GRUELLS HOLD OPEN HOUSE ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gruell, Juliaetta, was the scene of an open house, Sunday, which honored their 25th wedding anniversary. Friends, relatives and neighbors called during the afternoon to extend congratulations, visit and reminisce. The same home in which the Gruells are now living was the scene of their wedding 25 years ago. Much merriment ensued as the guests looked at wedding pictures and viewed the wedding gown — which bought back memories of that event.

The refreshment table was centered with a beautiful two-tiered wedding cake, which was topped by a pair of tiny silver slippers. The cake was a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wright. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. G. C. Ottosen of Tacoma, who poured; Mrs. Eugene Taylor, who also poured; Mrs. E. J. Henrichs of Nampa, who served cake; Miss Alice and Rosalee Whittem, and the Misses Karen and Eleanor Henrichs, who served ice cream.

The guest book was signed by some 80 guests, who brought a profusion of gifts, cards and good wishes.

Henrichs and granddaughters Karen and Eleanor of Nampa, Ida.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Biddle, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Lee and Bertha Seigler, all of Clarkston; Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gruell, all of Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. Eben Adams of Moscow and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Buckalaw of Palouse, Wn.

New Building Displays Products

A couple of weeks ago the Mead & Howard Lumber Co., Juliaetta, finished moving into their new office building and display room, although all the stock for the display room is not yet in place.

One novelty in the building is the fact that in itself it displays the products manufactured and handled by the company.

As an example, the main display section is finished in oiled cedar paneling. The floor is of gray-green asphalt tile, and the modern revolving fixtures for display of merchandise are finished in a dark green. The woodwork in the room is also finished in green, to blend and compliment the floor and fixtures.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard the walls are of tamarack paneling. The ceiling is of glazed "flake board" and the wall cabinets are of regular flake board, with recessed sliding doors. Two large picture windows with venetian blinds complete the room — all of which is finished in natural color. The floor here is of gray-green tile, and the lights of fluorescent diffusion type.

The bookkeeping office is lined in white fir paneling, finished in natural color. On the floor is a reddish brown tinted asphalt tile. Supply cabinets are built into the walls, and the sliding doors on these are also of flake board. The ceiling is of white celotex. A vault and file cabinets are built into the walls.

The main doors connecting the various rooms in the building are all different — one being of mahogany slab, another of birch slab, and another of fir slab. The two outside doors are of standard heavy fir with glass panels.

The entire building is heated electrically, with thermostatic control. The ground surrounding is being landscaped (as weather permits) and when completed the whole, inside and out, will be one of the most attractive office buildings to be found anywhere.

Sidney Eugene Waite was born at Dayton, Wash., October 5, 1889, a son of David and Helen Waite. He moved with his parents to Cavendish, Idaho, when a young lad, and grew to manhood in that community. He moved to the coast in 1910, and was united in marriage there to Ruth Jaffe, in 1917.

Mr. Waite made his home on the coast until 1952, when he came to Kendrick to make his home with his sister, Mrs. P. G. Candler and family. He suffered a stroke nine years ago and had been in failing health since that time. He suffered a fatal heart attack Friday evening while visiting at the home of his niece, Mrs. Albert Westendahl and family.

Several old-time friends called in the afternoon to greet those present and renew acquaintances.

This was the first time the family had been all together for nine years. The only sad part of the day was when the good-byes had to be said as each member left for his or her respective home.

Swim Pool To Open

The Area Living War Memorial Swimming Pool at Kendrick is scheduled to open as soon as the weather permits — which means as soon as it quits raining.

George Poulos has been employed as life guard, having had previous experience in such work at Boy Scout camps, and also in teaching swimming while serving with the army.

However, to qualify for Water Safety Instructor, he will go to Coeur d'Alene Sunday, where he will attend the "Twin Echo Aquatic School" sponsored by the Red Cross, and take a refresher course. Jim Armitage will have charge of the pool during his absence.

The pool will be operated much the same as in the past, with admission prices remaining the same — $3.00 and $5.00 for season tickets, and daily admissions at 25c and 40c.

The pool will be open daily from 1:30 to 5:30, with the exception of Monday, when it will remain closed. Public health department regulations require women and girls to wear swim caps.

