WHEAT PRICES MAKE FURTHER CASH ADVANCES

Cash wheat prices made further advances in the Pacific Northwest markets during the past week, according to the Production and Marketing Administration of the U. S. D. A. The active demand, coupled with continued light offerings from the larger producing areas, tended to stimulate prices. With the removal of price controls on flour, and the sharp advance in the price of wheat millfeeds, the milling interests became more active in purchasing large quantities of wheat for future needs. Demands for Pacific Northwest wheat for shipment to northwestern and central-western markets slackened considerably during the week except for some hard red winter wheat that could arrive at Duluth before the close of navigation on the Great Lakes. Trade reports indicate that sales of white wheat and hard red wheat for movement to those markets have reached a rather large volume, and the wheat is moving as rapidly as cars can be secured. The demand for high grade milling red wheat, hard red spring and hard (baart) wheat for the Pacific coast mills continues very active with keen competition for this type. Reports indicate that the seeding of winter wheat this fall in Oregon, Washington and northern Idaho has been the most extensive for a number of years. Soil and moisture conditions have been favorable, and the early seed wheat is up to a good stand. Recent heavy rains are reported to have been quite general over the entire area.

Trading in cash wheat in the Portland market continues very active with prices on most all classes advancing from 1c to 1 1/4c per bushel during the past week, despite the decline of 1/2c per bushel on the midwestern futures markets. Demand at terminal markets appeared to become increasingly more active as the offerings from producing areas continued to decrease. Shipments during recent weeks have consistently declined from week to week on account of the difficulty of securing cars. Receipts at Columbia river terminals for the week totaled 238 cars and at the Puget Sound terminals 307 cars, compared with 296 and 377, respectively, for the previous week.

Bid prices at the Portland Grain Exchange at the close of the week showed: Soft white, $1.86; soft white, (no Rex), white club and western red, all at $1.87, and ordinary hard red winter at $1.86, all basis No. 1 grade, bulk, 15-day shipment, coast delivery.

The San Francisco wheat market turned somewhat stronger during the week, with prices advancing 2 1/2c to 3c per 100, compared with a week ago. While market strength chiefly reflected advances in other markets and light offerings, local demand also showed some improvement. Bay region mills were in the market for larger quantities of wheat as a result of improved flour business, while the sharp gains in commercial feed prices made for increased interest in feed wheat. Offerings appeared even lighter than in other recent weeks, with central California growers holding remaining supplies very firmly. Bids to growers for No. 1 hard white and No. 1 soft white wheats, sacked, were mostly around $3.25 to $3.30 per 100, but growers generally were asking higher prices. Offerings from other areas also slackened, partly because of the very tight freight car situation and also reflecting good demand from markets to the eastward. Quotations for high grade milling wheats appeared particularly firm.

Cash hard wheat values in the Kansas City market were adjusted upwards 1 1/2c to 4c per bushel, reflecting the gain in December futures, plus advances of 1 1/2c to 2c in the trading basis. Strength in the trading basis was generated by the meager offerings and the fact that the squeeze between wheat cost and flour ceilings was removed by the lifting of the flour ceiling. Scant offerings prevented selection by processors. Shipping inquiry was somewhat broader, especially for the off grades which found outlet to feed manufacturers and the poultry trade. No. 1 hard winter, ordinary, was being quoted at 8c over the December futures. Total wheat arrivals at this market were 827 cars. A sharp holding tendency on the part of the producers accounted for the moderate receipts. Public elevator stocks decreased about 300,000 bushels and stood at 15,046,386 at the close of the week.

Cash wheat prices at Minneapolis were up about 8c per bushel for the week. Mill demand broadened with the lifting of flour ceilings, while prospects for settlement of the maritime strike brought about renewed C. C. C. buying for the export program. Meanwhile, country movement held light with only 1,853 cars at Minneapolis and 2,300 at Duluth. Mills reported that flour buyers were hesitant at the higher levels, since many of the large users were well booked ahead on the basis of the old ceilings. New flour quotations run about 50c per 100 over terminated ceilings, and at this level demand was not active. At the close of the market ordinary No. 1 dark northern spring was quoted at $2.17 to $2.18.

The world barley production in 1946 is estimated by the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations at 2,200,000,000 bushels, which is about 8 per cent larger than 1945, but still below average. The North American crop is about the same as last year with the decrease in United States production nearly offset by an increase in Canada. The European crop of about 595,000,000 bushels is about

Again — About Politics

As the reader will readily note, a large percentage of the advertising in this issue of the Gazette is political in nature. We made an attempt to mark all of it paid political advertising — but in a few places, the space did not work out correctly to permit the designation. However, whether or not marked, it is all paid — for the Gazette does not believe in trying to grind any political axes for anyone!

OFFICIAL O. P. A. SUGAR REPORT IS INTERESTING

Released last week by John J. Gerber were the results of a personal investigation of the sugar situation made at the request of the district-wide "Consumer Advisory" committee, which, disturbed by rumors that Idaho sugar refineries would not process this year's sugar beet crop because their storage facilities were overtaxed by 1945 supplies, requested this independent inland Empire district investigation.

