TIGER MAPLEMEN OPEN SEASON DRILLS TUESDAY, MEET LIND, WASH., DEC. 2

The Kendrick Tigers opened basketball drills on Tuesday afternoon, Coach Dennis Racicot told the Gazette today. He said there are 31 boys turning out for the "A" and "B" squads.

The first game of the season will be against Lind, Washington, and will be played on the home court, Dec. 2nd, using the new gym. for the first time.

The Tigers have a full schedule of 20 games, with eight being conference encounters. Eleven of the 20 games will be played on the home court, with nine being played away. The first conference game will be on December 13, against Kamiah, on the home court.

Regarding League play, Coach Racicot said, "The White Pine League, of which Kendrick is a member, will again decide its representatives to the District Tournament by percentage play. Three representatives will be allowed from each sub-district this year, making a total of nine teams competing for the District Championship instead of the usual eight. The District Tournament will be held in Lewiston, beginning Feb. 27th, and running through the 4th of March.

Returning lettermen scheduled to see action this year are: Bill Blewett, Doug, Shepherd, Steven Groseclose, Fred Foster, Burton Bowen and Marion Harrison. (Harrison was not in school last year, but earned his letter in the '58-59 season).

Coach Racicot also reported that the new bleachers for the gymnasium are here, and are to be installed in the near future. The new score clock is also here, and will be in by the first game.

BEN P. COOKS CHAT WITH CHILDREN VIA HAM RADIO SETS

Sunday afternoon, Jerry Brown tuned in his ham radio set to pick up Ben P. Cook at Hailey, Idaho, enjoyed a visit with him, and then made it possible for Mr. and Mrs. Cook to visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Deobald and children.

All reported good reception and transmission, and a lengthy conversation.

Jerry told the Gazette that Mr. Cook is enjoying his teaching at Hailey, and also how much he is enjoying the beautiful scenery and the wonderful out-of-door activities. It is reported by Mr. Cook that a 15-minute hike from his house provides wonderful fishing, and also that bird hunting is excellent.

Mr. Cook has been a ham radio operator for many years, and has enjoyed the use of this radio, which while he was in Kendrick, was connected with the Civil Defense Unit.

GRANGERS WORK SCHOOL GROUNDS

The grounds at the new Jr.-Sr. High school were alive with ambitious Grangers Tuesday morning, who came to get the yard in shape for seeding. The first step was picking rocks — then spreading dirt, to make ready for the top soil, which will be hauled in from Big Bear ridge.

Those taking part in the project as of Tuesday morning were Mrs. Lauren Holmington, Mrs. Gerald Ingle, Nora Callison, Henry Galloway, Gerald Ingle, Wayne Davis, Andy Cox and Dick Benjamin.

HALLOWE'EN QUIET

"Little Spooks, Big Spooks and Middle-sized Spooks" made their usual calls Halloween evening, carrying big sacks and demanding "trick or treat." However, all apparently ended there, for as far as we have been able to learn there was no vandalism around town. Of course windows were soaped (but most of them needed washing anyway).

The UNICEF drive was well received and the Halloween parties sponsored by the Community Church kept a large group of children in and off the streets. A parade of the little "Hobgoblins" up Main Street in the early part of the evening worked off a little energy and allowed them to show off their costumes.

FIRST LATAH HUNT FATALITY

Deary — Marvin R. Ailor, 44, of 308 Skyline Drive, Lewiston, was killed by a hunter's bullet seven miles west of here Sunday morning.

Latah County Coroner Donald Ward said the fatal shot was apparently fired at about 7:15 by William F. Van Stone, 28, Walla Walla. He was a member of a second party of eight hunters which had pursued a wounded deer into a meadow near the community of Avon.

Ward said Ailor was apparently on a direct line with Van Stone and the deer when the shot was fired. He said hunters in both parties said they thought they heard three shots fired. Van Stone said he fired twice. Ailor's rifle had an empty cartridge in the chamber. — Lewiston Tribune.

The contest is sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the National Wool Growers Association, and the American Wool Council. Thirty-seven girls entered their sewing in the contest.