Janice Christensen and Kay Abrams will take care of the office for the season.

Make Final Tax Payment

The Washington Water Power Co. paid $24,529.79 to Latah county last Friday, the last half payment of 1953 Idaho property tax payments.

Altogether, nine Idaho counties received $348,006.73, bringing to $699,709.33 the amount received in the two payments. E. W. Hatch, WWP district manager, said this is an increase of $243,227.40 or 53.3 per cent increase over the previous year, due primarily to the company's new Cabinet Gorge power plant on the Clark Fork river becoming subject to taxation as operating property.

In addition to the property taxes, WWP paid Idaho another approximately $225,000 in kilowatt hour, net income and other taxes on business operations.

Last week's payment to Latah county brought the total for the year to $49,059.58, up $1,171.47 over 1952 because of increased valuation.

Following is the amount of property taxes paid to the eight other Idaho counties last week: Benewah, $11,488; Bonner, $108,636; Clearwater, $11,699; Idaho, $13,687; Kootenai, $77,213; Lewis, $8,546; Nez Perce, $63,565; and Shoshone, $28,478.

Heavy Rain Wrecks Havoc

Last Wednesday afternoon saw a portion of this area drenched with rain, while other portions received but a light sprinkle.

On American ridge, where the main force of the storm seemed to center, the rain path just edged the Andy Cox ranch, hit the Benscoter Bros. land with a heavy rain, and then went on to dump hail and rain combined on the Walter May farm — some two inches of hail piling up in sheltered spots before the storm passed on to strike a part of Burnt ridge and then on to Cedar ridge.

At the Walter May ranch a rain recorder showed .8 inch of water in 20 minutes!

Boy Drowns During Picnic

Grangeville — A day-long search along Meadow Creek and the South Fork of the Clearwater river Monday failed to locate the body of a 3-year-old boy who drowned Sunday while on a picnic-fishing trip with his parents.

The boy was James Heath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Heath of Fenn. He was swept away by the turbulent waters of Meadow creek at about 11:15 Sunday morning after he and his brother, Michael, 7, wandered away from their parents.

The child's parents and his father's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Heath of Grangeville, were setting up camp about 20 miles southeast of here when he fell into the stream. As the child fell into the 20-foot-wide creek, Michael grabbed him by the hand and the two boys were swept to a rock several feet from shore. Michael clung to the rock and his brother disappeared.

Mrs. Heath and Earl Heath both plunged into the stream to save Michael, and all three almost lost their lives in their attempt to regain the shore through the turbulent water.

The boy was born in January of 1951 at Lewiston. His parents are employed at the Norman Dean ranch at Denver, 3 miles north of Fenn. Surviving besides his parents and brother are his paternal grandfather, Thomas Heath of Winchester, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carol Cox of Grangeville. — Lewiston Tribune.

Our Note: The Carol Cox family are former well-known residents of this area. Mr. Cox is a brother of Andy Cox, American ridge, and Mrs. Cox a sister of Mrs. Leonard Wolff, Leland.

Home Beautification Program

"Home Beautification" will be the subject of a 4-H landscaping demonstration Friday, June 18, at 1:30. It will be held at the J. C. Parker home two miles east of Moscow on the Robinson lake road.

Earl New, department of horticulture, University of Idaho, will lead demonstration. It is designed especially to assist those county 4-H Club members who are carrying on home beautification projects. Others will find material presented valuable in their own landscaping work.

Mrs. Fred Horning, Moscow, 4-H leader, is assisting with the demonstration preparations.

Celebrates Birthday Anniversary

Accompanying a subscription remittance comes the following brief note from Mrs. J. M. Emmett, former well known Kendrick resident, but not of Carrollton, Mo.: "A lot of friends and relatives gathered at my home to help me celebrate my ninety-first birthday anniversary on June 7th — with a big dinner.

"That night we had a watermelon feed with 14 relatives and friends present. I received so many birthday cards and letters, and cards are still coming — from Idaho and from here."

Rain, Rain, Rain And Rain!

Not so many years ago there was quite a famous motion picture entitled: "And The Rains Came," and that certainly could be applied to this section for the past three weeks!

There has been shower after shower — and rain after rain, and the end is not yet predicted by the weather bureau.