According to Mr. Gerber, a unanimity of opinion was expressed by managers of the U and I Sugar company, the Amalgamated Sugar company and Franklin County Sugar company, as well as local and Idaho state officials of the Production and Marketing Administration of the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Gerber stated: "With one accord they informed me that there was absolutely no truth to rumors that warehouses were bulging, or that refineries were not going to process this year's beet crop or that beets would be left to rot in the ground."

Mr. Gerber quoted Ray Larson, in charge of the Nyssa and Nampa press of the Amalgamated Sugar company as saying they had to start their Nyssa plant September 24, a week earlier than is customary, because they had practically no carry-over and were having difficulty in parceling out their supplies. Harry Alcock, manager of the Twin Falls, Rupert and Burley refineries paralleled Larson's statements. Those three plants are now running. Jared Lewis, Preston, Idaho, Franklin county manager, was quoted by Gerber as stating they had no 1945 sugar whatsoever on hand. October 11 was the date they started 1946 refining. J. A. Wood of Salt Lake City, assistant general manager of the U and I Sugar company told Gerber his company had shut down their Shelly plant for lack of beets for three plants, and were consolidating their processing operations this season in Idaho Falls and Blackfoot. They hope there will be sufficient beets to keep the three plants going next year. Mr. Wood stated that their plant in Sugar City had been dismantled and the machinery moved to other plants because of lack of beets. According to Mr. Gerber Wood stated that his company was going into the 1946 season with a minimum carry-over and an inventory below normal.

Gerber concluded: "This is the authentic picture here in the Northwest. The world picture is still black. Excessive quantities of sugar in one area help offset shortages in others, inasmuch as all sugar goes into a world pool and this should be taken into consideration when discussing the sugar situation."

Our comment: World pool? H-m-n. We'll bet it's a U. S. pool for the rest of the world! And does the sugar that goes into rum imported into the United States come out of that pool? We'd like to have O. P. A. explain that one, clearly!

Wilma Cuddy Gets Play Part

With a tentative cast chosen and the rehearsals having started last week, the production of the first fall play of the Lewiston State Normal School, "George Washington Slept Here," is well under way, according to dramatics director Carolyn Silverthorne. The three-act comedy by Moss Hart and George Kaufman is scheduled to be presented November 15 in the L. S. N. S. auditorium. Miss Silverthorne stated that she selected this play "to start the year with a charming comedy so that everyone can get acquainted and have a good time."

Included in the cast is Wilma Cuddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cuddy, Southwick, who has the part of "Hester."

10 per cent larger than in 1945, but about 17 per cent below average. Winter wheat seeding is either completed or near completion in the main belt, with the early seeded fields up to a good stand and in good to excellent condition generally. In the far west fall grain seeding continued where rain had aided soil conditioning and promoted good germination and rapid growth.

Mild, sunny weather during most of the week in the northern portion of the country east of the Mississippi valley and during the latter part of the week in the western plains was very favorable for harvesting and drying of corn. The bulk of the crop in the main belt needs about 10 days to two weeks drying weather.

Barley and grain sorghums advanced more than wheat and oats, but less than corn, and current prices are about two and three-quarter times the 10-year pre-war average.

Wheat purchases by the C. C. C. on October 17 to 23 inclusive totaled 4,569,880 bushels, bringing the adjusted cumulative total since September 9, to 24,490,956 bushels.

INTERESTING NEWS NOTES FROM KENDRICK SCHOOLS

On Friday, Nov. 1, the National Assemblies program will present the "Mississippians" at the Kendrick gym. This quartet will sing folk songs, as well as other types of American music.

Thanks! The thanks and appreciation of the Kendrick Hot Lunch program go to Mrs. Glenn for furnishing program for seasoning, also to Mrs. Gus Kruger for lending the school a heavy aluminum keettle, which item was greatly needed.

Annals There are still quite a few people who have not called at the school house for their Annals. It would be very much appreciated if those who have not done so, would call as soon as possible. The following have made deposits and have not yet called for their Annals: Austin Blankenship, Esther Brink, James Candler, Max Dammarrell, Arthur Foster, Roy Fey, Mrs. Wm. Fry, Bud Fairfield, Lois Fey, Gerald Halseth, Harry Harris, Donna Hoffman, Miss Dorothy Holt, Dick Harris, Yvonne Hunter, R. Dorice Gaylord Gladys Silflow
Charita Janice DePeel

The Kendrick Tigers lost their first game of the season to the Troy Trojans at Troy, Oct. 25. The score was 25-0 — and it was the last conference game of the season. It was a very disagreeable day but there was a fair rooting section on hand anyway.

The Tigers were scheduled to play at Asotin Friday of this week, but the game was called off for reasons unknown. Coach Armitage is trying to engage another team for that day.

The Basketball schedule will be given in next week's issue.

Hallowe'en Party Mrs. Hiram Galloway, chairman of the P. T. A. membership committee, is giving a party to the grade school room that solicits the most new members for P. T. A. The money will go to help pay for a piano for use on the second floor of the school house.

The party will be held today (Thursday, Oct. 21) at 2:30, in the lunch room.

Federal Land Acquisition Of approximately 59,000,000 acres of land in Idaho, only 25 per cent is in private ownership and subject to taxes for state and local government, Earl W. Murphy, secretary of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce told the Boise Lions club recently.

