Going from there they will visit Nellie's brother, Clarence Brown, at Anaheim, Calif., and remain there for her father's 76th birthday anniversary celebration. The return trip will be made by way of Salt Lake City.

Looks like this has been moving week for a lot of folks here — for Jack Brownings moved into their new home on Main street; Mr. and Mrs. Asa Calvert moved into the house vacated by the Brownings; Mr. and Mrs. George Calvert and family moved from her parents home into their own home; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Howell and daughter Connie moved into the Joseph E. ## Ideal Harvest Weather Still

The ideal harvest weather of the past month is continuing, and farmers are taking full advantage of every daylight hour — and are hoping that the weather will remain as it is for at least another month, since large quantities of barley and spring grain, as well as beans and clover yet remain to be combined, or cut and threshed as the case may be.

Beans, this year, are said to be of a very fine quality, and yields as high as 12 sacks to the acre have been reported in some cases, although we have not been able to confirm these.

INTERESTING NEWS BITS FROM THE SOUTHWICK AREA

All Of Southwick Fight Fire
A spirit of neighborliness prevailed at Southwick Tuesday evening as the entire community fell in line in a bucket brigade to successfully keep flames from sweeping over the house and cattle sheds of Commie Perry when his barn burned to the ground.

The fire, of undetermined origin, destroyed 15 tons of hay and saddles, harness, some lumber, grain and tools. No stock was in the building.

The fire was first discovered about 7:30 p. m. by members of the family. A hurried alarm brought everyone in the vicinity to the scene and buckets, produced from "practically nowhere" were used to check the flames.

Leading the brigade was Frank Cantrill, Southwick, who sensed the barn was lost and directed all attention to the house, the roofs and sides of which were soaked by the brigade members. The water was taken from a well on the property.

Road Rumors Are Flying
The local "grape vine" is carrying a heavy load of road rumors in regard to the section between Kendrick and the Henry Brammer ranch — or a section about a mile in length. However, we understand that no deeds have yet been called for — so "work to begin within 30 days" and other like reports will certainly have to wait a while before they can become true.

The "grapevine" also has it that right-of-way plans have been altered again so as to cause but little disturbance to homes and outbuildings in the west part of town.

We hope all these reports are true — but until they are officially confirmed we prefer to "salt them."

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crocker, pioneer residents of Kendrick, were very pleasantly surprised Sunday evening by their son and daughter and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Crocker and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller; Mrs. Liddie Ameing; Richard Johnson; and a brother and wife of Mrs. Crocker's, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lukens of Spokane, with a supper and greetings, on the occasion of Mr. and Mrs. Crocker's Golden Wedding anniversary.

Another brother of Mrs. Crocker's from Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lukens, could not attend, but sent greetings; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. C. Lukens of Lewiston also could not attend, as they are visiting a fourth brother, Fred E. Lukens at Washington, D. C. However, all sent fitting greetings for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Crocker were married in Kendrick on Sept. 21, 1898, and have spent all of their married life, with the exception of one year in Kendrick, where Mr. Crocker was a blacksmith for many years. He retired from that business three years ago and has since devoted his time to his hobby, guns, at a gun shop at his residence in Kendrick.

The table for the gala gathering was beautiful with its gleaming white cloth, centered with a big golden cake baked by their daughter, Mrs. Donald Miller.

There are but few privileged to reach a Golden Wedding anniversary and congratulations are certainly in order for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crocker.

Honored On Wedding Anniversary
Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Coulter were feted last Wednesday evening by some 65 friends and neighbors in the community, who honored their Silver Wedding anniversary by holding open house in the Community church parlors.

The big room was festive with large baskets of fall flowers, which formed background for the lace covered table, which was centered with a beautiful two-tiered wedding cake, flanked with candelabra and pink and yellow gladioli.

Guests were served cake and punch and the evening was spent visiting and congratulating Dr. and Mrs. Coulter on their happy, busy years of married life. Dr. Coulter also recounted some of the numerous wedding ceremonies at which he had officiated, and Mrs. Coulter told of their own wedding day, and "the misery" dealt them by friends and relatives following the ceremony.

At the close of the evening a gift, which was a silver offering, was presented the Coulters by Norla Callison on behalf of the guests.

The big wedding cake was a gift of the W. S. C. S. and baked by the Kendrick Bakery.

P-T. A. Meeting Monday Eve.
The first fall meeting of the Kendrick P-T. A. was held Monday evening with Mrs. Frank Abrams president, presiding.

Following the reading and approval of the Minutes the treasurer's report was read, showing $329.50 on hand.