This continuing fall of moisture is posing quite a problem for local farmers, many of whom have alfalfa and other hay crops that should be cut — but who dares to mow in this kind of weather? Better to take the loss on over-maturity than to lose all by weather.

Then there are those who would like very much to get in their bean crop. Some have the ground ready, but find it too soggy to plant. Then there are those who had ground ready, but who must re-work due to the rapid growth of wild oats — and there are those who need sunshine for development of beans — not to mention spring grain.

Put it any way you like — good weather — sunshine — is badly needed in this area.

Community Summer Band

The first rehearsal of the Community Summer Band was held last Thursday evening with forty-one persons in attendance. The group is composed of Junior and Senior High school students in the main, but Ruth Hoffman, Don Ingle, Jerry Brown and Maxine Slind brought their instruments and moral help to aid the cause.

The next rehearsal is scheduled for Thursday, June 17, at 7:30, and any additional persons who would like to participate in the band are invited to bring their horns and aid the cause.

Plans are being made for two "old fashioned" band concerts to be given in the Kendrick park during the summer — one in the middle of July and one in the middle of August.

Beginning band will also be held on Thursday, June 17, with students requested to be at the Band building at 6:30 p. m.

Rev. F. C. Schmidt To Return

Word was received here Monday by Rev. Ed. Knight, who was in town visiting Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Schmidt, that all Methodist pastors in this district will return to their present churches with the exception of Rev. Walborn of Culesac, who goes to Kahlolus, Wash.

Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Schmidt are returned to Kendrick, with a change in their itinerary. They will no longer go to Lapwai, but will serve the Juliaetta and Kendrick churches.

Local residents will welcome this news, for in the past three years the Schmidt's have been here their earnest devotion to the church and its program has endeared them to all.

With the change in itinerary a change in hours of service was made possible. The new schedule will be found in the church announcements.

Spring Crickets

Now that the song of the lawn mower is beginning to be heard in the land again, we would like to remind our readers that the pushing of same antedates golf in America by some years, as a genteel form of exercise.

But the lawn mower, like golf and the horse and buggy, has yielded somewhat to progress. Golfers now have little go-carts in which to trundle the tools of their avocation, and some, we hear, even employ motorized carts for riding over uphill courses. Also, most buggies operate now-a-days without the aid of Dobbin. Similarly with lawn mowers. If you don't want to push, you don't have to. A gasoline motor will supply the power, and by inching open the handle-bar throttle control, you can work it up to a point where it will run your legs off to keep up with it.

Even so, as an old-time professional grass cutter, we are amused at some of these Buck Rogers stream-lined jobs. Above 67 mph, the engineers tell us, this airfoil design cuts down wind-resistance noticeably. But even in our best days (at twelve or so) we were never able to make more than half this speed!

Next time you trundle out the faithful mower and attack your velvety lawn, you might reflect that the first one, made in England in 1852 (Russia has apparently overlooked this gadget), was the invention of a rag-mill worker who adopted the revolving cutter used on the nap of rugs and carpets to his greensward. Fifteen years later, an American designer took his ideas of improvement to a Philadelphia machine shop where the first American models, the forerunners of the famous Pennsylvania mowers, were turned out.

And we think it is safe to say that more famous Americans of the present generation got their start behind a Pennsylvania lawn mower than behind Missouri mules — or a golf cart!

Bible School Is Over

Daily Vacation Bible School at the Kendrick Community church ended Friday with a showing of the work accomplished in the two-week period. Mothers and other members of the family being invited.

Average daily attendance was 35. The collection received will be turned over to a Missionary project.

All taxpayers are reminded that Monday, June 21st, is the final day for paying the second half of their real taxes for 1953.

STONY POINT NEWS

June 15 — Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rugg were charivariated Wednesday evening at the Newton Heath home. A large group of friends were present to wish the young couple happiness.

Mrs. Loren Ratliff and children and Pvt. David Steigers arrived late Saturday night to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Steigers. David had to leave again for Fort Lewis, Sunday afternoon. Another soldier, Kenneth Arnold, drove back with him, and Don Brown, John Groseclose and Ernest Wing went along to drive his car back.