"From the most authentic figures available, it appears that approximately 66 per cent of the land area of Idaho is in federal ownership and control today," Murphy pointed out; "something over 25 per cent is in private ownership; a little more than six per cent is owned by the state and about 1.4 per cent by the counties."

The record shows that in Idaho approximately three per cent of the total land area passed from private to governmental ownership in the four-year period between 1940 and 1944. Murphy stated, and closed his speech by asking two questions: "Can we produce enough taxable wealth on a shrinking area of land surface of Idaho, which today is about 25 per cent of the total, to carry the increasing cost of government for the state as a whole. Is there any economic justification for a program of continued federal acquisition of land? Does the record clearly prove that all or a substantial portion of the land-use policies of the federal government are more beneficial than private ownership."

Murphy pointed out that the total receipts from forest service revenues totaled about $221,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30 — not an appreciable amount of total tax revenues.

First Real Snow Of Season It is said that a "spit of snow" fell on the ridges about Kendrick Sunday morning — but the first real snow of the season was plainly visible Wednesday morning, the ridges surrounding town being white about half way down.

But when the school busses and farmers cars and trucks began rolling into town, there was no doubt but what there was plenty of snow. The school buses carried from an inch to two inches on their tops and back slopes, and truck beds displayed like amounts.

Roy Glenn of Texas ridge reported that he measured an even three inches in the yard of his home about 6:00 a. m.

The temperature was not low here in town, but the air was raw and chill.

Lives But A Few Minutes Word was received Saturday by A. O. Kanikkeberg, that his daughter, Mrs. Judson I. Lee, Seattle, had given birth to a baby girl that day. The baby died soon after birth, living but a few minutes.

Mrs. Lee is getting along nicely.

New Arrival Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Zimmerman are the proud parents of a son, born October 23, weight 9 pounds, at the Davidson Nursing home.

Mother and babe are doing nicely.

Marriage License Granted A license to marry was issued Monday at Lewiston to Kelvin Christopher, Albion, Wash., and Maureen Kerby, Juliaetta.

No Chinks!

Despite the reports of the state game commission on the large numbers of chinks raised and released this year, to date we have heard of but one hunter getting his limit — three — and that was on opening day.

Sunday the canyon from Kendrick to Arrow was so lined with parked cars that it looked like the "Home Coming Game" at the U. of I., but the silence belied that appearance — for a shot was heard but seldom — and we heard of no one securing more than one bird for the day's efforts.

The fact remains that, locally at least, there just are no birds!

J. M. LYLE, JR., SECRETARY OF ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

U. of I., Moscow, Oct. 28 — James M. Lyle, Jr., newly designated secretary of the University of Idaho Alumni association, prepared today to take over the major job of reorganizing the office, which was a war casualty. He will assume the duties of secretary as soon as his present position of assistant veterans counselor at the university can be filled.

Lyle's appointment was made jointly by George Yost, Emmett, president of the alumni association; and J. E. Buchanan, president of the University of Idaho, in accordance with approval of the board of regents at their meeting here. Lyle fills the vacancy created by the resignation of William Olson, who resigned last spring after returning to civilian status from three years in military service.

As the alumni association had no secretary during the war years, Lyle's first job will be to bring up to date the records on the university's more than 10,000 alumni.

"We hope eventually to be in close touch with every alum," said Lyle, "and to be of real service to him."

Lyle was graduated from the university in 1929, and in 1940 received a master's degree in education. He was assistant state superintendent of schools in 1941-42, before entering military service, from which he emerged last June with the rank of captain. He served 49 months with Headquarters, San Francisco Recruiting and Induction District of the Ninth Service Command.

From 1933-39 he was superintendent of school at Kendrick, and from 1939 to 1941, superintendent at Grangeville. His home town is Lewiston.

Beans — Bean — Beans Thursday, Friday and Saturday were three of the busiest days seen in Kendrick for a long time — in so far as the warehouses were concerned, for Wednesday night at midnight the OPA bean ceiling and its attendant selling regulations died — and Thursday morning the bean buyers began arriving — and bids ebbed and flowed as the farmers came into town with "a monetary gleam" in their eyes and bean tickers in their pockets.

The bidding apparently opened at around 12c per pound, was soon at 13c — 13 1/4c — etc., until the top (at least of which we have learned) of $14.00 per 100 was reached.

Selling was brisk throughout most of the three days, and by Monday but few beans remained in the hands of local raisers.

One warehouseman remarked that he wrote checks for $65,000 worth of beans without ever leaving his chair.

Sales of from 500 to 2,300 sacks were reported.

It was indeed a sellers market for the three days that the bountiful supplies held out, and we'll bet that if the local bank were to publish a financial statement this week, it would show a substantial increase over that of three weeks ago!

Why Farmers Post Ranches Why do farmers have their places posted against hunting? The answer is easy. Because too many guys think that if you by a high-powered shotgun or rifle, a pocketful of shells and a fancy jacket with lots of trick shell pockets, game pockets and other trimmings, that they are qualified to be classed as a hunter and sportsman — but such is not the case. As a result, when the tired hunter was too stupid or too poor a shot to outwit a few pheasants or a deer, all he had to do was to sneak into a farmer's field or even his barnyard, and bag a few chickens or a cow.