Following this Mrs. Abrams read Committee appointments for the coming year.

A letter from Mrs. Ullie Hardman, district president of the P-T. A. was read, announcing the district convention to be held in Lewiston on Saturday, Sept. 25.

Old business discussion revealed that there was no longer a need for a piano, since the school reorganization had provided one for the Juliaetta grade school, and the supply here was now adequate.

The committee to investigate Cub Scouting gave "no report."

There followed a discussion on the project to be adopted for the year, since the school no longer needed a piano, and Mr. Templeman made a few remarks on the need of hand uniforms. Since no other requests were made a motion was put through to use the money on hand and endeavor to raise enough more to purchase 30 band uniforms.

Ross Armitage announced a night football game with the Lewiston B squad in Lewiston, Friday, Sept. 24. He also announced a game here on October 1st.

There followed a "white elephant" sale with Mrs. Millard receiving the "animal."

Mr. Nutting, superintendent, then spoke a few minutes on the advantages of our new system, with the added teachers children receive more personal attention. A greater variety of subjects are also offered for their choice. All-in-all, the school is able to maintain a more business-like atmosphere, with more supervision.

Mr. Nutting then introduced the teachers — some new, and some who didn't need any introduction.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. E. M. White, program chairman, who called on Mrs. Floyd Millard who gave a reading entitled, "Yowoc Straus." All then enjoyed group singing, led by Mrs. White.

The meeting then adjourned to the Home Economics room for refreshments.

WHEAT MARKETS SHOW LITTLE GREATER STRENGTH

Domestic wheat markets, taken as a whole, averaged somewhat stronger during the past week, with prices advancing to support levels at most points, according to reports to the Federal-State Market News service. Receipts were seasonally heavy but a large part of the arrivals were being placed in store and supplies available for current trade purposes were quite light. Flour mills entered the wheat market for somewhat larger quantities than in the past and additional purchases by governmental agencies provided an additional strengthening factor. Pacific Northwest wheat markets, however, were rather inactive because of the longshoremen's strike and embargos, while California markets failed to advance with other areas because of slow demand from most local users.

Good progress was made in harvesting the remainder of the wheat crop in the north-central and northwestern areas under favorable weather conditions. This work is now nearly finished to the northern border. North American wheat supplies for the 1948-49 season, based on the September 1 estimates, will total about 1,947 million bushels. This is about 70 million bushels over last season's supplies and 170 million above the 1935-44 average. Preparation of the soil for seeding fall grain crops in the central and southern great plains area made good progress during the week. The soil is mostly in excellent condition in these areas. Much wheat is now sown in western Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, but many farmers are awaiting fly-free dates to begin seeding.

The Commodity Credit Corporation purchased 6,619,344 bushels of wheat and 745,000 bushels of barley during the week ending September 10. Flour purchases totaled 29,500,000 pounds (equal to about 687,350 bushels of wheat). The wheat purchased during that week (latest on which figures are available) consisted of 3,649,450 bushels through Kansas City; 1,699,500 bushels through Minneapolis; 325,394 through Chicago and 945,000 bushels through Portland. Cumulative purchases since July 1, 1948, total: Wheat, 101,285,501 bushels; flour, 514,420,000 pounds (equal to 11,499,354 bushels of wheat); barley, 10,615,664 bushels; grain sorghums, 5,856,427 bushels and rye 207,854 bushels.

Pacific Northwestern wheat markets were quite inactive because of the longshoremen's strike and the embargos placed on movement to coast terminals as a result. Demand from mills and other classes of trade was quite limited but the Commodity Credit corporation purchased 623,333 bushels of wheat at Portland during the week ending September 16, bringing the total since July 1 to 14,341,665 bushels. Pacific Northwestern wheat growers were reported as placing large quantities of wheat under government loans. Trading in spot wheat at Portland was too narrow to establish an accurate market value but dealers were bidding $2.18 1/2 per bushel for No. 1 white and No. 1 red wheat, in bulk, for delivery after the embargo has been lifted.

The San Francisco wheat market was somewhat unsettled with prices for sacked wheat holding about unchanged because of light offerings, while quotations for wheat in bulk declined around 5c per 100, as some wheat offering supplies met slow demand. Offerings of wheat in bulk were largely from central California producing areas where growers were anxious to move supplies because of insufficient storage space.

A FIRE CHECK-UP NOW MAY SAVE YOUR HOME LATER

With colder weather daily increasing the danger of preventable fires, local families are asked to make a full-size check of homes and apartments to eliminate common fire hazards this winter.

