or 10 days. Some potatoes have been put in, but it really is too early as yet for proper seeding."

"Winter kill was not an important factor in the county this year, although some Jenkins club wheat was frosted in the western area. Most of that land, however, has been reseeded to spring grain."

"Right now farmers are beginning to feel the damage of squirrels, which are as bad as has ever been known in the county. They should be killed as rapidly as possible and the campaign should be waged now more vigorously than ever. Several farmers have reported that their grain is being out by the rodents and there is danger that considerable loss will be suffered on those tracts."

Approximately 40 Latah county potato growers have applied to the county agent for certification this year. Applications close July 1.

Grain farmers, Mr. Taylor said, were optimistic for good prices this year following reports from other sections of the county and the raise in wheat prices on the Chicago market for future delivery over the last week-end. —Star-Mirror.

Men who have used International Harvester tractors—for months or for years—are steadfast friends of McCormick-Deering farm power. They will recommend McCormick-Deering when you come to buy. Other men, who risked using cheaper, lighter tractors, found themselves underpowered. They fell short of reaching full production with the least possible labor and in the shortest possible time. ## A CASE WHERE YOU LOSE IF YOU WIN

By W. R. MOREHOUSE

Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

(This is one of a series of articles exposing the wiles of sharpers who are after your money.)

EVERY person who takes part in one of the many fake real estate raffles that are going on wins because there are no losers, regardless of the numbers they hold. The numbers, in fact, are only the bait to entice people into the scheme. The raffles are what might be termed "come-on" traps to catch investors.

W. R. MOREHOUSE

If you have ever tried your luck with a real estate raffle you doubtless felt like giving three cheers when advised that you had won, not knowing that in winning you had taken your first step toward being caught in the trap. You were momentarily overcome with joy over your success which looked to you like the "luck of a lifetime."

Puffed over your good fortune, you hastened out to inspect your newly acquired piece of property. A high-pressure salesman representing the syndicate that was "giving" you the lot walked by your side. After a tiresome trip through an undesirable district the salesman pointed out your new real estate holdings,—a narrow, shallow lot, unimproved, uneven, and with no conveniences such as water, sewer, gas and electricity. Not even graded streets or sidewalks. Not worth its taxes!

Before you were fully awake to the fact that you had been tricked your attention was directed away from the unattractive landscape before you to another picture. You were shown another lot, ideal in its location with all modern conveniences soon to be installed, and told that if the lot you drew in the raffle was not entirely satisfactory you would be allowed a credit of $250 for it on one of the more desirable lots being sold "to a few selected people as a special inducement and for a short time only," at the bed-rock price of $950. You were urged to take advantage of your further good fortune at being thus selected and to seize the chance to buy one of these specially priced lots.

ing statements of the high-pressure salesman as to the value of the $950 lot and his assurance that it must double and treble in value, and would pay over the additional $700—to secure lots worth less than half the price they paid for them! The few who would insist on receiving title to the lot won in the fake raffle would soon be silenced by the statement that it would be delivered to them upon payment of

"I've won a building lot."

"Think of it!" exclaimed the high-pressure salesman. "It will take only $700 cash as we are willing to allow you a credit of $250."

Where You Begin to Lose

Perhaps, as you stood there, you began to suspect that other "winners" had come to view the same lot you had won. If you reached the conclusion that it was being repeatedly used as "bait" you were right. You realized that after all there is nothing free about so-called free things. But others, unfortunately less suspicious than you, would be impressed by the glow-certain expenses in connection with the transfer, which, however, would exceed the actual value of the prize lot.

There is nothing to be gained in participating in fake real estate raffles. There are plenty of legitimate sales. Raffles usually are only bait used to trap you. Of course, you win, but in winning you lose if you go through with it. Before drawing your money out of your savings account to go into a real estate scheme consult your banker or a Better Business Bureau to find out whether it is a bona fide plan. Spend time to save money!