Sure, it was fine "sport" for the "sportsmen," but the farmers got tired of it. Even today there are farmers living along main-traveled roads who don't dare leave their places on hunting days because they have had experience with these "city sportsmen" filling their cows, chickens and even their barns and houses full of birdshot.

When hunting, respect other people's rights and know how to handle a gun. Rools and gunpowder don't mix!

Attend Dinner A group of six church officers and leaders, Mrs. A. G. Peters, Mrs. Bina Raby, Mrs. Edgar Long, Mrs. Paul Lind, Mrs. J. H. Coulter and Dr. Coulter attended a church workers dinner and conference at the Lewiston Methodist church Tuesday evening.

Dr. F. L. Pederson of Walla Walla led in a presentation of the program of the church in the Crusade for Christ which this year emphasizes Stewardship.

If you spend your dollars out of town, how long do you think the community can endure? Trade at home.

Deer Season Opens Nov. 1 Deer hunting in the Panhandle counties, where whitetails dodge through the jack-pine thickets, will begin tomorrow, Nov. 1, sportsmen are reminded by the fish and game department. The open season lasts through the month of November.

Luck of the hunter will be determined to some extent, as is usually the case, by the weather. If snow arrives over a large area, making tracking possible, the outlook will be favorable. Conservation officers of the district are expecting the largest crowd of hunters in history. The prediction is based on the fact that record numbers have gone on hunts now open in other parts of the state.

Two areas just south of the Panhandle also have big game seasons next month. Deer and elk may be shot in Latah county and a small portion of adjoining Clearwater county Nov. 1 to Nov. 30. Nezerpe and Lewis counties have deer hunting during the entire month of November.

The game department urges all hunters to wear red hats or jackets and to use extreme care with firearms, since brushy sections are especially dangerous, due to limited visibility.

Improvements At Store L. S. Thurber and Wayne Kuykendall were busy last week-end and Sunday redecorating the interior of the Thurber store, varnishing the floor, and otherwise making improvements.

Another Of Those "Off Weeks"

This week is another of those "off weeks," when apparently nothing of real importance was going on about town to make news — and farmers and correspondents were just too busy to go anywhere or write news. These weeks happen, as you all know — and news seems to be as scarce as the "proverbial hens teeth." However, bear with us. We know better papers are coming.

Tropical Indians Speak

Language of Shakespeare

Though they never heard of Shakespeare, the Bourabbees of Panama speak an English that sounds as if they were characters right out of his plays. These Indians who live deep in Panama's jungles, in the province of Bocas del Toro, learned this obsolete English usage from the 16th century English buccaneers who used this region as a base from which to make their raids.

The Bourabbees became good friends of the pirates and gradually learned their language. That they still speak it almost as fluently as their own Indian tongue is amazing. Should a Bourabee wish "perchance" to dispense "good cheer" to his friends, he would ask him to "quaff" some wine or "guzzle" some food with him. These full-blooded Indians go about exclaiming "Zounds!" and "Gadzooks!", speak of a "merrie lassie" or, when an amusing incident has occurred, talk about the "passing funny enterprise."

Added to the Shakespearean expressions is a sprinkling of newer phrases and slang picked up from the few English and Americans who have visited the region from time to time. But the 16th century idiom persists and is still most widely used.

British Open Bleak Ocean

Island to Outside World

For the south Atlantic island of Tristan da Cunha—lonely, bleak, and desolate—war clouds had silver linings. It has just been disclosed that a British meteorological station was secretly established there in 1942, resulting in closer and more frequent connections with the outside world.

Until that time, visits from ships broke the isolation on rare occasions, says the National Geographic society. There was no particular incentive to call at the remote group of five small volcanic islands situated midway between Argentina and the southern tip of Africa. Only two are inhabited.

Ship captains were even less interested in stopping when they learned there was no harbor, and the weather sometimes is so bad that boats cannot get through the white-capped surf to the black lava rocks along the shore. Consequently, the arrival of a supply ship was always an important event for Tristan da Cunha's 200 residents. These people of English, Irish, Scotch, Dutch, and Italian blood are so interrelated that a century of colonization left only seven surnames.

Art Commission

The National Commission of Fine Arts was established by congress in 1910 to advise upon the location of statues, fountains and monuments. The first project the seven members supervised was the Lincoln Memorial. The results were so gratifying that the commission's powers and responsibilities have been growing ever since.

Today the seven men on the commission include a landscape architect, building architect, painter and sculptor. These men give themselves unselfishly to make certain that the capitol buildings reflect our ideals in structures impressive with austere beauty. The only real authority held by the commission is that of unfailingly good taste. They do not have the power of absolute veto and, theoretically, strong opposition could upset their decisions. Yet seldom has their judgment been overruled.

Curly Hair

New methods for determining the cystine content of human hair at various stages in the permanent waving process will make it possible for every woman to have curls, regardless of the type of hair she has, according to a report to the American Chemical society. Reporting to the society's division of biological chemistry, Dorothy Sanford and Fred L. Hummoller of the Raymond Laboratories, St. Paul, declared that through the use of scientific tools, satisfactory waving methods can now be applied even to those heads which because of their cystine deficiencies could not be handled with earlier and less satisfactory waving procedures.

