

KENDRICK TAKES
ANOTHER GAME

Wins From Juliaetta Last Sunday
by Score of 8 to 6.

Last Sunday's game between Kendrick and Juliaetta, played on the Juliaetta diamond, came up to expectations in every respect. Kendrick realized before the game started that the hard-hitting Cherry Pickers were going to put up heavy competition and this they did in full measure. Albright for Juliaetta pitched the first three innings and was relieved in the first half of the fourth by Campbell. Kendrick had a hitting streak and netted 19 hits during the game. Fast work in the outfield for Juliaetta held Kendrick to eight runs.

Fleshman for Kendrick pitched the full nine innings and did good work in the box, holding Juliaetta to 8 scattered hits. He had splendid support, but one error being chalked against his team.

Feature plays of the game were made by White and Jack Fleshman when they each made a sensational catch. Kuliek on short stopped a fast grounder entirely out of his territory and got his man on first with a perfect peg. Boyd scored two of the eight runs and did some fancy base running that played a large part in winning the game.

Gardner of Kendrick and Simmonds of Lapwai umpired the game.

Mrs. Louisa A. Truitt

Mrs. Louisa A. Truitt, the beloved wife of Dr. Russel Truitt, died at Southwick, May 6, 1928, at the age of 74 years. She was born in Linn County, Oregon in 1854. August 1, 1878 she married Russell Truitt at Albany, Oregon. In 1880 she and her husband moved to Walla Walla, Wash. and lived there 15 years. In 1895 she and her family moved to Cottonwood, Idaho, and had her home there up to her death.

She was the mother of two sons, Norman and Warren, who were present at the time of her death. She leaves her husband Dr. R. Truitt. She was a true and faithful wife and a kind and loving mother. She was never a member of any church. In August 1926 she moved to Southwick and lived there up to the date of her death.

Funeral services were held at the M. E. church Monday afternoon by Miss Binford. The remains were laid to rest in the Southwick cemetery.

Car Rolls Off Grade

A Chevrolet sedan being driven by Mrs. Salton, of Spokane, went over the embankment near the west end of Powell hill Tuesday afternoon, landing on its side. There were two little girls in the back seat, but no one was injured.

Mrs. Salton stated that as she was near the foot of the hill she looked around for her glasses, which she had left in the rear of the car, and while doing so unconsciously turned the steering wheel and ran the car over the embankment. The car was damaged to the extent of a broken window, bent axle, and two bent fenders. It was repaired here and was ready to go Wednesday morning.

Pomeroy vs. Kendrick

Next Sunday afternoon local ball fans will have an opportunity to witness a real ball game when Pomeroy comes here for what may be a deciding issue in the Valley league. This is the first time a Pomeroy team has ever played here. It should be a thrilling game.

Manager Bolon signed up Dan Lawrence, crack Indian pitcher of Lapwai, and with two of the best pitchers in the Valley circuit to fall back on, the visitors will know they were in a ball game before it is over. You can't afford to miss this game.

Lecture Draws Big Crowd

A well filled house greeted the members of the Washington Water Power Co. here last Tuesday evening to listen to the lecture on the big Chelan project, given by James B. Fisk. The lecture was profusely illustrated by lantern slides and was exceedingly interesting. Many of the details and difficulties of construction were explained. A moving picture "The Yoke of the Past" was also shown.

J. F. Farquhar, general agent for the company, and W. H. Ude, director of public relations, and other members of the company were here Tuesday afternoon and evening.

COMMUNITY NEWS
FROM JULIAETTA

Items of Interest From Our Neighboring Town.

Mrs. W. Cochran and the 4-H club girls picnicked below town Saturday. The weather was ideal and the girls report a splendid time.

This is the season of the year when our appetites need coaxing and what better appetizer could we desire than food prepared over a camp fire and a table which is spread on a carpet of green grass?

Mrs. Cochran is getting the girls ready for Short Course which is held in Moscow some time in June. They have prepared a name quilt which they expect to sell to help defray expenses. The girls are very enthusiastic about their work as well as their play.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. Fields were delighted to see them on the streets of our city last week.