Effectiveness of thorough inspections has been demonstrated in recent years in many cities, one of which reported that a wide-spread campaign reduced the number of dwelling fires for a 12-month period from 550 to 201.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters suggests that the check-up begin in the basement, where nearly one-third of all dwelling fires start.

The furnace should be cleaned. Household using oil burners should call in an experienced repairman to check it. Clothing, rugs, and other ignitable items stored near the furnace should be removed, and the summer's collection of paper, rubbish and litter disposed of. A safe, metal container should be provided for hot ashes in the event you have a coal-burning furnace.

Any "home-wiring" which has been put in by a member of the family should be inspected by a licensed electrician. Pennies in the fuse box are an invitation to fire, and should be removed. Most home circuits use 15-amp fuses, and a supply should be kept handy. Be sure the fuses bear the U. L. label on the box or under the glass.

Special care should be taken to re-arrange extension cords, avoiding hanging them over bare nails or running them under rugs. It is safer to replace any worn-looking cords.

Oil and clean the motors of all electric appliances so they will not overheat and cause fires. Unless the refrigerator motor is the "sealed in" type, it should be oiled and cleaned. Also check to be sure that the belt is in proper condition, since frayed or oily belts often slip and build up heat and can catch fire.

Chimneys, flues and smokepipes should be cleaned, and all cracks and holes repaired. A metal screen should be placed in front of a fireplace to guard against flying sparks and hot ashes.

All gasoline or other inflammable fluids should be removed from both house and garage. Cleaning clothes at home is a dangerous practice, but families which insist upon doing so should use only those preparations tested and approved by the U. L. laboratories.

In the kitchen, remove grease accumulations from the stove and place grease containers some distance away from it. Keep a few cupfuls of soda or salt handy to throw on grease fires in broilers or cooking vessels.

And above all, at all times — be careful with fire!

Severely Injures A Hand

Mrs. Grover Danforth, Southwick, suffered a deep and severe cut on her left hand last Wednesday, while engaged in splitting kindling.

She was brought to Kendrick immediately, where Dr. Christensen took ten stitches to close the wound.

"KEEP ON WITH SCHOOL," EISENHOWER URGES YOUTH

"If your generation fails to understand that the human individual is the center of the universe and is still the sole reason for the existence of all man-made institutions, then today's complexity of living will become chaos. Consequently, I feel firmly that you should continue your schooling — if you can — to the end of high school and to the end of college." So declares Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia University, in an open letter to American students. Eisenhower's letter, addressed to the many "Jacks" and "Margarets" who have written him asking whether they should "keep on with school or plunge right off into life," is published as the leading article in The Reader's Digest for October.

"To know your character you must know your country's character," Eisenhower emphasizes. Pointing out that a plant partakes of the character of its soil, the author likens the student to a conscious plant and urges the study of "your soil — which is your country — in order to draw its strength up into your own strength."

Self-interest and patriotism are not contradictory ideas but partners, Eisenhower contends, advising youth to "look out for yourself in order to look out for your country." The country's problems, affecting each citizen individually can be understood and intelligently coped with only through education. One such problem is the economic insecurity of millions of Americans "who have little between them and hunger except a daily job, which they may lose. . . . Their discontent might some day undermine your security," Eisenhower writes, "no matter how personally successful you might be in your own working life."

Warning against the danger of assuming that a "mysterious mechanism called 'the government' "controls American affairs, the general states that every time we allow the government to take over a question that properly belongs to us we surrender part of our individual responsibility, and with it a comparable measure of individual freedom.

The core of the American life is the leadership of many rather than of one, Eisenhower tells youth. "Never let yourself be persuaded that any one Great Man is necessary to the salvation of America. Even the natural enthusiasm of warm, youthful hearts for a leader can be a menace to liberty. Movements of misguided young people, influenced by older and more cynical minds, provided the physical force to make Mussolini the tyrant of Italy and Hitler the tyrant of Germany. . . . When America consists of one leader and 143,000,000 followers, it will no longer be America."

We have the world's best machines, the author says, because we ourselves are not machines, because we have the liberty to think and act for ourselves. Our strength is not in our machines but in the inquisitive, inventive souls of our people. "To be that kind of soul is open to every American boy and girl; and it is the one kind of career that America cannot live without."

But knowing how to produce things is not enough, Eisenhower concludes. One of education's chief values is that through it we learn what we are producing things for — the purpose which animates America. "Above all," he urges, "while still at school, try to learn the 'why' of your country."

Good Time Is Scheduled

"Alumni and friends will really have an opportunity to get together at the 1948 Homecoming and fall over the good old days," Gene Slade, chairman of the Alumni Homecoming committee, declared.