Baking Powder Composition

For a short time around 1890, according to Hart in "Leavening Agents," alum was used in baking powder as an acid ingredient, but its use has been entirely abandoned. Today the calcined, water-free material, sodium aluminum sulphate, is the only aluminum compound used in baking powder.

Waterfall's Energy

The naval observatory says that the energy of a waterfall comes from the clouds in the form of rain or snow, and these clouds are caused by evaporation which is the result of the sun's energy acting in the form of heat on the surface of oceans, lakes, etc.

about used car allowances

Most new car sales now involve the trading-in of a buyer's used car. More and more people are asking: "Why should my used car seem to have several values? .... Why should dealers in different makes of cars offer me allowances differing materially? .... Does the largest allowance offered mean the best deal for me?"

Here are basic facts:

- 1 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.
- 2 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value: what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.
- 3 The largest trade-in allowance which is offered on your used car is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; but sometimes it is not.
- 4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.
- 5 Judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

WHEN YOU are ready to trade-in your present car, remember that after all you are making a purchase and not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of a new car.

HOW A FARMING COMMUNITY WAS REBUILT AGAIN

Glass factories and coal mines had kept the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker and the banker busy the year round in Point Marion Pennsylvania. Hired men left the farms followed by the farm owners to get their share of the attractive wages.

Suddenly labor saving machinery was brought in to the old hand method window glass factories. The coal business took a drop and hundreds of people had to find new employment. Savings accounts dwindled. Deposits of the two banks dropped off almost a million dollars.

"Bring in more industries," was being sung at luncheon clubs all over the land, every town seemed to be advertising unlimited water supply, cheap fuel and free factory sites. Competition was keen and the reward doubtful.

The question came, "Why not stimulate the agricultural pursuits of the community which have lain dormant so long." Farm income might be increased and production costs lowered in many instances.

The first move of one of the banks was the purchase of healthy chicks. These were furnished by the bank at wholesale to interested farmers, payment to be made by note payable in six months. The bank followed through by aiding in the dissemination of culling and feeding knowledge and by helping to market the cockerels which in most instances paid the initial cost of all the chicks.

When the pumpkins began to turn yellow, plans were laid for a great community exhibit. Besides the poultry display, farm produce exhibits from the surrounding country were entered. Altogether it made an impressive exhibit, bringing home the lesson to Point Marion people that there were great undeveloped opportunities within their own door-yards which they had overlooked.

The annual exhibit will be continued in the future by the bank. A horse show is sponsored, better seed corn and seed potatoes are made available to the farmers for planting and the bank will continue to build agriculture in the community as a sound basis on which to work. "It will probably be some time before we shall see larger fruits of our endeavors," the banker says, "but we are looking ahead ten to fifteen years."

THE NEW MENACE

Hitch-hiking its way towards the nation's corncrib, the European corn borer is threatening to destroy crops to the value of billions of dollars and chase skyward the cost of production. If it worms its way into the Wabash and Mississippi Valleys, it can readily float downstream, spread out and become more difficult to control. Proper cooperation of all concerned will, no doubt, enable us to continue to grow corn profitably.—Agricultural Bulletin, American Bankers Association.

A corn and apple show is to be an annual feature at a bank in Baltimore County, Maryland. Another banker has been able to get his county to "think corn," over 500 farmers planting improved corn. Many other bankers in the state are giving moral support and funds to this work.

Cletrac Tractor Dealer

Invents and manufactures a four row bean cultivator which is fastened to the Cletrac and with this wonderful invention is able to cultivate from 50 to 100 acres of beans a day and do a better job than ever could be done with a horse cultivator.

It will also cultivate summer-fallow—cuts 12 feet clean—can be used for all year round weeding. This machine pushes ahead of the Cletrac and other tools can be pulled behind the tractor. —Once over, all over. Mr. Behrens had one which he made last year and cultivated his beans. 100 acres can be cultivated with this machine for less than 10 cents an acre for gas. With horses it would cost nearly $1.00 an acre. This machine costs about $100, and will pay for itself in two days work. Mr. Behrens recently quit farming to put more of his time to selling Cletrac Tractors, which are crowned the world's Champion Tractors. This is fast proving to be true for many satisfied users of Cletracs claim the Cle-trac can't be beat for a farm tractor. Wheat as well as beans must be produced for lower cost, therefore the Cletrac and the Four Row Cultivator will solve your problem satisfactorily.

