KENDRICK DEFEATED BY FAST POMEROY TEAM

Lose Game in Ninth Inning By 7 to 6 Score.

The fast Pomeroy team, leaders of the Valley league, had a hard proposition taking the game from Kendrick last Sunday by a one point margin. The game was played at Pomeroy before rather a small crowd. Kendrick led up to the eighth inning when Pomeroy tied the score 6-all and then made the winning run in the ninth.

No Hope

Said an Irish physician of a patient: "If he lives till morning he may pull thru; but if he doesn't there is no hope for him."

Juliaetta Plays 11 Innings

While Kendrick and Juliaetta have been playing in hard luck all season, so far as winning ball games is concerned, they have put up some of the best games of the Valley league series. Last Sunday the Cherrypickers made Clarkston go eleven innings to win by a score of 11 to 8. Juliaetta used up three Clarkston pitchers.

Bob Pounds was half of the Clarkston team, making five safe hits in six times up and driving in five runs for his team.

Tie Sales Stopped.

Kendrick people who were bothered with neck ties sent thru the mail will be interested to know that the Mississippi Valley knitting Mills has been taken over by creditors, that Jacob K. Karchmer, former sponsor of the blind "Paunee Bill" and later of "Necktie Tyler, the Blind Tie Salesman" is under arrest for obtaining money under false pretense. Karchmer's arrest was brot about by a St. Louis lawyer who paid $1,000 for 10 shares of stock on the promise of the promoter that he would eventually realize 1,000 per cent annually on his investment. Claims against the company aggregate $280,000 and the firms failure is attributed to the failure of recipients of unordered neckties to return them, or pay for them. They did a large scale business, mailing out 1,300,000 ties to all parts of the country, offering four of them for $1.25. Karchmer first backed "Paunee Bill, the Blind Tie Man," but last October, after a successful partnership, the two split. Karchmer organized the Mississippi Valley knitting mills, marketed his ties thru "Necktie Tyler, the Blind Tie Salesman." The literature sent with the ties was touching in its appeal to help a poor blind man trying to get along in the world, but the effect was not satisfactory as it had been in the past. The public somehow lost its sense of humanity and began keeping the ties without paying for them on the advice of lawyers that the company could not prosecute. Investors in the company soon found that their money had vanished.

Returns From North Carolina

M. O. Raby returned Tuesday night from a trip to North Carolina, covering a period of a month. He wa called there on account of the critical illness of his mother, who, on account of her advanced age of 88 years, is not expected to live long.

Mr. Raby reports the state of North Carolina to be in a very flourishing condition. This was his first visit there for seventeen years and financial conditions there have been vastly improved during that time. There is a project now nearly completed that will connect every county seat in the state with a hard surfaced road. They estimate that the automobile licenses and gasoline tax will pay for the construction of this splendid road system. Mr. Raby stated that this road development is already being felt in the way of better business conditions all over the state.

Juliaetta Teachers Named

Five members of the Juliaetta school faculty were elected for the coming term at a meeting of the school board recently.

Following are the teachers: H. L. Allen, superintendent; Miss Laura C. Johnson, Pendleton, Ore., high school; Miss Helen Hanneman, Carlo, Mont., grammar grades; Mrs. Barbara Smith, Lewiston, intermediate grades; Miss Earlen Stump, Southwick, primary grades.

Buddy Poppy Sale Is Started

Madeleine St. Jacques started the sale of buddy poppies in Washington by selling the first one to Winfield Scott, United States commissioner of pensions. Proceeds of the national sales of the poppies go to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Will Celebrate in Kendrick

Dr. Hoyt writes from Spokane as follows:

"I note by the Gazette that Kendrick is to have a big celebration and after a family conference we decided to attend this celebration. We read the Gazette thoroughly and enjoy news items and comments and ads and often tell some of your good jokes. We think you get out a good paper. You know we are interested in the people down there and know we will enjoy the celebration.

"Only one favor I would ask of you and that is to arrange with Walter Thomas for two places in the band. One for me and a place for Jean Louise. We will bring cornet and saxophone and may not be able to play much but will promise not to make many blue notes and therefore do no harm but help to swell the band and give us a treat."

It is needless to say that the many friends of the Hoyt family will be delighted to have them here for the Fourth. Dr. and Mrs. Hoyt spent a number of years here and have many good friends in this community.

Knepper Ranch Sold Thursday

George E. Knepper sold his ranch near Kendrick Thursday of this week to Mr. McNeil of Walla Walla County, Oregon. He will give possession next fall.