Soviet Power Reserves

Scattered highlands in the Soviet northwest region of forests and lakes give many streams short but sharp falls, providing considerable reserves of hydro-electric power. A number of power stations and dams were built along the Baltic-White sea watercourse. Nineteen locks were constructed on the last and main section—the 140-mile stretch from Povenets, at the northern end of big Lake Onega, to the terminal point of Belomorsk.

Ancients Industrious

Irrigation through the use of canals and wells was commonplace in Babylonia, where drainage, sewerage and indoor water supplies were also known. In the field of metal working, both the Egyptians and the Babylonians seem to have understood the metallurgy of copper, for instance, more than 6,000 years ago prehistoric "chemists" knew glazes for pottery, fluxes for use in working gold and other metals, opaque glass for beads.

What Does Lewis Want?

It has been said that John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, does not favor socialization of the coal industry. This would seem logical, for Mr. Lewis must realize that if government goes into operation of any industry on a permanent basis, its workers would no longer be free agents, with the unlimited right to strike. However, Mr. Lewis' latest demands upon the coal mines may, in the view of some authorities, make the future operations of the properties under private ownership impossible, or at least very, very difficult.

The coal mines are now "temporarily socialized." It is presumed they will be returned to private ownership in the relatively near future — or such was the case until the filing of Mr. Lewis' latest demands. During this interim period Mr. Lewis has been appearing periodically with new demands which will add enormously to the cost of mining coal. These demands range from union control of a welfare fund to be provided by the operators, to shorter working hours, work weeks, and higher wages. It is of great significance that the owners have almost nothing to say in the controversy. The unions and the government decide everything.

The question that now arises is just how high can coal prices go and still find the big and steady market that is necessary to full employment of the miners. Coal must compete, on a cost basis, with other sources of energy. So, if prices are forced high enough, the consuming industries will naturally look about for possible substitutes. And so, in many cases, will household consumers.

The worst part of the whole problem is that most of Mr. Lewis' demands involve increases in the cost of operation — without any increase whatever in labor's productivity. Labor wants more money — but it doesn't want to perform more work, and in some cases it is actually performing less work. The unanswered question is just how long the American industrial machine and the American consumer can stand the impact of this sort of labor "squeeze play."

Just what does Mr. Lewis want? Nobody knows, except, perhaps, Mr. Lewis — and sometimes we wonder about that.

Sweet are the rewards of hard labor in our gardens when it comes time to gather the supply of ripe vegetables. Golden corn, red tomatoes, green peppers—nature certainly did her part when she planned the vivid colors to tempt jaded summer appetites.

This year, more than ever, housewives will be put to the test to make menus interesting and palatable. Vegetable garnishes will be a great help, but the list of shortages of other food commodities has increased since the war's end and some summer stand-bys will have to be soft peddled. Iced tea will have less sugar or be sweetened with saccharine; breads, cakes and cookies that dig deep into the flour or sugar barrel will have to be sacrificed. Salads, the piece de resistance of many a hot weather menu, must be concocted with aforethought.

And that is where Mrs. Housewife will more or less hit a snag if she isn't ingenious because of limited supplies of mayonnaise. There are ways and means around this shortage, however, for mayonnaise can be stretched to a goodly degree by the addition of such simple ingredients as cream, fruit juice (tart) or beaten egg white.

New Army Qualifications

Qualifications necessary for enlistment in the new stream-lined United States army are constantly being increased as recruiting quotas are filled, according to a communique issued by the Sixth Army recruiting headquarters, Presidio, San Francisco, which advised prompt action on the part of those seeking to make the army a career.

Indicative of this trend is the lead now being given men who have a military occupational specialty. These men may be enlisted in a grade appropriate to experience and training, regardless of whether they served in the army, navy or marine corps or coast guard, if they enlist before their occupational specialty quota is reached.

Also being given special consideration are 17-year-olds who will be afforded opportunity for training under the finest technicians in the world.

To them, and all others who can pass the increasingly exacting qualification requirements, enlistment in the new United States army offers assurance of complete success in life, the communique points out.

Among the advantages which lift it above the level of "just another job" are listed as good pay, opportunity for travel, education in skills and guaranteed security in retirement with pay up to $185.00 per month upon completion of 20 to 30 years service.

Urge Industrial Dental Care To Reduce Absenteeism Rate

Expansion of industrial dental health programs as a means of reducing worker absenteeism is urged by the Journal of the American Dental Association. According to a new study of Tennessee war plants published in the Journal, dental diseases were an important cause of industrial absenteeism during wartime.

Drs. Ruth R. Puffer and Carl L. Sebelius of the Tennessee department of public health reported that four Tennessee factories with 5,988 employees lost 1,255 employee-days in the year 1944-45 as a result of dental diseases. The annual absence rate due to diseases of the teeth and gums was 47.3 per 1,000 workers, Drs. Puffer and Sebelius said.

Women, they reported, had an absence rate of 64.5 per 1,000, almost twice that of the rate of 33 per 1,000 for men. The absence rate for Negro workers was recorded at 84 per 1,000. The average absence directly traced to dental diseases was for 4.4 days. Drs. Puffer and Sebelius declared that dental diseases may also have been the direct or indirect cause of other illnesses which caused absences and, in many cases, directly interfered with worker efficiency on the job.