The Cletrac will plow for 40 cents an acre and cultivate for 10 cents an acre; does any loose ground work—in fact, show us a job the Cletrac can't do, or a hill it can't work on—this can't be found. And the next day when the tractor doesn't work it doesn't eat and your horse does. Think of a small 2-ton Cletrac pulling a 5-ton combine harvester up our hills and along side, this is almost like hitching a small ant to a 3-inch wagon. An ant can move a load 4 times its own size, like the Cletrac they have power and traction.

See the new Cultivator—we make them right in Kendrick. The cultivator will be known as the "Idaho Special."

WOMEN PRIMP FACES, BUT NEGLECT VOICES

Expert Gives Fair Sex Speaking Advice.

New York.—"American women may be the best dressed in the world, but they have the worst speaking voices."

Miss Clara Woodbury, who has specialized on speaking voices for a dozen years, and has coached many women in the fine art of good speech, made this remark emphatically.

Miss Woodbury described her vocation—acting, she said, is her vocation, but she successfully manages two careers—thus: "Discovering and salvaging the speaking voice." She was herself discovered at her New York studio, in the East Fifties, salvaging notes from lectures she has at various times delivered before colleges, dramatic schools and her own private pupils. These notes, she admitted, are being assembled for a book.

"This book will be a labor of love and hate," cryptically announced Miss Woodbury, who, in spite of her iconoclasm, proved to be a pleasant young person, a brunette of the athletic type, of Bryn Mawr background. Her own speaking voice has considerably more force than that usually prescribed by the diction teachers. "Don't take my voice as it is now for a model," Miss Woodbury begged as she began to talk. "It's too dominating in quality. One gets that way telling other people what to do. It's a fault, however. The voice should be musical as well as vital."

Assails Indifference.
"You see, I love good speaking voices," Miss Woodbury went on to explain. "I hate nondescript ones. And 80 per cent of American women are included in my 'hate' category. 'I cannot understand the indifference of our women to how they speak!' Miss Woodbury marveled, not without real pathos in her tone. "Time and money are lavished on hairdressers, beauty culturists, modistes, dietitians, jewelers—but not a penny nor a moment on voices! And no matter how beautiful faces and figures are, think of the illusion smashed when a woman opens her mouth to speak untruly. It's so stupid of women, too. A well-bred speaking voice should be the first aid to social climbing and the country is full of social climbers.

"In no other country are women so indifferent to the importance of their speech," Miss Woodbury lamented. "Of course, the English language is the easiest to desecrate. The speech of the most uneducated French or Italian peasant is not nearly so unpleasant to the ear as the slovenly sounds that come from many of our social leaders. English is not naturally a musical language, unless well spoken. But what charms, what distinction, what real brilliance it has in the mouth of a cultural speaker!"

"The English language allows great individuality in diction," Miss Woodbury pointed out proudly. "But how few women take advantage of this! Most of them never even learn the fundamentals of projecting sound. Foreigners say we talk through our noses. Many of us do. Many more talk from the back of the throat. And we never use the mouth at all to help the sounds take form. Our general speech is on a dead level, consummately ugly. I am not speaking at all of grammar, eloquence or pronunciation. I mean just sound as formulated and projected."

Seek Own Voice.

"Every woman has a voice of her own, the same as a face of her own," insisted Miss Woodbury. "Most American women never find their own voice. That's the trouble with so many systems of teaching diction. Suppose the student has a coarse, common speaking voice to begin with. The teacher makes her imitate a musical, cultured voice. That's all very well, but the student who imitates will never have anything but a false voice. In moments of excitement or emotion she will go back to her original voice."