First prize winners in the Senior division (girls ages 18-22) were Linda Scoville of Potlatch, a U. of I. student. Second place winner was Patricia Nelson of Kendrick, also a U. of I. student, who modeled a gray wool coat she constructed. Winners in the Junior division (ages 14-17) were Lynn Anderson of Moscow, first, and Marilyn Byrnes of Culesac, second. Julia Byrnes of Culesac was the 13-year-old Sub-Deb winner.

First place winners in the Junior and Senior divisions were awarded an all-expense paid trip to the state contest to be held in Pocatello on Nov. 14. Second place winners were awarded skirt of coat lengths of Pendleton wool fabrics.

The wool garments entered in the district competition were judged on the basis of quality of workmanship and the total effect of the costume when modeled by the girl. District judges for this year's contest were Mrs. Paul Wetter and Mrs. Venice Parker of Moscow, and Mrs. Norman Lewis of Kendrick.

RAIN WELCOMED

Rain, which began falling Sunday night, was welcomed by the farmers in the area. Fall work is generally completed — and it's now just a question of "growing weather" for crops already in the ground — and most of them area.

Sunday was over-cast, the day dawning with bright sunshine and a thick white frost, but the temperature climbed as the cloudiness increased, and a high of 61 was recorded.

We might say that most local residents (who weren't hunting) spent the day raking and hauling leaves and in general cleaning up about their homes, traffic being almost non-existent on the highways.

November rolled in with a warm wind, and at 6:15 Tuesday morning the thermometer read 44 degrees!

CONSTRUCTION IS APPROVED BY HOSPITAL BOARD

Moscow, Oct. 27 — The executive board of the Moscow Hospital Association this week put its stamp of approval on the project to provide a new four-story wing for the Grigman Memorial Hospital here. Only the formality of signing contracts, both with the federal government and the building contractor remains before the first sod is turned.

The board authorized the drafting of a contract for building the new hospital wing with Hazen & Clark Construction Co., which submitted a low basic bid of $485,514. Board Chairman R. K. Bonnett said construction should get underway "within ten days or two weeks."

In addition to its action dealing directly with the new wing, the board also outlined its financial program. It reported $106,000 in cash, raised through donations by Latah county residents, plus $64,000 in pledges on call and a bank commitment of $200,000. This will provide $370,000, of which nearly $330,000 will be matched by federal funds from the Hill-Burton Act.

The remaining $40,000 will be held in reserve until such time as remodeling of the present hospital can be undertaken. The remodeling estimate is $80,000.

ELECT LEN BIELEBERG

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY (LATAH COUNTY)

(pd. pol. adv. by Len Bieleberg)

To The Voters Of Latah County:

Sometimes busy people are so busy they don't have time to toot their own horn. We feel someone must — that is, toot the horn for Edna M. Theriault for re-election as Latah County's Treasurer and Ex-Officio Tax Collector.

Why must we do it and not Edna? Because she is conscientiously doing her job and won't take time from her duties to actively campaign for the office. That alone, is one reason we feel she should be re-elected.

Her past service as treasurer of Latah County is undeniably a record of honesty, ability and experience. She has annually handled over a million dollars. And, too, she has accomplished the complicated job in a meticulous and efficient manner at little expense to the taxpayer. Her efficiency is proved by the fact that while county government has grown, she has been able to cope with this growth without adding more than the necessary minimum expense to her operation.

The tax rolls of Latah County are complicated. To introduce new personnel into the job of handling the county's taxes and funds is an even larger job. Furthermore, it is expensive. Why then should the treasurer be changed, especially when one so capable as Edna Theriault is doing the job so successfully?

We endorse Edna's re-election. So let's keep a good servant and reward her service with a vote.

SLUG CONTROL IS BIG PROBLEM

U. of I., Moscow — The garden slug, that slimy character who spends his time eating tender foliage, buds, petals, flowers and pasture crops throughout all of Idaho has no known economical control, says Roland Portman, extension entomologist at the University of Idaho.

Where there is moisture there are slugs, Portman explains, and this same moisture causes known control materials to lose their effectiveness.