A two-week Bible school was completed Friday evening at the Cottonwood Creek Community church, with a program put on by the 80 or more children who attended. Rev. and Mrs. Ed. Byrnes were directors of the school and were assisted by six teachers and their assistants — and by several mothers, who stayed and helped with the smaller children's classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Armor have moved to their newly purchased home in the Lewiston Orchards. Their place has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stedman, and they with their family of three, moved here about two weeks ago.

He Paid The Price

Some weeks ago, following tripping of the local fire siren, and the tearing down of power wires leading to the Union Service Station in the west part of town by a logging truck we made the remark that: "This was an opportunity for the state to collect in return for the damage done our roads."

And collect they did, for the driver was caught by Frank Shoemaker of the Idaho State Police, and Ed. Davis, Idaho State Police, Port of Entry. The driver pleaded guilty and paid his fine.

Officer Shoemaker stated that the load measured 17 feet and 10 inches in height!

Honor Wedding Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Peters of Opportunity, Wash., was the scene of a family reunion Sunday when thirty-four relatives gathered in observance of the Silver Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Reinemer of Opportunity (nee Miss Olive Morey).

A beautiful three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink roses and rosebuds and baked by Mrs. Walton Morey, centered the refreshment table.

Those in attendance were the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Reinemer; Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Long and children of Marble Creek, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wittkopf and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Raymon Berriment and James B. Fiske, all of Spokane; Mrs. O. E. Finch of Opportunity; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Galloway, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Morey and son and Clarence Morey, Kendrick; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kechter and children and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Perryman and son Gene of Southwick — and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Peters and children Leanne and Randy. Mr. and Mrs. Reinemer were presented a gift of silver.

Slide Hits N. P. Tracks

Last Wednesday afternoon an almost cloudburst hit near Bovard at about 3:30 o'clock, coming down the Bear ridge slope, with such force that a slide covered the Northern Pacific tracks, tying up traffic until about 5:30 the next morning. The up (or afternoon) train was held here on the side tracks all night.

The slide, which was about 150 feet long and from 10 to 12 feet at the deepest spots, presented quite a problem.

However, the TD-24 bulldozer of McKeever & Dammarell was pressed into service, loaded on a flat car of the high-ball, which was converted into a work train, and left for the scene of the slide. By working all night the tracks were cleared and traffic resumed about 6:00 o'clock Thursday morning.

RECEIVE VERY INTERESTING LETTER FROM DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyer have received a most interesting letter from their daughter, Miss Dorothy, who is a missionary in the Nellore District, South India, under date of April 17. It reads as follows:

Hello, Everyone! How nice it would be to talk to all of you in person instead of having to resort to this piece of paper, which can't talk back to me. God willing, next year I'll be able to do just that when I come home on furlough. However, for the time being I want to have a little visit with all of you.

Would you like to live in a place where you could have a steady diet of bananas or plantains as we call them here? If so, I know just the place for you. It is the little village of Momidi, which lies on the bank of a large river — a distance of about five miles from the sea, about 80 miles north of Madras, located in Nellore District — (just in case you're interested in looking for it on a map). Sometime ago I visited this village and found that plantains are as plentiful there as apples are in Yakima. Planted close together, about six feet apart, the plantain trees stand about 12 to 15 feet high and their broad shiny leaves provide a comfortable shade from the blazing tropical sun. It takes about six months for a tree to reach maturity. When the ripe fruit is removed the tree is cut down and new plants set out again. According to the dictionary the plantain is a kind of banana with fruit larger, less sweet, and more starchy than the ordinary banana. It is probably not proper to disagree with the dictionary, but if I remember correctly I would say that the banana we got at home is usually larger and not as sweet as the plantains out here, but don't quote me. Anyway, there are many varieties and they are in season the year around.

When one visits an Indian home for the first time it is custom to give the visitor some little gift or token of respect. It may be fruit, flowers, betel nut, a glass of milk, a cup of coffee or tea. When milk is given to me, my Indian friends always take special pains to tell me that it is cow's milk. (Buffalo milk, which, incidentally we use all the time, is considered inferior milk). Cow's milk is considered a delicacy, but I'm afraid I decline this treat if possible to do so without being too impolite. It has a decidedly unique flavor, but not one to my liking.