Little Arab Village Grows Into Big Near-East Port

From an Arab village, the big Palestinian port of Haifa has turned into a metropolis of wide streets and public buildings, of banks, schools, restaurants and recreation centers. Its modernistic department stores and apartment houses—with their sweeping curves, glassed-in fronts, and severe straight lines—are typical of new architectural forms around the world.

In normal times the people of Haifa go briskly about their business at the docks, in the oil refineries and cement mills, the machine shops, cigarette factories, metal works and power plants. A pipe line more than 600 miles long brings petroleum from Iraq oil fields. Tankers are fed at the oil-jetty terminus, or by undersea hose that carries the vital fluid from the beach to ships anchored offshore.

Haifa's artificial harbor was created between 1929 and 1933 by dredging and by construction of huge stone breakwaters. Railways and highways link this eastern Mediterranean port with Egypt, Turkey and other Near East states. Airfields and seaplane landings are available.

Watermelon Seed

For the best methods of saving and preparing watermelon seed, select the largest melons in your patch, mark them and let them ripen thoroughly for seed. When the melon is cut, separate the seed, wash and spread them out to dry in the air for a few hours. Then place the seed in a cloth sack. This same procedure may be followed with cantaloupes, squash, cucumbers, pumpkins and cushaws. If you plant melons on a large scale, here's another method to follow in saving seed. Remove the flesh from the largest melons that have been saved and place in a barrel. Then fill the barrel with water. In from 48 to 72 hours, the flesh will go through a semi-souring process and come to the surface of the water. The meat may then be skimmed from the top and the seed removed from the bottom of the barrel, washed, dried and stored in cloth bags.

Cantaloupe Nutritious

Tests at the Arizona experiment station show that cantaloupes are so rich in vitamins A and C that one serving of the usual size furnishes more than the day's requirements for both vitamins. Not only are cantaloupes naturally rich in vitamin C; they also hold this vitamin well, even after they are cut and prepared for serving. This makes them an exception to the general rule that the less acid a fruit contains, the more easily it loses C. Cantaloupes are low in acidity compared to many fruits, yet their vitamin C is relatively stable. Tests at the New Mexico station showed that cut slices of cantaloupe kept in the refrigerator 2 to 4 hours lost none of their C; those kept 18 to 21 hours lost only 13 per cent. The Arizona station found that small if any loss of C occurred during the time cantaloupe is generally held after cutting.

Bad Posture

Poor posture reduces the circulation locally and generally, perhaps serving a temporarily useful purpose during relaxation but, if continued, diminishing the metabolism and efficiency of the cells and tissues, inducing sluggishness and drowsiness, authorities say. Breathing is shallow, with reduced oxygen available for the tissues. The abdominal organs sag and perform poorly, often with discomfort, resulting in constipation and headache. The physical and mental attitude is one of depression and sluggishness. Backache, leg and foot pain and fatigue are frequent symptoms of bad posture, and consequently stooping, heavy work and participation in sports are frequently avoided. Lastly, clothes fit poorly when the posture is bad, and the general appearance of the individual is distasteful to others.

DO THE "NO'S" HAVE IT?

This material has been taken from the Congressional Record, official transcript of debates and votes of the Congress, and from Mr. Dworshak's public statements in the newspapers and from other publications.

Henry Dworshak voted:

NO on a bill to appropriate $10,000,000 for Rural Electrification to bring electricity to farm homes in Idaho and the nation. (June 23, 1943.)

NO on entire Patman Housing bill to build homes for veterans. (May 13, 1946.)

NO on the bill to create a U. S. commission to control all uses of atomic energy. Defeat of the bill would have left atomic energy development in the hands of the army, ignoring its peacetime beneficial uses, and open to development by private monopolies. (July 20, 1946.)

Henry Dworshak, as a member of the House appropriations committee, opposed Interior department appropriations and earned the praise of the trade journal of the Power Trust, The Electrical World, which said in its Aug. 17, 1946 issue: "Henry C. Dworshak, Idaho Republican, cooperated with (Rep. Jed) Johnson in swinging the axe on Interior appropriations." This referred to Interior department appropriations which includes the bureau of reclamation. Dworshak is a member of the House appropriations committee which did the cutting.

Henry Dworshak announced to the newspapers that he voted NO on the Congressional reorganization bill to streamline congress, "I voted against the Congressional reorganization bill because it too closely resembles an alibi for the failure of Congress to function more efficiently. It is not necessary to adopt new procedure". (July 25, 1946.)

Solved!

After hearing the evidence against a beautiful girl, charged with killing her husband, the jurors wanted to set her free, but were afraid of rousing the wrath of their wives. Finally one of the jurors, who remembered that the dead man was an Elk, came up with a bright idea and the problem was solved. They decided to recommend that the pretty defendant be fined "$20 for killing an Elk out of season."

Dissent And Discontent

The newspapers in Washington and other eastern cities are filled with reports from the middle west showing discontent with nearly everything that goes on in Washington.

About the same thing can be said about conditions in the south. Nearly every section of the United States is expressing its views and opinions about "what will happen" in the coming fall elections, and how that will affect conditions in 1948 when the Republican and Democratic parties engage in the great battle to win the election. At the present time most of the speculation has been concerned over the candidates for president in 1948. More particularly, how will the farmers vote this fall? What will be the strength of the labor unions? How much influence will small business develop? And how will small business people couple up (if they do) with big industry, the farmers, the labor unions?