Mrs. Nutt is greatly improving the looks of her home by the addition of a rock wall around the lawn. The wall is made of small rocks, and put together with cement and is very pretty. Harve Williams is doing the work.

The Baptists are planning an all day service Sunday. Brother Tenny preaches his farewell sermon. It being Mother's Day, and also as he is going home, his subject will be: "Home and Mother." Brother Tenny has been giving us some real spiritual food, and we are sorry to have him leave us. Come and bring your baskets and enjoy the day. Dinner will be in the basement of the church.

The Weather Man has been giving us some real summer weather, and farmers must be making the most of it, judging by the absence of travel. So many farmers in this locality have purchased tractors that the work of plowing and seeding will be accomplished much sooner than in the old days of plowing with horses. We are indeed living in a very fast age. No wonder the grandmothers and grandfathers who can remember the old ox team, shake their heads and wonder what the younger generation is coming to.

Some of the boys are so sure summer has come to stay that they have ventured out bare-footed. Almost, as we watch them, we can feel the cool of the nice green grass as in days of yore.

Billy Nigh is holding services each evening at the Methodist church. Quite a little interest is being manifested. Billy is one of our boys and we are very proud of him. We feel he has every prospect of doing a great work in the field he has chosen.

Mrs. Nutt was called to California last week on account of the death of a brother-in-law. He owned the Juliaetta Barber shop a few years ago.

Grandma Pierce, who has been living with her son, Miles, has moved into her own home.

Miss Crystal Otteson, who has been teaching school in South Idaho is expected home Thursday.

Juanita Kite caused quite a little excitement Tuesday morning by fainting while at school. Mrs. Geo. Hutchinson is again a widow, her husband having been called away to work some place close to Spokane, we understand.

The Missionary Society of the Baptist church held their regular meeting the first Thursday in this month. A very instructive and interesting program was rendered. Special music by Mrs. Larkin was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Geo. Spray and Mrs. Everett Custer were hostesses.

Mrs. Leland Houck and Mrs. C. Biddison very pleasantly entertained the Missionary society of the Methodist church last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Biddison.

Quite a crowd went to the home of Mr. McAllister, one of our rural mail carriers, Saturday night, to give him a charivari. Mr. McAllister having taken un- to himself a wife. It isn't just plain Mike now, it's papa Heddler. Mr. Heddler is wearing a smile that doesn't

H. S. COMMENCEMENT
THURSDAY EVENING

Will Be Given at The New Kendrick Theatre.

Commencement exercises for the graduating class of the Kendrick High school will be held next Thursday evening at the New Kendrick Theatre. Prof. Davidson of the University of Idaho will deliver the address to the class. The valedictory will be given by Hester Knepper and the salutatory by Pearl Johnson. Special music has also been arranged for the occasion. The graduating class consists of Harold Parks, Gerald Ingle, Margaret McDowell, Lizzie Jones, Hester Knepper and Pearl Johnson.

The baccalaureate service will be held at the Methodist church Sunday evening, May 13. Rev. Lester Taber will deliver the sermon to the class.

Mrs. Wann, who does field work for the anti-tuberculosis society, visited the Kendrick schools Wednesday of this week.

The members of the senior class went on their annual sneak yesterday, leaving Kendrick at four o'clock in the morning for Winchester where they spent the day at the lake. Miss Ledbetter chaperoned the class.

The primary grades are having "visitors day" this afternoon. All parents and friends are cordially invited to come at one o'clock.

Last week those who had perfect spelling lessons in the first grade were: Myrtle Humphrey, Doris Garoutte, Georgia Garoutte, Quentin Dammarrell, Lorraine Taber, Dick Carlson and Helen Gardner. In the second were: Bill Schulze, Dwight and Larry Langdon.

The senior and junior classes of the high school battled over their class numbers Tuesday night and part of Wednesday. Both classes are claiming victory.

Mrs. Oliver Morehead is conducting the eighth grade examinations this week.