For years an alumni banquet, complete with speeches, has followed the annual Homecoming game. This year, after the Oregon game, October 9, the alumni will attend a buffet-style dinner at the Ad club, served until dance time.

"There will be no speeches," said Slade. "Just conversation. We polled many alumni and found that what they preferred was an opportunity to relish a winning touchdown play back in '22 or a losing attempt to pass an exam by all-night cramming."

Two Sales Are Listed

Two large sale ads, appear in this week's issue, that of Claude Clark on the Juliaetta-Genesee road on Friday, Sept. 24 — and the other that of Phil Johns on the Juliaetta-American-Ridge road, Friday, Oct. 1. In them will be found listed a wide variety of tractors, a combine, farm equipment and household goods, as well as many small items.

Bakery Has Trouble

The local bakery was "enjoying mechanical trouble" Tuesday and Wednesday when an air-lock developed in the feed line of their big oil-fired boiler, and as a result were able to put out doughnuts only.

However, Louis Wright said he believed they now had the troublesome line under control and expected to be back on schedule today (Thursday).

The Philosophy Of Life

As a man grows older he values the voice of experience more and the voice of prophecy less. He finds more of life's wealth in the common pleasures — home, health, children. He thinks more about the worth of men, and less about their wealth. He begins to appreciate his own father more. He boasts less and boosts more. He hurries less and usually makes more progress. He esteems the friendship of God and man more and more. — The Family Tree.

Dairy Cows Good Insurance
 Since 1910, using that year's prices as a 100 percent base, the index of dairy products received by farmers compared to all farm products, excluding dairy products, has been very strongly in favor of dairy products. The only break in that trend was during the World War I years, but by 1921, dairying had regained its leading role and maintained it until 1947. The index in 1947, due to high grain prices, was 269 for dairy products compared to 280 for all other crops. Dairy cows will undoubtedly continue to be the best insurance against price declines. — Dairy Industry Committee, Wash., D. C.

New Olive Sauce for Beans Suggested by Food Experts

An olive sauce which can be used in place of meat or mushroom sauce has been tested by the University of California food technology division. The sauce is made of sliced pitted olives, chopped green peppers, salt, garlic, onions and tomato sauce, cooked for several minutes.

The olive sauce can be used with canned white beans or red kidney beans. The beans are soaked in water until plump, then drained. Water and the olive sauce are added and heated to boiling.

The college of agriculture also has developed a canned olive sauce for flavoring stews and other meats. Chopped olives, garlic, onion, chopped pimiento and tomato sauce are mixed and heated to boiling. The resulting sauce is satisfactory in flavor and appearance and can be used to flavor a great variety of meat dishes, spaghetti and rice.

Another sauce to flavor spaghetti, rice, stews and beans, can be made from the contents of two tall cans of pitted sliced olives, to which two small cans of hot sauce are added. Mixed in are also six ounces of chopped onions, two ounces of chopped garlic and four ounces of chopped green peppers.

Golden Spike Date Termed Momentous in Rail History

Of the many dates that stand out in railroad history, May 10, 1869, takes a high place for its importance not only to the carriers but to the nation as well.

It was on that day that the far western regions of the country were opened for quicker settlement and development. It was the day that ended the need for stage coach and covered wagon travel between the east and west coasts, as well as the long water voyages around Cape Horn, and to the Isthmus of Panama and through the jungle to the Pacific and then by vessel to California.

And it was also the day which western-minded easterners had envisioned when they could take their entire families, with a lessening of dangers and speedier transport, to the youngest sections of the country.

In a memorable ceremony north of Great Salt Lake in Utah, a golden spike was driven into the last rail linking the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific (now the Southern Pacific) roads, signaling the completion of the first chain of railroads to span the American continent.

Early Use of Mahogany

There exists today, preserved in the cathedral at Ciudad Trujillo, formerly Santo Domingo, a rough hewn mahogany cross inscribed: "This is the first sign planted in the center of this field to mark the beginning of this magnificent temple in the year 1514." That inscription is the earliest record of the use of mahogany. The cathedral that houses it, completed in 1940, is itself richly embellished with carved mahogany, some of which is considered the finest in the world, and is still in splendid condition after over four centuries in the tropics. First known European use of mahogany was for the chanting desk, choir stalls, shelves and desks in the great library of the Escorial, begun by Philip II of Spain in 1563 and completed in 1584.