While in Momidi we visited many homes. In one of the high caste Hindu homes the woman of the house bought a New Testament. Then she turned to my married Bible woman, who lives in Momidi, and said, "Now you must come to my house every day and teach me about this book. Otherwise the book will be of little use to me." I was happy not only to hear her words, but to see her face, which reflected her sincerity and enthusiasm. We pray that through the reading of God's word she and many others like her may come to know Christ and find new life in Him who alone is the Way, the Truth, and the Life.

One evening while I was out in a village a little boy was stung by a scorpion. As you probably have heard a scorpion bite or sting is very painful. The boy was brought to me and immediately I started to apply medicine on his foot where he had received the bite. As I rubbed on the medicine I kept asking if the pain was lessening. The little boy continued to yell at the top of his voice and said the pain was not leaving at all. Finally I thought I would have to try some other medicine, but when I stopped rubbing and stood up the boy stopped crying. The people who were standing by wondering what this white missammah was going to do next told me that the boy was crying because he was afraid of me. Now that goes to show what kind of a doctor I am. My two nurse sisters would probably have another name for me. Anyway, my efforts were not in vain, because the boy got up and walked home. I've had a few close encounters with scorpions, but so far have escaped their contact. I have treated enough people for scorpion bites to know that it is no fun to get bitten by those poisonous rascals.

Right now the temperature is well over 100 degrees, and I must admit that I will not be sorry to go to Kodai this coming week. Tomorrow is Easter and as we celebrate this joyous day we know that we are joining with Christians round the world to praise our risen Lord and King.

In closing I send best wishes to all and my heart-felt thanks for your many letters, cards and remembrances. — With warmest greetings, Dorothy Meyer.

Leaving After Thirty-one Years

U. of I., Moscow — "Severing 31 years of connection with the University of Idaho is not an easy thing for me," President J. E. Buchanan told university students who staged a surprise rally in front of the Administration building where the president has held office for the last eight years.

Presented with luggage and a golf cap by student body president Philip Kieffner, Boise, on behalf of the students, Buchanan said: "This is a very heartwarming occasion... the University of Idaho will always occupy warm spots in the hearts of the Buchanan family."

Speaking for the students, Kieffner expressed "deepest thanks" for the president's eight years of service. "You (Buchanan) have brought the university a long way forward, and we only hope that we can continue in the patterns you have set for us," the ASUT president said.

Buchanan recently resigned from the university, effective June 30. With two exceptions, 1936-38 and 1942-46, his association with the institution has been continuous for 31 years, commencing with his enrollment as an engineering student in the fall of 1923. He is leaving the university to become president of the Asphalt Institute with headquarters in New York City.

Farallons, Bird Refuge,
Now Closed to Civilians

California's Farallon islands, whose 1950 U.S. census count of an even 30 inhabitants was reported complete before the April 1 official census started, found human traffic there far greater in the 19th century than it has been in the first half of the 20th.

Russian sealers occupied the bleak group, 26 miles west of San Francisco's Golden Gate, from 1812 to 1833, notes the National Geographic society. Drafting Indians and Aleuts as labor, they reduced seals from abundance to scarcity, taking close to 200,000 skins for the China trade. Sir Francis Drake had restocked his vessel with seal meat at the Farallons in 1579.

During the 1849 gold rush in California, food was scarce in San Francisco. Egg-gathering from the nests of gulls and murres on the Farallons became profitable and well organized, and the traffic continued for many years. Finally, bird lovers stepped in, and the islands are now a bird refuge, closed to civilians from April to August.

The Farallons, known but little even to mainland Californians, consist of three pinpoint groups of rocky islets spreading over seven miles of the Pacific ocean air and water lanes of trans-Pacific travel. Paradoxically, although they are officially part of the City of San Francisco, the mayor and other city officials may not set foot on them without special permission.

The permission must come from the 12th coast guard district based in San Francisco. It provides the personnel that maintains the powerful beacon 358 feet above sea level atop Southeast Farallon, the only inhabited island of the group.

The lighthouse-keeping families live in neat, white houses at the foot of the high beacon cliff. A radar station and an automatic fog-signal horn complete the island's important navigation aid equipment.