Lock The Door

There is a legend about a farmer who went to great expense to fortify and lock his barn after a very fine blooded horse had been stolen.

That legend has come to be a means of showing how unwise it is to wait until the horse has been stolen to lock the door.

Advertising is a form of protection against loss of business which is occasionally treated like the farmer treated the barn and the horse.

From a seemingly logical premise that since there is no business or since business is not what it should be now, the merchant proceeds to the decision that there is no need to advertise.

This reasoning overlooks a great fundamental fact and that is that advertising is extended salesmanship; that just because a man hasn't money with which to buy today is no reason he will not have it tomorrow; that the man who goes after the business consistently reaps consistent rewards; that most folks shop where they are invited to shop; and—that an advertisement is an invitation.—Genesee News.

Free Show Next Wednesday Nite

The management of the New Kendrick Theatre and Washington Water Power Co. extend an invitation to the pupils of the Juliaetta, Kendrick and surrounding schools to attend the showing of an educational picture entitled "The Yoke of the Past", consisting of three reels and which will be shown Wednesday evening, May 16th, at 8 o'clock. This is indeed a very interesting and instructive picture. There will be no charge for admission, it is free to everyone, and it is hoped there will be a big crowd.

wear off this morning. It's a boy.

Miss Helen Hannemann, one of our school teachers, and Mr. Johnnie Lewis, surprised their many friends by quietly slipping away. Tuesday afternoon to Lewiston, and getting married. Their many friends wish them a long and happy wedded life.

Big Meeting Last Tuesday

There were over fifty men and their wives present at the meeting of the commercial club last Tuesday evening. Visiting members of the Washington Water Power Co. were also present. The meeting was held at the dinner hour, which proved to be a very pleasant occasion.

After dinner a short program was given. Talks by Mr. Ude, Mr. Fisk and Mr. Farquhar, all representatives of the Washington Water Power Co., were given and greatly appreciated. Mrs. E. H. Emery gave a reading that was well received and the male quartet gave two very good numbers.

No business was transacted at this meeting as it was purely a social affair.

Entertained at Bridge

Mrs. Morehead was hostess last Saturday evening to the Okoke club at a delightful bridge dinner, guests being present to fill four tables. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames, Carroll, Ramey, Carlson, McKeever, Her-ros, Knepper, Mrs. J. Long, Mr. Walter Thomas, the host and hostess.

She Wouldn't Set

A city boy tried to milk a cow. After about 3 hours he came limping up to the house, carrying his 3-legged stool, wiping the sweat away, so tired he could hardly walk. "Well," said the farmer, "Did you get a lot of good milk?" "No I didn't," the youth answered. "I chased that cow all over the farm, but I couldn't make her sit down on this stool."—Ex.

Will Build Lodge Hall

Troy News: The first actual construction work on the new $20,000 I. O. O. F. block to be erected this summer, was done this week when the lots were plowed up preparatory to excavating for the foundations. Prior to this, laterals from the water main had been extended to the property. It is the intention of the building committee to have construction material assembled at the earliest date that roads and weather will permit, and once the building begins to go together no time will be lost in pushing it to completion.

The Lighter- Running Ball-Bearing Cream Separator

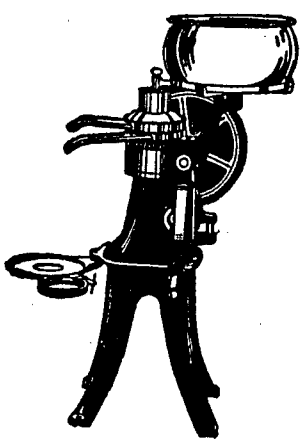

You need this closer-skimming, lighter-running, ball-bearing cream separator. Its many advantages have put it far in advance of all other types of separators. It's the

Self-Centering, Self-Adjusting, Dirt-Proof Ball Bearing

A—Spindle. B—Wear-resisting brass bushing. C—Smooth-running ball bearing. D—Bearing collar spring—makes bearing self-adjustable and bowl self-centering. E—F—Bearing is effectively enclosed. E is neck-bearing shield; F is bearing cover. Metallic particles, milk, water or other foreign substances are kept from getting into ball bearing. G—Insulating gasket breaks magnetic action created by high-speed action of ball bearing.