Safest Playground Colors

Beauty can take the best out of potentially dangerous play equipment for children. Safety experts point to a recent study made by a paint manufacturing concern which shows that beautifying playground equipment also can serve to make it safer. Slides should be painted green, which counteracts excessive sunlight. Steps leading to the top of the slide should be yellow to draw the child's attention and make him more careful when climbing up. Youngsters are less likely to be struck by seats or rings of swings if seats and rings are painted yellow, giving greater visibility. Green is best for uprights and overhead bars.

Harvesting the Oyster

Once a year, usually in the early fall, the annual bluepoint oyster harvest begins at the largest oyster gathering and processing plant in the world, at Greenpoint, Long Island. Wooden-hulled boats chug out to the oyster grounds early in the morning. In the pale pre-dawn light they dump their large dredges over the side. Steel teeth munch at the bottom soil, scooping up the oysters, which are pulled into the boat by a winch. Then they return to the bluepoint plant where conveyor belts bring in the oysters to be culled or "shucked."

Still Heroine of Skies

Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, disappeared July 2, 1937, somewhere near a tiny stretch of sand called Howland islands in mid-Pacific. She was on her second attempt to fly around the world. Miss Earhart, first woman to fly the Atlantic and part of the Pacific, was flying the most dangerous leg of her trip when her fuel evidently gave out during the 2,500 mile jump over the water from Lae, New Guinea, to Howland. She is still heroine of the skies.

Swiss Government Modeled After U. S. Constitution

Switzerland, the mountain republic, observes throughout 1948 the centennial of her constitution. Consolidation of the 22 Swiss cantons (states) as a unified nation was achieved through the Constitution of 1848, which was modeled to a considerable degree after the Constitution of the United States. Principal difference between the Swiss and U. S. governments is in the organization of executive power. The Swiss president, elected from the seven-man federal council, serves only one year.

The right of presidential veto is replaced in Switzerland by the legislative referendum or popular vote. Swiss people vote directly for or against many important laws.

Switzerland's success in maintaining strict neutrality for more than a half century and remaining solidly secure through two world wars is due largely to her citizen army. On a per capita basis the Swiss under universal military training have the largest army in the world. A force of 250,000 could be mobilized overnight; 500,000 in 48 hours.

Historians look upon Switzerland today as a political miracle. Half the size of Maine, and with a population less than half of New York City, Switzerland has a people of four different languages and diverse religious beliefs.

Although landlocked, Switzerland has built up an amazing mechanism of banking and international trade. The Swiss franc is the only currency in the world comparable to the U. S. dollar in stability.

Simple Methods Recommended To Remove Starch From Iron

Starched clothes are indirectly to blame for scars on many a hand, iron, household equipment specialists say. When starch sticks and scorches on the hot iron, there's a temptation to scratch it off with a knife or any other sharp utensil handy. The result is likely to be permanent scratches on the plate of the iron. Once scratched the iron may catch on fabrics and pull threads.

There are several simple ways to remove starch without damage to the iron. If the iron is hot, do it this way: Shake salt on a piece of paper and rub the iron back and forth over the salt until the starch rubs off. From a cool iron starch may be removed by scouring with very fine steel wool or with a moist cloth dipped in fine scouring powder. Sometimes just rubbing with a moist cloth will do the job.

As a prevention against sticking starch, rub a little beeswax or paraffin frequently over the hot surface of the iron. Well-cooked starch is less likely to stick than starch which is not thoroughly cooked so it pays to prepare it carefully. A wax preparation to add when making up starch is on the market which helps prevent sticking and makes ironing easier.

Some experienced housewives believe that adding salt to the starch mixture helps keep it from sticking, perhaps because the salt raises the temperature of the mixture and thus aids thorough cooking.

Medal Commemorates Unesco

A medal commemorating the founding of Unesco has been produced by the French government. The medal is available in bronze and silver. Executed by the French engraver, M. Georges Lay, the medal was selected by Dr. Julian Huxley, director general, from among several designs presented. The face displays Peace on Earth, symbolized by a feminine figure in relief holding a laurel branch against the globe which is encircled by the initials of Unesco. The reverse of the medal depicts a trilogy of allegorical figures, symbolizing the aims of Unesco in the fields of education, science, and culture. This side also displays the date of the constitutive conference of Unesco, held in London in November, 1945.

Care of Upholstered Furniture

The care and cleaning of upholstered furniture is a routine task, if it is kept clean and free of moths. It should be brushed thoroughly at least twice a month. Use a vacuum cleaner on upholstered goods except where the cushions are down-filled; this will keep the material free from dust and help to eliminate the danger of moths. Thoroughly brushing the upholstered furniture will break up the eggs. When brushing, pay particular attention to seams, pockets, crevices and the back of the furniture. Remove the loose cushions and brush as deeply as possible in the spaces between the seat, the back and the arms. This should remove the breeding places of moths.