Human Regard for Criminal Modern Idea, Says Educator

The idea that the legal offender shares a common humanity with his nonoffender brother is a relatively novel conception and regards the criminal as a human being and not subhuman, specialhuman, superhuman, inhuman, robothuman, or extrahuman, Dr. Robert Lindner, clinical psychologist at Harlem Lodge, Catonsville, Maryland, told the first session of the third annual institute on crime and delinquency which University of California extension held in Los Angeles recently.

Declaring that "offenders, too are human," Dr. Lindner pointed out that the modern view of the criminal historically succeeds the primitive, theological, philosophical, mechanical, and psychiatric views. "The modern view is based on a total approach to the offender, including the whole person and his history in the world; it is based upon scientific knowledge that is reaching a level of maturity; its sources are biological, anthropological, sociological, and psychological. Among these, the psychoanalytical appears to be the most fruitful and comprehensive."

Study Hydrogen Bonds

While other scientists the nation over concern themselves with hydrogen bombs, Dr. Joseph W. Ellis and Dr. Leonard Glatt of the physics department of the University of California are busy with hydrogen bonds—a study more closely related to everyday life. Hydrogen bonds are links which assist in holding together the long molecular chains found in many of the substances we use in our daily life. These links are formed by the sharing of a proton (hydrogen nucleus) between two units of the same or different molecules. Examples of substances they bind together are liquid water, proteins, and many plastics, including nylon.

From Everywhere

The ingredients of paint products literally come from the world's four corners. Take, for example, a quarter pint can of varnish stain. It's packed in a shipping case made from fibre that may have come from Norway. The paper for the label may have come from the same place. The tin for the can probably came from either Bolivia or Malaya. The contents may consist of linseed oil that came from Argentina, the drier from Asia, tung oil from China, resin from Africa and dyes from England. Skillfully combined by American know-how, the user benefits from world-wide activity which he seldom realizes.

Making Good Soils

"Somehow the notion gets around," says Dr. Charles E. Kellogg of the U. S. department of agriculture, "that originally our farm soils were highly productive; that is, productive when first plowed. Many of them were, like the black lands in our Middle West and in central Eurasia, for example, and in some of the great deltas and alluvial valleys. But most soils are not. It is through liming and fertilization, drainage, irrigation, the introduction of legumes, and a host of other practices, that farmers have made their soils productive," explains Dr. Kellogg.

Medical School Enrollments Are Setting New Records

Medical schools of the United States in the last year took further steps to protect the future health of the nation by enrolling the largest number of students in their history.

This was revealed in the 51st annual report on medical education in the United States and Canada, compiled by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association. The report was prepared by Dr. Donald G. Anderson of Chicago, secretary of the council, and his aides, Dr. Francis R. Manlove and Mrs. Anne Tipner.

A total of 26,191 students were enrolled in 79 approved schools in the United States for the 1950-51 academic year. This compares with the previous high record of 25,103 in the year before, an increase of 1,088 (4.1%). Since 1941, when there was an enrollment of 21,379 students in 77 approved schools, the increase has been 4,812 (22.5%).

The report also disclosed that the current academic year will see a continuation of this increase in medical education because of the enrollment of a record freshman class. It is estimated that about 7,400 new students will enter medical schools, compared with the previous record of 7,182 a year ago.

Also important from a future health protection standpoint was a survey which showed plans were under way in many states for the opening of additional medical schools and for the expansion of existing facilities.

"Significant progress is being made toward resolving the financial problems of the medical schools," the report also said. "Funds available to the schools during 1951-52 will total approximately $109,600,000, which represents an increase of $36,000,000 in the last four years."

Psychologist Believes Kids Aren't Bad—Just Problems

There are no "naughty children" or "problem children," in the opinion of one distinguished child psychologist, there are only "children with problems."

"In modern days, we should not talk any longer about 'the naughty child' or 'a problem child' but should try to find the reasons back of the problems of the child."

Dr. Reymert, who is Director of The Mooseheart Laboratory for Child Research at Mooseheart, Illinois, explores some of these reasons and finds that most of them are related to a lack of understanding of the child and his needs, on the part of the parent.