In Washington the republicans will tell you that they are sure that they can win control of the House in the coming election. But at the same time the democrats insist that they are stronger than ever in the south, and that the labor unions are with them.

How will it all turn out? If we knew the correct answer to that one we wouldn't have to run a country paper for a living!

Give to the Living War Memorial Swim Pool. Remember, it's yours, not Kendrick's!

Southwick School Notes

(Delayed)

The first six weeks of school have ended and report cards have been distributed.

In the six-week tests taken last week, a perfect score was made by Nina Lohman in Idaho History, followed closely by Audrey Beck with 99 per cent in English. Others making 95 per cent or over were: Bernadette Kazda and Ronald Benjamin in English; Arlie Armitage, Ronald Perry and Gary Lohman in Arithmetic; Audrey Beck and Darrell Hanks, in English. The upper grade room average is 87 per cent.

Since our last news report a new pupil has been added to our sixth grade — Roy Bradley.

The Upper grade room had their party in the gym. last Friday with everyone present except Roy and Joe Tschantz. For lunch the food committee served sandwiches, weiners (to roast) baked beans, pickles, cookies, potato chips and coolade.

Both rooms have received their new library books and several pupils have made their reports for the year.

The seventh and eighth grades have been combined this week for a study of transitive and intransitive verbs in English.

The upper grade boys have traded baseball fields with the small boys, because of the danger of "fouls" breaking the gym. windows.

The Club elected new officers last Friday. Dick Watson is now president and Audrey Beck is reporter. Arlie Armitage is secretary, and Nina Lohman is librarian.

Those having perfect attendance for the first six weeks are: Gary and Nina Lohman, Margaret and Bernadette Kazda, James Finke, Darrell Hanks, Allan Whittinger, George Pressnall, Ronald Perry and Gerald Erlwine, Ray, Mary and Fred Lohman, Vernon and Kenneth Hanks, Joan and Stanley Davis, Wilma and Thelma Brakley, Wayne Harris, Roy Thornton, Charles Cuddy, Patricia Finke and Fern Jennings.

Last week the little room made Hallowe'en lanterns and Jack-o-lanterns.

Mrs. Loyd Thornton visited school Friday afternoon.

Patricia Finke and Joan Davis made 100 per cent in the six-week spelling tests.

Both rooms have new clocks.

The lower room is planning to have a Hallowe'en party.

The lower grade children are taking cod-liver oil each day at noon.

Try as it might, the OPA hasn't been able yet to put a ceiling on houses. About as far as the average builder can get is the basement. Putnam County Gazette, Ottawa, Ohio.

Reasons

REJECT

the "BLUE LAW" Initiatives

They are sponsored by professional prohibitionists whose main objective is to make others conform to their own ideas of proper morals and conduct. The very titles of the initiatives are misleading—instead of providing for "local option" they cleverly attempt to bring PROHIBITION by a minority—and instead of promoting "sobriety" they MAY bring complete prohibition to Idaho and, along with it, all the racketeering and lawlessness that goes with BOOTLEGGING. Above all, these—

LOCAL OPTION WON'T WORK!

BECAUSE—it is wishful thinking to believe that a county will remain dry when adjoining counties are wet.

BECAUSE—it will not stop drinking.

BECAUSE—it will create racketeering.

BECAUSE—it breeds disrespect for law.

BECAUSE YOU CAN'T—

—change people by law.

—legislate honesty.

—legislate kindness.

—legislate temperance.

SOBRIETY ACT MISLEADING!

Intended by its proponents to "promote sobriety":

ACTUALLY—it won't stop drinking.

ACTUALLY—it can't stop national advertising of alcoholic beverages.

ACTUALLY—it discriminates against local industries, newspapers, radio stations, billboard companies.

ACTUALLY—it may bring total prohibition.

ACTUALLY—it promotes all the evils of prohibition... racketeering, disrespect for law, loss of tax and other income.

"Blue Law" Initiatives Are UN-American

For that reason alone the Initiative Measures deserve to be defeated. Their UN-American aspects are many but just consider these four provisions:

1. Petitions Replace Elections

A county could be made dry by PETITION ONLY. You'd not have a chance to vote on the matter.

2. Prohibition By Minority Rule

A county could be made dry with a petition signed by only enough persons to equal 55% of the vote cast for Secretary of State. A handful of people could dry up a county irrespective of the wishes of the rest of the residents.

3. Defendant Guilty Until Proven Innocent

Despite a fundamental principle, under the proposed "Blue Laws" the person filing a charge would not have to prove his charges but the one accused would have to prove he had not violated the law.

4. A Person Can Be Forced To Incriminate Himself

A primary American legal concept is that no person need testify if, by so doing, he incriminates himself. "Blue Law" Initiatives would force a person to testify regardless of what the consequences to himself might be.