Causes of Farm Accidents

Many accidents occur in farm homes. Among the causes for these accidents are faulty steps, failure to keep steps clear of mops, brooms and tools, failure to observe safety precautions in the installation and use of electrical equipment, failure to have stair carpeting properly anchored, failure to keep sharp knives separate from other knives, failure to use a stepladder instead of a chair and failure to have a safe storage place for bicycles, wagons, scooters, skates and other playthings.

Prudence Island Offered For Foot, Mouth Research

Rhode Island has taken the lead in solving the problem of where to build a United States foot-and-mouth disease research laboratory. A congressional delegation of that state has proposed that the necessary facilities be constructed on Prudence island in Narragansett Bay, R. I.

Government acceptance of the site hinges on final approval by, and necessary arrangements with, state and local officials and livestock interests. The island has an area of several square miles and is ample for the 500-acre establishment needed for the research work.

All things considered, Prudence island fulfills the requirements of federal legislation and meets general operating needs more fully than any other available location yet proposed. The principal federal requirement is that the laboratory must be on a coastal island separated from the mainland by deep, navigable water.

Construction costs are estimated at a minimum of 25 million dollars, annual operating costs at 2.5 million dollars or more. The project would be staffed by about 300 employees.

One President 'Missing,' According to Researcher

Research experts, digging into history, have unearthed evidence which indicates that we have overlooked a president. Instead of 33 men holding the highest office in the land, we could, by virtue of a technicality, list 34.

As the "missing" president is also a Missourian, there is a doubt about Mr. Truman's claim to fame as the first chief executive to hail from the "Show Me" state.

The gentleman who thus far has been slighted by the historical record is David R. Atchison, senator from Missouri, 1843,55.

The main historical clue to Atchison's presidency is found in the 1913 edition of the Biographical Congressional Directory. The directory reveals that Atchison was president of the United States for one day.

According to World Book encyclopedia, President Polk's term expired on March 3, at midnight. Zachary Taylor was not sworn in as president until March 5, 1849.

At that time there was no vice president, and Atchison had claim to the presidency because he was president pro tem of the senate and next in line for the job.

Tornadoes Are Explained

Tornadoes are like lightning—they hardly ever strike twice in the same place. H. L. Jacobson, veteran forecaster for the U. S. weather bureau in Chicago, says tornadoes usually are caused by opposing air currents during a severe thunderstorm—cold air moving downward and warm air upward. The weather man says the same principle applies to the water spouts sometimes seen in large bodies of water. The water rises through the vacuum in the center of the whirling air currents. Jacobson says no accurate wind measurements ever have been made near the center of a tornado. He explained that there are more tornadoes in the spring because there is more moisture in the air and more thunderstorms.

Where Aspen Can Be Used

Aspen is one of the least durable woods and is known to deteriorate or rot rapidly under conditions favoring decay. Records on aspen used under moist and severe decay conditions have shown that serious decay and failure of the product may develop in three to four years. Although there is considerable prejudice against aspen for uses in which decay is not a factor when good construction practices are followed, for such uses as siding, roof boards, sheathing and rafters, experience has shown that aspen is as durable as any wood, either hardwood or softwood, under use conditions where it remains dry or is exposed to moisture for relatively short periods.

Blackberries in the Garden

Some people have failed with blackberries because they did not realize that blackberries are self-sterile and that sometimes it is necessary to have more than one variety in order to insure cross-pollination. The home gardener finds also that his blackberry patch becomes unmanageable when he does not care for it properly. It becomes an impenetrable thicket and sometimes overgrows a small garden. With proper management and the possible development of better varieties in the future, the blackberry may become more important for the garden.

Trend Towards Cities

Within little more than a century, says a Twentieth Century fund report, the United States has changed from a primitive agricultural economy to one of the most highly industrialized countries. Only 5 per cent of its four million inhabitants lived in urban communities in 1790. By 1890, with a population of 63 million, 35 per cent lived in urban territory, and by 1940 nearly 57 per cent of a population of 132 million was urban.

Tired Housewives May Need Complete Change of Habits

"Tired" housewives may find some relief for their feeling of exhaustion from suggestions offered by home management and child development specialists.

One reason for tiredness, of course, is overwork or lack of rest. It is true physical fatigue. Few household tasks use up enough energy to cause this kind of tiredness. Work such as doing the family wash without modern equipment, canning large amounts of food, moving furniture, or constant lifting and carrying of children can cause overtiredness.