Lonesome Without Rip

A man and his wife had enjoyed their previous holiday on a farm so well that they wished to repeat it. The only thing that made them doubtful was that they had been somewhat annoyed by the close proximity of the pigsty to the house. Finally the man wrote the farmer and explained the objectionable feature. He received the following reply: "We have not had any pigs on the place since you were here last summer. Be sure and come." — Tit-Bits.

Bought Three New Combines

R. B. Parks, agent for the Case Machinery Company, received a shipment of three combines this week. One he will keep for his own farming operations and the other two were sold to Homer Hayward and Charles Hill.

Big Game Here July 4th

The management of the Kendrick baseball team is arranging for a good game of ball here for July 4th. Either the Lapwai Indians or Lewiston are scheduled to play, depending upon the outcome of the games next Sunday in the Prairie league. According to the standing of the Prairie league teams, in all probability the Indians will play here. They have a fast team and always prove to be a drawing card at a ball game.

Has Good Water System

With the recent completion of improvements, it may now be stated without fear for contradiction that Troy has the best water system of any town of its size in the country.

During the past few weeks the municipality has replaced the old wooden mains in the business and part of the residential sections with cast iron piping of standard make and quality. In this work 2600 feet of six inch, and 3000 feet of four inch pipe was used. The work was made possible by the issuance of $6000 of municipal bonds, which were authorized at a special election held last winter. Some $500 of the bond fund remained unexpended when the work was finished which will be used for further improvements on the system.

Two deep wells furnish an adequate supply of pure, sweet water for all purposes. The water is carried to every part of the village through cast iron pipes with sufficient pressure to insure the best of service for domestic and general uses.—Troy News.

Only Two In Town

John Magavin claims that he was in a small town in northern Minnesota that was populated by Scandinavians. Everybody was a Johnson or Olsen, or a Nelson, or a Hilberg, or a Gustavson. John was loafing outside the hotel and said to a native:

"Any Germans here?"
"No," was the reply.
"Any Italians?"
"There ban none," was the reply.

"No Irish either, I suppose," asked John.
"Yaas," replied the native.
"There ban two Irishers. One he ban mayor and the other he ban chief of police." — Ex.

His Calendar

"It's Tuesday, ain't it?" said a little Fredonia boy. "Naw, it's Wednesday," answered his little brother scornfully, "can't you tell?" "How'd I know?" "By the way pa asks the blessing." Sunday when it's a big roast o' beef he begins, "Most bountiful Lord, Monday when it's cold slices he starts, "For what we may receive," Tuesday when it's hash he says, "Lord, help us to be grateful," "Then how did you know this was Wednesday?" "Cause it was stew an' pa said, "Mother, the children are making so much noise we'll dispense with grace. Dish out whatever you've got!" — Altoona Tribune.

Got Results

"Your remedy has worked wonders in my case," wrote a grateful woman to the patent medicine concern. "When I began taking it six weeks ago I was so weak I could not spank the baby; now I am able to lick the stuffing out of my husband. May Heaven bless you, sirs." — Earth Mover.

SENATOR BORAH SPEAKS HERE JULY FOURTH

Making His Plans to be Here on That Day.

Mrs. G. P. Anderson, chairman of the program committee for the celebration here July 4th, received a letter yesterday from United States Senator Borah in which he states that unless his plans miscarry he will be in Kendrick July 4th and will speak to the people here on that occasion. The program committee has been trying to secure Mr. Borah as the speaker of the day, for some time. He is one of the most eloquent speakers in the country today and the people of this community may well feel proud if he can arrange his plans to be here.

The following letter to Mrs. Anderson from Mr. Borah looks very encouraging:

"I have your letter of the 12th. I am going to try to reach Kendrick for the Fourth. But there is an element of doubt in it, Mrs. Anderson, and I think you had better arrange for some other speaker and if it is possible for me to be there I will speak briefly. My principle object being to visit. I am speaking at Denver on the night of the 28th on my way home. Will go from there to Boise and should reach Boise on the 30th. Unless something unexpected happens, I would try to reach Kendrick for the Fourth.

"But you see the time is somewhat limited and something might occur which I can not now foresee. If it is possible, however, for me to drive up I am going to do so because I want to see the people of Kendrick and vicinity. I suggest though, Mrs. Anderson, that you make out your program complete and let me fill in in case I am fortunate enough to be with you.

"Very sincerely,
Wm. E. Borah."

Contract Is Let

At a meeting of the stockholders of the newly organized Farmers Union Producers Co., Monday, bids were opened for the construction of a potato storage warehouse and J. R. Adkison of Clarkston was found to be the lowest bidder, contract price being $12,216.00.