"Finding your own natural voice is the first step in speech culture. Your real voice will be found to harmonize perfectly with your personality. This voice will really express you and not some one else. It will come out with ease. Every woman can find this voice for herself. Once she has it 'placed' her next step is to nurture it, develop it naturally and make it expressive by means of education and practice. We are all extremely sensitive to the voices around us. I know women who unconsciously affect the speech of the last person they have talked to. But this is only one phase of 'false voice.'"

"It's ridiculous! All around are women reeking in riches—everything about them is expensive except the most expressive organ of their personality! And that's cheap!"

The body was discovered when Jewel, an older elephant, began trumpeting. Nandine, a sister, survives. She is in a circus now touring Georgia.

The Thoughtful Man

figures that luxury that costs $100.00 today, actually costs in addition 6 percent on that money; or $6 per, all the rest of his life. At 6 percent compound interest, money doubles every twelve years, so you see that every time you spend $100.00 foolishly you not only lose the original hundred, but also an additional $100.00 every twelve years all the rest of your life. That is why intelligent people are seldom spendthrifts.

Furthermore the time to save is when you are young. $1,000 saved when you are 24 years of age, is as good as $2,000.00 when you are 36, and as good as $4,000.00 saved when you are 48. The first $1,000 will have grown to $8,000 by the time you are 60 without adding a penny to it.

Insulators on telephone lines are continually being shot to pieces and one does not feel safe while walking thru graveyard, field or pasture, as a bullet is likely to whiz by any moment. One boy out alone is not very likely to shoot himself but he meets others while out and endangers the lives of those who are not allowed to carry deadly weapons.

RUINS OF MISSIONS FOUND IN GEORGIA

Were Built of Mixture of Sea shells and Lime.

Brunswick, Ga.—Old ruins which generally have been known to residents of this section as abandoned sugar mills and English colonial stables now have been revealed as early Seventeenth century Spanish missions.

Some of the ruins antedate those of the Spaniards in California, having been established during the period 1550 to 1663 by monks who followed the early explorers of Spain. They set up a chain of missions along the South Atlantic coast, from St. Georges Island, S. C., to St. Augustine, Fla.

Then came the English and the long series of maneuverings which resulted in the Spaniards being driven back into the present confines of Florida.

General Oglethorpe, founder of the colony of Georgia, used Scot soldiers in the campaigns and many of them settled in the country. The colonists attempted to draw a veil over the early Spanish colonization here.

Spanish missions built of tabby—a mixture of seashells and shell lime—immediately were converted into stables and later were turned into sugar mills. Children grew up to know the structures only by their utilitarian uses.

In recent years historical societies and individuals have financed an extensive search of archives in Madrid, Seville and Havana, the result being the charting of the entire chain of missions and revealing a romantic history long hidden.

The largest of the tabby ruins is that of the mission of San Domingo del Talaje, at Elizafield, on the estate owned by William du Pont. In the ruins of the mission of Toimato, near Darien, Ga., traces of a fortress, dungeon and other structures have been found.

Oil Pull

Long Life means lowest cost

Buried in a Cloud of Dust for Days
the Light-Weight OilPull Gears are in no danger

Dust—dirt—sand—grit—those vipers that gnaw at gears—that steal away power—that wear out bearings—that hasten depreciation and add many dollars to upkeep—are powerless to hurt the new Light-Weight OilPull Tractor. You can operate it in a cloud of dust day after day without fear of damage.

For in this OilPull, all operating parts are enclosed—all transmission gears are machine-cut, case-hardened steel, and operate in dust-tight cases, in baths of clean oil. Gears so protected have been known to operate for years—under hardest usage—and still carry the original tool marks. By such construction friction is robbed of its teeth—power is increased—life of service is lengthened—and cost is reduced.

In wet, slippery places—it gives double power—due to a Patented Drivewheel Interlock—by means of which the operator locks both drivewheels together at will. This prevents one wheel slipping, miring or digging in.