Quite different causes result in two other kinds of "tiredness." One is fatigue caused by just plain boredom. Wives who do the same jobs such as dish washing or dusting in the same way year after year and have no interest in the tasks can become tired from the monotony.

Another kind of tiredness comes from mental conflict. Housewives who have more to do than they think they can accomplish, who have constant interruptions or who may be worrying about something, such as family illness, have a tired feeling because of all the conflicts they face.

Rest and sleep help all kinds of tiredness and are the only way of fighting physical fatigue. To overcome boredom, introduce interest in your housewifely tasks by trying new methods, or trying to "beat your own time." If it's worry that's making you tired, decide what is bothering you most and try to remove it from your situation.

Sixty Ice Glaciers Glisten Amid Peaks of Montana Park

Glacier National park in western Montana, one of the largest and most scenic of the national parks, abuts on the adjoining Canadian Waterton Lakes park to form an unusual international vacation reserve—known as the International Peace park. Glacier has grown greatly in popularity in recent years, and most visitors to Glacier travel also in Waterton Lakes park.

Glacier is perched astride the Continental Divide, and is famed for its many glaciers and rugged peaks.

Glacier National Park is so named because in the hollow of its rugged mountaintops lie more than 60 small glaciers.

A band of 38 mountain sheep was reported near Many-Glacier hotel in the park during the past winter by a park ranger. Glacier's bighorn sheep, of which there are more than 200, faced extinction in 1936 by a threatened lung disease. The herds have dwindled in other national park areas but now are reported to be slowly increasing. A bighorn ram weighs up to 400 pounds.

Dampening Clothes for Ironing

How to dampen clothes for ironing: Use hot water as it penetrates the fibers more quickly. Use a sprinkler that will distribute the water in a fine spray. Fold clothes carefully to avoid introducing unnecessary wrinkles. Fold the hems and double portions to the inside and roll up, using a slight kneading pressure to help the moisture penetrate. Use less moisture for machine ironing than for hand ironing. Dampened clothes should "season" at least half an hour. In cool, dry weather, they may stand overnight. In hot, damp weather, iron within an hour or two lest mildew develop. Simplest dampening device available is a perforated metal cap which fits into the neck of a bottle. Sprayers also are used. These distribute the water in a very fine spray and are good for rayons and fine fabrics of all types which do not need a great deal of moisture, but must have it evenly distributed.

Antoinette Legend Refuted

Marie Antoinette's classic statement, "Let 'em eat cake" is pure poppycock, according to the research editor of World Book encyclopedia. The legend about Marie Antoinette is supposed to have taken place when a mob of Frenchmen stormed Versailles, crumpling the flowers in Marie's garden. Marie inquired as to the people's wrath and was told, "they have no bread." Marie, who presumably couldn't understand such a plight, answered, "Let 'em eat cake." The researcher points out that the story has no historical basis and probably was circulated to further enrage the French patriots. Marie was already the target for much criticism because of her extravagance.

History of Horse

No animal that ever inhabited the earth has made so many appearances, disappearances and reappearances as the horse, in his parade of 45 million years, during which he has grown from a height of less than one foot to the ponderous Belgian of this day. Puzzlement as to the origin of the horse has been created because the horse, the ass and the zebra belong to the same family. There has been uncertainty whether a certain skeleton was that of a horse, or of his relatives, the ass and the zebra. Each has a single hoof, meaning that it is solid, and without toes, making this species distinct and apart from all other animals.

Courtesy Can Pay Dividends

You wouldn't rely on another fellow to tip your hat when you meet a lady. Neither can you build your reputation as a considerate driver on someone else's courtesy.

Make courtesy characterize your driving, then watch your popularity grow and your driving record improve. Every motorist and every pedestrian should keep constantly in mind the thought that courtesy prevents accidents. Courtesy saves lives. You never heard of anyone apologizing for being courteous, but you can be sure that many a driver has been sorry for his recklessness.

Double Benefits Can Be Drawn
 Old Age insurance benefits and unemployment compensation can both be drawn at the same time under the laws of this state by a wage earner 65 years of age or over, if he qualifies under both programs, says King Torgesen, manager of the Lewiston field office of the Social Security administration.

Torgesen points out that the season is fast approaching which will see considerable lay-offs in this area because of the seasonal nature of the timber work and related industries. While most wage earners are aware of their rights concerning unemployment compensation, too many individuals do not know that they may also be eligible for old-age insurance during this period of unemployment.

The wife, 65 or older, of an eligible wage earner may also file a claim and receive insurance benefits for each month her husband is entitled to payment. Claimants who intend to return to work when their employer starts operating again, are free to do so. However, their benefits stop with the first month in which they earn more than $14.99, but the benefits will begin again with the first month in which they are not working. All wages earned after returning to work will be considered in determining the benefit rate when the claimant is again eligible to receive payment.