Gold Medal Separator With the Curved Disk Bowl

You'll appreciate the specially designed ball-bearing, a feature that helps to make the Gold Medal so light-running. This ball-bearing is dirt-proof, self-centering and self-adjusting, resulting in perfect balance and the least possible friction when running. There is no noise or vibration.

The two milk outlets also help to make the Gold Medal a lighter-running separator. The back-pressure of one stream offsets the back-pressure of the other. This holds the bowl centered. It does not tip to cause friction.

The Gold Medal's curved disks separate every particle of butterfat from the skimmed milk.

The new type oil indicator enables you to see at a glance if the machine is being properly oiled and shows the condition of the oil.

The new speed indicator tells when correct speed is being maintained.

Letter From A. R. Hewitt

Enroute to San Francisco,
April 27, 1928

Dear Friends:

Standing on the fo'c's'le this evening, swaying to the slow heave and roll of the ship and gazing up at the star-studded sky, set me to thinking of other days. You were probably looking at the same stars, if you happened to cast your eyes skyward. If the stars had been mirrors you could have seen a lone ship steaming silently along about two hundred miles from Honolulu. On the fo'c's'le were several men in white uniforms, and I was among the number.

Creeping toward us, and passing majestically by on either side would come, very soon, the pride of the United States—the Battle Fleet. First came the battle ships, the IDAHO, West Virginia, New York, Tennessee, Nevada Wyoming and several others, all steaming in formation. On each side of them came the cruisers and outboard of the cruisers were the destroyers. They made an imposing spectacle not to be easily forgotten by anyone who witnessed it. With signal lights winking and flashing messages across the water, they passed on and were lost to sight.

There was nothing left but the moon, the stars, and the white-capped waves, rolling lazily as the ship plowed along. I stood there, and thought of the good times I would have in dear old 'Frisco. (I'll be there when you read this, if ye editor prints it) and of last night, "On the Beach at Waikiki". So I decided to write down a few of my impressions of that famous beach.

Last winter, I sent home a few notes on China, and one very nice young lady, with dark hair and eyes, wrote and told me that she liked them. This one will be about Honolulu, and the U. S. S. Texas, flagship of the Battle Fleet, which was tied up at pier two.

If you like these articles, I would be very glad to hear from you. Any and all letters will be gratefully received, as I often pine for a note from the old home town.

Yours truly,
A. R. Hewitt.

P. S. On arrival at Honolulu, I received a bundle of Gazettes, and they were just next best to a real letter from home. I noted that one of them mentioned Claud Stanton, going to China on the Henderson. He talked a great deal about Kendrick, on the trip out last January, and no doubt still talks about it, but I haven't seen him for three months.

Ashore at the "Crossroads of the Pacific"

The bugle blew at one o'clock, and there was a general rush for the gangway. In dress whites, with a camera under one arm and a swimming suit under the other, I went with the crowd. The Customs inspector on the dock looked over all packages, to see that we carried no contraband, and O. K'd them. Then the party spread out, some going in most every direction.

I walked over to where the U. S. S. Texas was tied up, and went aboard her. She is six hundred and twenty five feet long and her beam is one hundred twenty five feet. Her displacement is thirty thousand tons, and she carries a crew of about twelve hundred, fifty officers and men. She has two turrets forward and two aft, with two fourteen inch guns in each turret. Besides these she has anti-aircraft and secondary battery guns enough to sink a whole fleet. She carries Admiral H. A. Wiley, Chief of Naval Operations, and his staff. She is known as the best flag-ship in the Navy, and she makes more ports than any other ship in the fleet.

From there, I went to Waikiki beach. Everyone talks of what a fine place Waikiki beach is, and I say that they are justified. Although, at first glance, it looks the same as any other beach, with the usual bath-houses and try-you-luck joints, appearances are certainly deceiving.