He observes that "one child may be naughty because he feels that he is being blamed and criticized too much. Another child may misbehave because he feels that his parents are not interested in him and do not pay enough attention to him. A third child may use this means to rebel against excessive restrictions or confinements."

"It is toward removing the cause or causes for the child's naughtiness that we must turn our attention rather than toward even stricter and more severe discipline," Dr. Reymert points out.

Insomnia

Although many people are troubled with various types of insomnia, there is no one who "just can't sleep at all" for any length of time. There is a type of insomnia where one can't get to sleep easily, but after he has fallen asleep, he sleeps soundly. In another type, the person awakens often during sleep and, although he seldom stays awake for long, things he is awake for hours. Still another type is the person who awakens early and can't get back to sleep. The person who "just can't sleep at all," however, is non-existent. It is impossible to live without sleep. Even though one is troubled with insomnia, if he has a good sleep foundation, he will doze off—although he may not realize it. On a good quality sleep foundation, it is impossible to resist sleep for long unless there is something physically wrong with a person.

Stop Sediment

To prevent the sediment that accumulates in the bottom of a tea kettle from hard water, throw away immediately the remaining amount of boiling water which you are not going to use. Do not allow the boiling water to settle in the kettle. Installation of a water softener, to treat the hard water and get rid of the compounds that cause the sediment, would also eliminate the deposit.

Earth and Gravity

The force of gravity is lessened by the centrifugal force produced by the Earth's rotation because of centrifugal force. The effect of gravity at the equator is about one part in 289 less than it would be on a stationary Earth, or than it is at the poles, where there is no such force. The centrifugal force also throws the surface of the Earth at the equator about 13 miles farther than the poles from the center. This causes a further decrease in gravity, so a man who weighs 189 pounds at the pole would only weigh 188 pounds at the equator, as measured by a spring balance. Ordinary scales would not show this, since the weights used would be equally affected.

They Love Their Tea!
Americans now drink nearly a pound of tea a year, but this is far below the British, who average 15 pounds per person per year!

It is believed that tea was first used as a medicine rather than as a beverage.

Tea was used by the Chinese more than 500 years before Christ.

Our tree farms
are raising trout

Potlatch maintains a short wave radio network covering 7,000 square miles of operating area. Lives have been saved through this means of quick communication in the woods. Its transmitters in logging camps, in trains and at landings are ready to help fishermen, campers and other visitors to our Tree Farms in times of real emergency.

GOOD TIMBER MANAGEMENT provides continuing benefits for all Idaho citizens. Timber is the principal crop of Tree Farms, but an important by-product is Recreation. During the fishing season, sportsmen travel on logging roads built primarily to harvest a forest crop. The roads built by Potlatch Forests, Inc., are available to the public for fishing, camping and hunting. Sportsmen are free to come and go, and are expected only to observe restrictions imposed by fire hazards and safety measures for the protection of the public. Has Filed For Re-election

Jack McQuade, judge of the District Court of the Second Judicial district, has filed with the secretary of state his declaration of candidacy and petition for reelection.

Prior to his election to the district bench, McQuade, who has lived in Moscow 27 years, was a local attorney. During his residence at Moscow he has been a member of many fraternal, service and civic organizations, and was active in youth work and Scouting. He has been an officer of the Latah and Clearwater Bar associations. After 4 1/2 years in the army during World War II he became active in American Legion affairs and served a year's term as state commander.

He has presided over Idaho and Lataha County courts for a number of years and on several occasions has been called to sit with the Idaho Supreme court on cases in which one of the elected justices was disqualified. He has been designated by the governor and other district judges to try special cases in ten counties outside his own district.

Judge McQuade has introduced pretrial procedures, the use of discovery rules and other practices which speed litigation and reduce expenses for litigants and taxpayers alike. Court calendars have been brought up to date and jury cases can be tried as soon as they are at issue. Out of more than 300 decisions handed down in his court, only two have been reversed by the Supreme Court.

Admitted to practice before both the United States Supreme Court and the Idaho Supreme Court, Judge Mc-Quade practiced in Idaho before both state and federal courts. He is a member of the Clearwater and Idaho Bar associations and the American Judiciary Society of the American Bar association.

Mr. and Mrs. Perryman say the reception for the two stations was excellent, although they could not be held for any length of time.