Further information may be obtained in Room 2, Post Office Bldg., Lewiston, Idaho.

An Eye For Business
 A haughty senior coed sniffed disdainfully when a small freshman cut in at the dance.

"Why did you cut in so abruptly?" she demanded.

"Well," he replied, "I'm working my way through college and your partner waved a five-dollar bill at me."

Why The Open Grouse Season
 U. of I., Moscow. — Northern Idaho has a good supply of grouse this year and at least one black bear — that was the report this week of Kenneth Hungerford, assistant leader of the Idaho Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit at the University of Idaho.

While conducting the annual grouse census in the university's 7,000-acre experimental forest in the Moscow mountains, Hungerford heard a rustling in the brush ten feet away. Parting the brush to flush a grouse, he looked into the eyes of a black bear. Next he looked for a tree to climb, but the bear wasn't having any part of census-takers — fortunately. The bruin tore up a mountainside, flushing a couple of grouse Hungerford almost forgot to count.

"The survey revealed that there is now one grouse per four acres," said Hungerford. "Last year there was only one grouse to every 6 1/2 acres."

Findings were a factor in the opening of the grouse season this fall — Oct. 1 to 3 — for the first time in years. The grouse population had shrunk dangerously low ten years ago, but has staged a big comeback.

"Northern Idaho has more potential grouse country than pheasant country," said Hungerford. "Grouse like to live in timber edges and in cut-over land. Through continued research, we hope to assure good management practices which will perpetuate grouse in the area."

Permanent Plan Is Scheduled
 The current government price support program for farm products is so generally accepted by farmers and the public that it is a part of the present agricultural policy of this country," in the opinion of Rep. Clifford R. Hope of Kansas, Republican chairman of the House agricultural committee.

Rep. Hope expressed this view in an address before nearly 800 farm leaders from every state in the union at a meeting on the campus of the University of Massachusetts, last week.

Hope said that farmers and public accepted as national farm policy "price supports where needed and where they can be used in a practical way to keep agricultural prices at levels which will make for efficient production, preserve our soil resources and secure standards of living for farm people comparable with those enjoyed by other economic groups of our population."

Mr. Hope pointed out that the present price support schedule, adopted as a temporary measure in war time to encourage production of food and fiber needed by America and her allies, was scheduled to be replaced on January 1, 1950, with a permanent price support program.

Deer And Elk Tags Out
 Fifty thousand deer tags and 18,000 elk tags were distributed last week to more than 500 license vendors throughout this state. The state fish and game commission said this shipment of tags would be available to the public immediately and be sufficient to meet the demand for at least the first part of the big game season, which begins in most sections on October 1st.

More tags will be sent out as the situation requires. Last year Idaho hunters purchased 82,014 deer tags and 27,341 elk tags. Both were record annual sales.

Elk tags are $2.00 each. Deer tags are $1.00 each. They must be attached to game animals immediately after the kill. The seals are of metal and are to be locked to the carcass. Tag numbers are recorded on a license at the time the tags are obtained.

HELLO, FOLKS —

About Marketing:
You have all heard that old saying: "In the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as 'fail'." That saying is as true today as ever, but you, yourself, can 'fail' to make the most from your cows if you overlook the financial benefits that can be yours through marketing your milk and cream the co-operative way through us.

If you have followed the market, you know that we always pay the market price — but by selling through us you also qualify for an annual dividend — and that, in itself, is no small item!

Talk to your neighbors or friends and let them tell you of the financial gains they have enjoyed, and then, if any doubt still exists, come in and let us explain and talk it over with you. It will take but a few minutes — and you will be the financial winner.

About Our Products:
Under our brand, "Potlatch Chief," we produce and sell Milk, Cream, Ice Cream, Cottage Cheese, Butter, Milk and Canned Eggs. We cordially invite you to come in and inspect our plant at any time. We have nothing to hide, hence there are no partitions and you can watch every operation by leaning against our counter.

About Milk Bottles:
Yes, we still "have our hair down, crying" about milk bottles. We need 'em. So if you have any empties about, please return them or set them out where our milk deliveryman can pick them up.

Moose Hunt Now On

Thirty moose hunters are now heading for eastern Idaho to exercise their rights to pursue and kill specimens of the largest game animal in the state — and probably the scarcest — September 26 to 30 — and should they be lucky must handle a carcass weighing half a ton and more.

Only mature bull moose are permitted to be killed — and but 30 of them.