The Diamond Head looms up, about two miles away, up the beach. It is a beautiful mountain, in the shape of an inverted cone, green at all times, and especially so in the bright sunlight of early afternoon. The top closely resembles a diamond in shape, hence the name. On a little point of land at its base is a beautiful beach hotel, and all around the base are wide-spreading palms.

The beach is also fringed with palms, and footy feet of glistening white sand lies between the palms and the water's edge. The sand is so fine it feels like flour, and it is as white as sugar. The water is clear as crystal, and you can easily see the sandy bottom, and the sea-seed that grows on it. You can also see the coral patches, and it will pay to beware of them as coral is unmerciful to the unwary swimmer's feet. The white-capped breakers come rolling in, some of them six feet high, glistening like jewels in the sunlight, and break high up on the beach.

Occasionally a surf board and rider come flying thru the big ones, and more often the rider spills, and the board comes on alone. Farther out are a few bancas, (small canoes with an outrigger on one side) and small fishing boats, and out in the main channel, a passenger steamer crawls slowly outward, San Francisco bound.

Back of the beach is the Royal Hawaiian, considered the best hotel in Honolulu, with its fountains, flowers, and palm-lined driveways. From the hotel it is a beautiful drive to the heart of Honolulu. You catch a glimpse of the mountains, a mass of green, with clouds hovering over their peaks. In front is spread the city, and to one side the bay, with the sun just setting over the water. Such is Honolulu.

Liberty expired at nine o'clock so I attended a show, and then to the ship and to bed. At midnight, the propellers began to turn, and, as the lights slowly faded, I thought "Goodbye, Honolulu, Hello 'Frisco, RAY FOR THE U. S. A.—A. R. Hewitt.

Notions About Seed Potatoes

Doubtful Whether There Is Any Difference in Value of Each "End."

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Much experimental work has been done with the potato to determine the best methods of treating the seed to secure the most satisfactory yields. The results have varied to the point of confusion in many instances. In technical bulletin No. 5-T, "Source, Character and Treatment of Potato Sets," last issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, William Stuart reviews the results of noteworthy experimental work and in addition presents the results of the department investigations on the source, character and treatment of potato seeds.

Value of End for Seed.

The relative value of the seed and stem end of the tuber for seed purposes has served as a basis of numerous studies, both in this country and in foreign countries to determine which portion of the tuber will ordinarily produce the larger yield. Some growers are so firmly convinced that the seed end of the tuber is undesirable for seed purposes that they clip it off and discard it. Other growers are equally convinced that the seed end is superior to the stem end for planting. These different viewpoints have been responsible for repeated efforts to demonstrate the superiority of one over the other.

After a study of the literature in which each "end" of the potato has proved superior to the other in different tests, Mr. Stuart concludes that it is doubtful whether there is any real superiority of one end over the other for seed purposes. The data as a whole, however, seem to indicate that as the weight of the set increases there is a greater response from the seed end than from the stem-end set.

Greening Process.

Sprouting seed potatoes in the light before planting them, a process known as "greening," has long been practiced by growers of early potatoes in most European countries in an effort to hasten the development of tubers of marketable size early in the season. Greening is not yet a commercial practice in the United States. In fact, the department studies, covering a period of years in four different localities, show rather conflicting results when yearly comparisons are made, or when the average yields for the period are considered. Detailed discussion of the subject is included in the bulletin. Consideration is also given to the advisability of planting immature rather than mature seed.

A copy of the bulletin may be obtained by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Sensible Idea to Want to Own Only Pure Breds

It is a fine and sensible ambition for every farmer to want to own nothing but pure breeds, and the ambition can be gratified. By starting with pure-bred sires, and then securing an occasional good pure-bred female, satisfactory progress is possible. The young man who is at the present time embarking upon the perilous enterprise of farming, may console himself with the idea that if he uses good judgment, and has at least a fair amount of "good breaks," he will enter into the serene and mellow years of retirement with a splendid live stock equipment and some money in the bank. His sons, carrying on where he leaves off, have the priceless opportunity of fixing blood lines and building up families of stock.