The dimensions of the house will be 60x150 feet, two floors. The building will be of wood construction and will be frost proof, the walls being 18 inches in thickness, ten inches of which will be sawdust and shavings, and a four inch air space on either side. It is expected that work will be begun on June 25 and the building completed in time for use this fall.

The building will be placed on the ground formerly occupied by the old Thompson hay house, later the property of the Vollmer-Clearwater company, and which has been cleared of buildings and is in readiness for the commencement of the new building.

Potato growers are very much enthused over the prospects of a good yield and good market facilities through the newly-organized company, which will handle the crop for its members. — Genesee News

PLAN TO CELEBRATE AT KENDRICK ON JULY FOURTH

THE KENDRICK GAZETTE

There is every prospect that if weather conditions are favorable there will be the largest crowd ever assembled in Kendrick at the celebration here July Fourth. Rev. Taber says that his family is going to have a reunion here that day and that there are enough of his relatives alone to put on a fairly respectable celebration. Tables will be provided in the park for just such family gatherings as this and it is a sure thing there will be many family reunions that day.

There is one thing concerning the celebration to be held here July 4th that the business men would like to have made clear to the general public. It is not a money-making scheme in any sense of the word. The celebration will cost the business men much more than they will derive from it. There is no graft connected with it in any way. The concessions will be numerous and of various sorts. The public may patronize them or not as they see fit. The ball game will be put on with the minimum admission charge of 25c and the gate will not be sufficient to pay the $150 purse—at least it never has been. It has been suggested from various sources to increase the admission to 50c but the committee has refused to do this on the grounds that the people who come to this celebration are not going to be asked to pay any increase in prices.

The celebration is being put on simply as a good-will proposition and the people of the surrounding country are invited to come here for the purpose of having a good time and for no other reason. It is to be a big reunion of Potlatchers and former Potlatchers and their friends and it is safe to say that everyone who comes here July Fourth for the purpose of having a good time, will not be disappointed.

Take the Home Paper.

About the sorriest excuse we know of in the way of a man, is the one who not only refuses to take his home paper, but who also glories in making slighting remarks about it because it is not as big as the New York Sun. They are too miserably stingy to part with the price of the paper and they ridicule it in order to justify their meanness. But they never miss reading an issue just the same. They impose on some more progressive neighbor by borrowing his. The man that makes fun of his home paper because it isn't as large as the city papers brands himself as ignorant and we hope the time will come when it is violation of the law for one of these smart aleck twaddling idiots to read a paper that he doesn't pay for. If you don't want the paper you have a perfect right not to take it, and we don't feel hard at you. It's the fellow that curses us and pokes fun at us and then reads a borrowed paper every week to whom these remarks are respectfully dedicated.—Altoona Tribune.

Men who have used International Harvester tractors—for months or for years—are steadfast friends of McCormick-Deering farm power. They will recommend McCormick-Deering when you come to buy. Other men, who risked using cheaper, lighter tractors, found themselves underpowered. They fell short of reaching full production with the least possible labor and in the shortest possible time. After this experience they were ready for new and better power. There are many like these, too, who will recommend McCormick-Deering when you make your power investment.

Destroy Weeds by Cultivation

Perennial Plant Requires
Careful and Persistent Treatment.

Eradication of weeds by cultivation has been practiced for ages. Up to the present time this method has generally proved to be the most economical and successful.

Plowing weeds under covers them with a layer of soil that kills most of the living material. Later cultivation destroys a large proportion of the seeds that have sprouted. Still further cultivation provides for the germination of more of the seeds in the soil and at the same time kills the seedlings that have started.

Send Up Shoots Often.

Perennial weeds, however, can send up shoots as often as they are destroyed during the season and require a different treatment. Such weeds are the worst weed pests in Colorado and require more careful, more persistent and more frequent cultivation. During the plowing of the soil the roots that live in the upper layers are broken up, and may be dragged along the furrow by the plow to ground that is not infested with the plant. When the field is being harrowed the dragging of root fragments is even more probable because they will be moved to a distance and left in loose soil that provides an excellent place for growth.

Work Separately.

This makes it necessary to work separately land infested with weeds having roots that can grow from small pieces. In such places consistent destruction of the tops as soon as they appear will prove the best remedy. A knife edge passed just under the surface of the soil in a way to cut off the young shoots, or a duck-foot cultivator with sharp shovels in several overlapping tiers, will be found the most effective of the machines now in use in the mechanical destruction of perennial weeds.—Charles F. Rogers, Deputy Colorado State Entomologist for Weed Control.