Better Hen Care — More Eggs
Did you know that 25 per cent of the hens that go into laying houses this fall will die of disease in the next 12 months? That's the expected death rate according to statistics cited by the American Veterinary Medical association.
To cut down these losses, this organization makes a plea to all farmers to follow a four-point program. First, practice sound sanitation and management of the flock. Second, guard against the importation of disease from newly-purchased birds. Third, when symptoms of disease do occur, get hold of a competent authority for expert diagnosis at once. Fourth, don't crowd birds into inadequate quarters, where disease may spread rapidly.

And speaking of chickens, this same organization says that animal protein, as well as vegetable protein, is a necessary part of the poultry diet. This report says that in recent tests, a flock of pullets was fed for one year on a ration containing only a little over 1 per cent animal protein, in the form of meat scraps.

Another flock received a ration containing about 7 per cent animal protein, from dried skim milk and meat scraps. This latter flock had a much better record, both on body weight and egg production, although both groups were fed plenty of protein in the form of grain meals and bone meals.

Legion Convention At Winchester
Lewiston, Ida. — The fall district convention of the American Legion will be held at Winchester on Thursday, November 7.

Registration will begin at noon at Hathaway's Market on Main street and the business meeting will be in the Grange hall, starting at 3:00 p. m. The Auxiliary meeting will be held in the Masonic hall.

Department officials who will be there are Com. W. F. Galloway; First Vice Com. Charles Howe; Adj. Samuel E. Vance, Jr.; S. O. John P. Day and P. E. Doug. Bean. Service Officer Day would like all Post service officers in the district present, and to bring with them any problems they may have.

The banquet will be at 7:00 p. m. in the High school gymnasium with appropriate speaking and entertainment.

The convention ball will be held at Kalline's hall, starting at 9:00 p. m., and the boys say there will be good music with a good time for everyone.

Each post will be called upon for a report of activities since the spring meeting in Lewiston, and a written copy thereof is to be left with the D. adjutant.

Lewis-Clark Post No. 13 of Lewiston plans to bring its drum and bugle corps to Winchester and give out with more of that peppy music heard at the department convention. Lewiston's 40-et-8 locomotive will make the trip also.

All Legionnaires are asked to lay aside their cares and worries on November 7 and go to Winchester for a good time, and show the town and its new post that the Legion does things up right.

HERE IS A JOB THAT GUARANTEES YOU SUCCESS!

Now! Men as young as 17 years can enter a good paying job with a positive assurance of complete success — PLUS opportunity for travel, training in a trade or skill, education, security and retirement at the end of 20 or 30 years.

Few other occupations can offer so many advantages for a successful lifetime career as enlistment in the New United States Army.

WHAT DO YOU WANT OUT OF LIFE?
Good Pay? — It's yours in the Army Travel? — That's arranged too! Education? — Under the finest technicians in the world!

Security? — A new retirement plan under the increased army pay schedule that insures you an excellent monthly income at retirement — up to as much as $185.00 per month!

If you have a Military Occupation Specialty (MOS) you may be enlisted in a grade appropriate to your training and experience. This applies to former members of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

Yes! All the things that men strive for during their lifetimes can be yours simply by enlisting in the New U. S. Army.

You must, however, be able to qualify under the new Army requirements. You'd better go in to the nearest local Army recruiting office right away and see if you are eligible for one of these "security for life" positions.

Voting — Our Precious Heritage
Every Idahoan should scan the list of political candidates with utmost care before voting Nov. 5, and apply this two-question test:

1. Is he capable of bringing improved government to community, state and nation?
2. Are his beliefs firmly American? Voting is a precious heritage to free America. We must crush all attempts from all sources, of any individual or group, which tries to worm its way into our government and substitute some other "ism" for Americanism!

We firmly believe that now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country, rather than their party. Cast your vote for a man for his qualifications and beliefs, and above all else satisfy yourself that the candidate is a 100 per cent true and loyal believer in Americanism.

Remember — Vote November 5 — vote as you please, but vote. Be an American. Use your right!

Fur Trapping Begins Nov. 1

An industry that helped to build the west will be resumed in its annual cycle Nov. 1, when trapping of fur begins in several parts of Idaho. Along the principal waterways, in marshes and in remote forests the trapper will be seeking prime pelts that add hundreds of thousands of dollars to Idaho's wealth each winter.

John W. Smith, fur supervisor for the fish and game department pointed out today that a uniform date for starting the pelting season had been set in most Idaho zones. In nearly all counties there will be some open trapping November 1.

According to the commission regulations for 1946-1947, mink, marten, muskrat, fox, otter and raccoon may be trapped in Boundary, Bonner, Benewah, Kootenai and Shoshone counties Nov. 1 to Dec. 31. The same fur bearers may be trapped in the counties of the second district — Latah, Clearwater, Nez Perce, Lewis and Idaho — during the same period. Muskrats, the most common fur throughout the state, come into the picture a little later. The season on the rats opens November 15 and runs until February 15.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our gratitude to our many friends for their sympathy, kindness and floral offerings in our late bereavement—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Luman, Mr. and Mrs. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Luman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Luman, Roy Luman, Bertha Luman, Helen Molton, David Pollock.

W. S. C. S. To Hold Cleanup

Instead of the regular monthly business meeting of the W. S. C. S., members are invited to come and help clean the church basement, Friday afternoon of this week at 2:00 o'clock.

Anyone having W. S. C. S. table cloths, please turn them in to the church so they will be on hand for the annual dinner, Nov. 7.