Beans All Summer

When a garden runs out of beans it seems like it is about done for. Maybe that is why a good gardener's most ways seem to it that he has a succession of beans coming on all the time. Pole beans planted in early June should give a steady supply of beans throughout the late summer and fall. Bush beans ought to be planted at intervals of two to three weeks in order to insure enough. One thing about beans that is in their favor is that any that are not used can be kept over.

Agricultural Hints

Measurement is the foundation of all engineering work.

The house wren feeds itself almost entirely on harmful insects.

Popcorn that is too dry to pop can be put in popping condition by adding a little water.

Best results are obtained when lime for alfalfa is applied before the seed is sown if the soil is sour, for lime acts slowly.

Sow seeds of cos lettuce for a summer crop. It is the most heat-resistant and surest cropper of all the lettuces. No use trying to start head lettuce this late.

Good tools and equipment may mean the difference between a good, clean, well-cultivated garden and one full of weeds. A little time spent in overhauling garden tools will bring ample payment.

Whitman Given High Place

John Bailey, the English critic, in his life of Walt Whitman credits him with being the "most original genius America has yet produced." Of the poet he says: "He is often a fine artist by a sort of divine accident, but he was equally pleased with himself when, as happened still oftener, he was not an artist or a poet at all."

Written Leases Most Desirable

There Should Be Complete Understanding on All Vital Points.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Farm leases should be carefully drawn up, says the United States Department of Agriculture, because it is dangerous for the contracting parties to slight the business of arriving at a complete understanding on all points where their interests may clash. Many, and perhaps most, rented farms are leased orally, without printed or written memoranda of any kind. Indeed, some landlords and tenants take pride in being informal to that extent. Yet the practice is responsible for many disputes that written agreements would obviate or make easy to settle.

Clear Up Obstructive Points.

Careful consideration of lease agreements, the department declares, promotes mutual satisfaction, tends to lengthen the period of tenancy, and encourages the adoption of improved farming methods. To put a lease in writing clears up points that might have remained obscure, and is thus worth while even if the lease is not looked at again. Standard printed forms, with a few modifications or additions, will generally suffice where the farm is to be leased for a cash rental. For share leases, however, printed forms containing only generalities may prove inadequate.

Share agreements are often considerably detailed. In such agreements consideration must be given to the capital, credit, ability, experience, and purposes of both landowner and tenant. It may be useful also to particularize the conditions of farming and the opportunities of the farm. Printed forms suitable for such leases may not be readily obtained. Usually, says the department, it is best for the contracting parties to write their own lease embodying the various stipulations. Sometimes, where considerable values are involved, it may be desirable to obtain the advice and assistance of a lawyer.

Satisfactory to Both.

Properly drawn leases will not, however, prevent trouble unless both parties have the right attitude. Approximately 3,000,000 American farmers operate land part or all of which they do not own. It is thus obvious that harmony in the landlord-tenant relationship is important in our agricultural economy. It may be promoted not only by attention to the details of lease agreements, but by taking care that the bargain as a whole is mutually desirable and satisfactory. Sharp bargains, the department observes, may be the cause of hard feeling and thus prove to be bad bargains after all.

Found Unprofitable to Crop the Young Orchard

Many people try to grow a young orchard and grow crops on the ground at the same time, says a writer in the Prairie Farmer. Corn is a favorite crop, although hay is often used. Any one who sincerely wishes to get into the fruit business will be much more successful if he grows the orchard without attempting to grow the ordinary farm crops on the ground at the same time.

The writer has seen several orchards severely set back with corn, as in dry years there is serious competition between a young tree and the corn plant—a competition in which the tree often comes off second best. But worst of all for a young orchard is a hay or grain crop.