Yellow Corn Desirable Feed for Chicken Flock

Yellow corn is a more desirable feed for chickens than white corn. The yellow corn is rich in vitamin A, whereas white corn is deficient in this essential constituent. Feeding tests have proved that yellow corn in the ration is conducive to healthy chickens, and that greater egg production is possible, as well as a higher percentage of hatchability. The breeding flock in particular should be supplied with yellow corn.

The Missouri experiment station has conducted tests to determine the relative feeding value of light and dark egg yolks. The light yolks from hens fed white corn were fed one group of chicks, while another group was fed yellow yolks from hens fed yellow corn. The chicks receiving the white yolks developed leg weakness and failed to grow properly, while those receiving the dark yolks developed normally and were vigorous and healthy.

Shorts Added to Ration for Swine Helps Gains

Hogs that were self fed corn and tankage at the Nebraska station, gained about a quarter of a pound more a head daily, when shorts were added to that ration. Gains were also cheapened, and the hogs paid about $2 more profit a head.

Shorts should not be used to replace tankage, however, for it is no high-power protein feed of that sort. It is more like corn than tankage, but has a higher percentage of protein, and so will save a little of the packing-house product. In the Nebraska test 75 pounds of shorts took the place of 68 pounds of corn and 15 pounds of tankage.

Agricultural Notes

Busy bees turn fragrant flowers into honey money for thrifty farmers.

Sunlight is the cheapest disinfectant available around the average farm.

Successful live stock production is based on economical feed crop production.

The garden work can be lightened immeasurably if the rows are made far apart so that horse-drawn implements can be used.

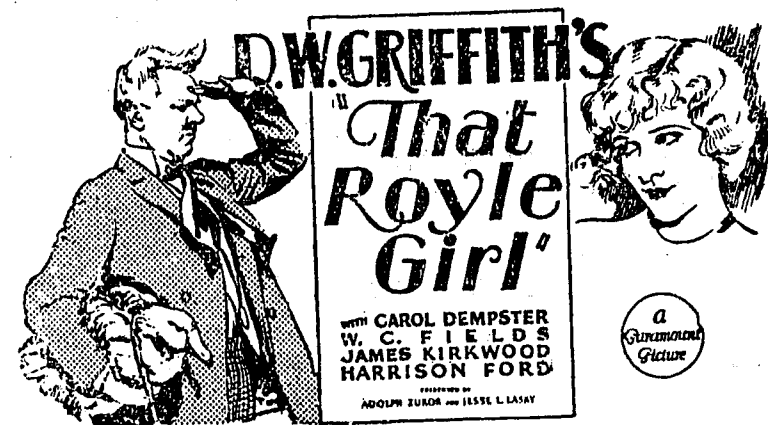

Cucumber bugs can be controlled successfully by scattering hydrated lime on and around the plants. Apply every day while bugs are bad.

In sections where acid phosphate can be purchased at as low as $15 a ton it may pay farmers to use twice as much as usual on their corn, or as much as 500 or 600 pounds to an acre.

One of the most important things to remember in planting young trees, whether forest seedlings or fruit trees, is to tamp the earth firmly around the roots.

Test the seed corn before you plant it to see if it will grow. Most seed corn grown in New York last year is poor because the weather was bad and it did not mature well.

Woman's Brain Superior

A woman's brain is about five ounces lighter than a man's, but it is of superior quality—of a higher specific gravity. It lasts longer, too. On an average a woman of sixty has a 20 per cent better brain than a man of the same age!

Colors Have Meaning

any effort to increase the carrying power of old blue grass pasture. And yet experiments at Ames (Iowa Agricultural college) have proved beyond much question that it pays to disk up hide-bound blue grass pasture and broadcast and harrow in, on each acre some such seeding per acre as a couple pounds of alfalfa, a pound of red clover and three pounds of scarlet sweet clover. An application of 100 pounds per acre of acid phosphate also helps but the cheapest results are obtained with merely disking and reseeded with a clover mixture.

Home-Grown Feed Saves Dairymen

Not Difficult Matter if Crop
Rotations Are Correctly
Arranged.

(By F. B. MORRISON, Assistant Director,
Agricultural Experiment Station, University of Wisconsin.)

Right now, many dairymen, who have been paying heavy feed bills month after month, are asking themselves, "Is there not some way of growing the feeds on my own farm which will make a balanced ration for my herd?"

It is entirely possible for them to do this if they will plan their crop rotations right.