A-Type Houses Favored for Saving Young Pigs

Swine authorities at the Nebraska Agricultural college recommend the small A-type hog house for saving pigs, because the low roof reduces air space above the pigs and holds the warm air down close to the pigs. The house when properly constructed furnishes the right amount of ventilation. The slope of the roof prevents the sow from lying on the pigs, and the high door in the front permits the sunshine to strike every part of the house floor and also provides good ventilation in summer time. Last and most important, the house is light and can be moved to clean ground each year. These conclusions in Nebraska agree very well with results in Illinois and Indiana.

Agricultural Hints

Prepare for your fall salads by putting in endive seed.

Start piling up weeds and lawn clippings for a compost heap.

Rotate your garden crops. Plant root crops one year where surface crops were the previous year.

Keep corn and bean plantings in mind every two weeks or ten days to be sure of a succession later in the season.

Potatoes keep best in storage at a temperature of from 34 to 38 degrees Fahrenheit. Good ventilation is an advantage.

Don't cut the asparagus too late if you expect an equally good crop next year. Give it a dressing of fertilizer when you stop cutting.

SCHOOL NOTES

Saturday was a great day at Culdesca for the school children of NezPere county. Many schools wer represented and the day was ideal for the County Track Meet.
Of the six boys who represented the Cameron school, three brot home ribbons. Mr. Cridlebaugh had his boys there among the early arrivals. The meet lasted from 10:30 until 6:00 with various events in full swing all the time. It was the first trip of the Cameron school to a track meet.

Walter Koepp, sixth grade, won third place in the running broad jump and second place in the running high jump. In the latter he was forced to jump off a tie, five times.

Muriel Hewitt, fourth grade, won second place in the fifty yard dash, while his brother, Bevrett, first grade, came in second in the 50 yard dash.

LeVerne Spekker, 7th grade, and Glenn Wegner, fifth grade, won fourth place in the running broad jump, but received no ribbons.

Th boys are willing and anxious to do more training next year and make a better showing than they did this year. All-in-all they did splendidly is the verdict of Mr. Cridlebaugh.

On Monday morning the school gave each boy nine rousing rahs.
The ribbons will be framed and hung on the school room wall.

The "opening exercise" period is being used for practicing for the closing day program which will be given the evening of May 25th.

School will close at noon, Tuesday, May 29.

Before you select your next car see what General Motors offers

GENERAL MOTORS was organized on the principle that a group of strong companies, working together as a family, could serve the public better than they could separately.

The public has approved this principle.

In 1924 one out of every six cars chosen by the public was a General Motors car.
In 1925 the proportion was one in five. In 1926 it was one in four.

And last year it was one in three.

The improvement in General Motors products is continuous. Great Research Laboratories are constantly seeking new paths for betterment. A 1245-acre Proving Ground tests all that science has discovered and proves each new design before it is offered to you. Each year there has been a steady advance in the quality, performance and beauty of General Motors cars, with no increase in price.

7 famous cars-86 models $495. to $5500. (FOB Factories) and the low-cost GMAC Purchase Plan

The General Motors cars are listed on the coupon below. They include a car for every purse and purpose—passenger cars and trucks—models of every kind—fours and sixes and eights. You may select any model with full assurance that by every test it offers the largest value per dollar in its price class.

The passenger cars include 86 models, ranging in price-at-the-factory from $495 to $5500. All closed bodies are by Fisher. All cars have four-wheel brakes. All have quality where quality counts most in long life and high resale value. All are backed by service organizations which are permanent.

CLIP THE COUPON

It will pay you to see what General Motors offers before you select your next car. Compare General Motors quality and value in each price class. Learn about the tests General Motors applies to all cars produced here and abroad, at its great Proving Ground. Consider the importance of a time payment plan which gives you low rates, because of the volume of business handled. Remember that you are assured of service, because General Motors dealers are everywhere.

By using the coupon below, you can bring into your home immediately full, illustrated information about any or all of the products made by General Motors. With this will come a new book called "Principles & Policies." You will find it unusual reading, for it takes you behind the scenes and shows just what General Motors is and what it is doing to continue to merit public goodwill.