Experiments have shown that a simple ration, made up of plenty of good alfalfa hay and corn silage, with a mixture of ground corn and oats is satisfactory for cows producing not over about one pound of butterfat daily. Ground barley may be substituted for the ground corn.

Home-Grown Rations Stand Test.

In each of two trials a ration of alfalfa hay, corn silage and a concentrate mixture of equal weights of corn and oats was compared with another ration made up of the same feeds plus linseed and cottonseed meal. One mixture was fed to one group of cows and the other to another lot, the same amounts being fed in both cases. In each trial the home-grown ration maintained the yield of milk and butterfat as well as the ration to which the linseed and cottonseed meal had been added.

These trials, together with the results of nutrition experiments by the agricultural chemistry department, show that when cows have plenty of choice alfalfa hay there is no need of purchasing expensive protein-rich concentrates to keep up a fairly good production. This is because alfalfa hay is sufficiently rich in protein to balance the ration.

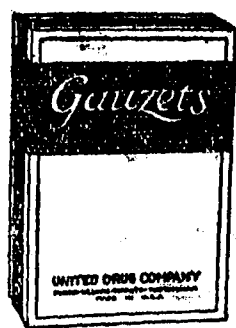

For the best cows, those producing more than a pound of butterfat daily,

Hubam Is Good as White Clover as Honey Plant

Hubam is equally as good as the biennial white sweet clover as a honey plant. Some think that it is even better. But there is no definite proof of this. In some localities this plant is giving excellent results in keeping up the fertility of the soil, and its extremely rapid growth makes it a valuable plant for pasture. It grows so rapidly under favorable conditions that it furnishes a large amount of food per acre when used as pasture. Being an annual, a year is saved in the rotation of crops compared with the time required by the biennial sweet clover, red clover, or alsike clover. Although it probably does not add as much fertility to the soil in the one year as the others do in the two years. It grows so rapidly that it is able to smother out weeds, which are often quite a nuisance in fields of biennial clover the first season after seeding.

System of Brooding and Rearing Chicken Flock

Proof is definite that improperly brooded chicks never produce as many eggs and never are as vigorous and healthy as the same quality of chicks properly brooded.

Poultrymen cannot safely depend on buying pullets of good quality each fall to replenish their flocks. They must raise their own young stock to be sure of getting the desired quality. Since the chicks must be raised by some method it ought to be by some good system of brooding and rearing the flock.

If best results are to be obtained during the brooding season, practices adapted to the chicks and to the region they are grown in must be adopted.

"Why — it's — it's — Don't they teach you anything at school? I thought you studied mythology. An equinox, my son, is a fabled animal, half-horse, half-ox. Its name is derived from 'equine', meaning horse, and 'ox'. Schools are different now from what they were when I was a boy."

That First Liza.

A boy purchased a fliver. In writing to a friend about the liza he said: I have learned much about my craft, tho' I got it less than a week ago. I have learned to park it on a hillside, tho I have to walk half a block or more to my final destination. When I return to resume my voyage I simply jump in the thing with enuf impetus to start it rolling down the street. When I succeed in this the engine will start without me winding it up. I have hopes that people who observe the take-off will think the thing has a self-starter, but I don't think I fool many. There are certain unmistakable signs of age about the vehicle, some of the signs positively audible. I was insulted the other day when a man told me I always drove the liza backwards. "There is a tail on the front end," he pointed out. I told him the old boat was rather cranky at times. But it's not so bad, is equipped with electric lights, city water, free air. I call it the Bellanaca, because it is always starting on mysterious flights, you never know where it will stop. First time I took it out for a nocturnal ride I noticed it would be excellent for a coon hunting expedition. One light pointed upward, a little to the left, showing plainly every treetop. There is a little arrow painted on the side of the liza. Was there when I got it. Man who sold the fliver to me said the arrow was for the convenience of pedestrians who might wish to know in which direction the car was moving. I haven't quite recovered from that shot. I haven't any spare tires, in fact, I have nothing to spare. The fliver is as innocent of unnecessary accessories as a flapper. — P. S. I have already paid $5 down on the liza, don't know how long it will take to raise the other $10.

Matter of Distance.

A little boy skipped off to school before his mother had a chance to wash his face. The teacher sent him to the basement to scrub up, but the janitor had failed to leave a towel within reach. The youngster went up to the schoolroom, however, with the lower part of his face reasonably clean, but the upper part streaked, grimy. "Why," the teacher said, "how does this happen that the lower part of your face is clean, while the rest of it is so dirty?" "Well," said the little boy, "there wasn't any towel there, an' that's as high as my shirt would reach."