The active ingredient used in most commercial slug killers is metaldehyde. This is mixed with dry apple pumice and compressed to form pellets. Dew causes the pellets to disintegrate quickly. This can be prevented in the garden by covering the pellets with small boards or shingles to keep the dew off. This moisture factor and high cost per acre makes metaldehyde pellets impractical and to expensive to use in infested fields. Metaldehyde is poisonous to livestock, another disadvantage to the chemical.

A second control material is a mixture of one part copper sulfate to nine parts hydrated lime. This dust mixture is also inactivated by moisture, Portman says. Still another control material is wood ashes. The ashes, spread on the ground where slugs are found, cause them to dehydrate, a condition the slug cannot tolerate. For the ashes to be effective, slugs must contact them while they are still dry.

University researchers have been working on an economical and effective "slugicide" for years, but with no success. Certain flies are their only known natural enemies, Portman concluded.

WEATHER AND AUTOMOBILE SAFETY

Boise — Weather conditions have a noticeable effect on traffic, but all of the inclement weather is not necessarily an enemy of traffic safety, says the Traffic Safety Division.

For instance, Idaho's 1960 high record for traffic accidents was in January, when the number reported was 46 percent above the monthly average. At the same time personal injuries were 24 percent below the monthly average.

January weather was not only inclement, it was genuinely bad throughout the state, precipitation along with freezing temperatures formed ice on highways and travel was below normal. Those who did travel confined it to the barest necessity and to urban areas rather than making use of highways for long trips. Careful driving was on the minds of most motorists, but ice and snow resulted in intersection collisions at low speeds, or sliding off the road at speeds adjusted to the extremely adverse conditions.

The force of impact, whether with another vehicle, a fixed object, or the borrow pit, was lessened because of slower speeds, which failed to produce as many personal injuries as usual.

With the arrival of spring, accidents went down, but clear roads and the disappearance of the threat of poor driving conditions because of bad weather, the number of personal injuries rose as the average speed was increased.

The pattern curved upward in July as miles of travel reached its peak, accidents and injuries rose far above average as greater speeds were used. This brought far fewer accidents than January's unfavorable weather, but nearly a third more personal injuries.

Although fatalities were at their lowest point in January, when seven persons were killed, ensuing monthly totals failed to conform with the ratio of accidents and injuries, as shown by June's record of fewer than average accidents, more than average injuries, and the 1960 high point of 27 deaths, from which point the index slowly dipped.

Now, as winter closes in, it behooves every driver to carefully suit his speed to road and weather conditions. In short, be his own law enforcement officer.

SHOW OFF IDAHO POTENTIALS

San Francisco — Leading San Francisco area industrialists and business men got a thorough briefing on the Gem State's economic potential last week when 125 Idahoans were here to publicize their state.

Headed by Gov. Robert E. Smylie and Louise Shadduck, department of Commerce and Development secretary, the Idahoans made personal calls on industrialists whose business could tie into Idaho's economy. On Tuesday 200 bay area industrialists attended a luncheon at the St. Francis Hotel when San Francisco's Mayor, George Christopher, paid tribute to the enthusiasm and energy of the Idaho group. "You Idahoans are the most charming show-offs we've ever had in San Francisco," Christopher said.

Delegation members told the industrialists they contacted that Idaho welcomes industries, particularly those which can utilize the state's natural resources.

All of the Idahoans said that the business men in the bay area are genuinely interested in Idaho. "We know that our message about Idaho's industrial potential made a lot of sense to California business men who could profitably expand into Idaho," Miss Shadduck said.

The Idahoans said they were very warmly received wherever they went. "Business men down here were glad to listen to us and hear our reasons for their taking a good look at Idaho," one delegation member said.

TURKEYS PROVE POPULAR FOOD

U. of I., Moscow — The national average of turkey consumption is about one bird for every three people, or six pounds per person, says Robert E. Black, extension poultryman with the University of Idaho.

Idaho produces about 300,000 — meeting the state consumption needs — with two-thirds or more grown in Boise and the Magic Valley areas.

Nationally, a portion of the surplus is purchased by the U. S. D. A. for the schools participating in the National School Lunch program with the major buying season for the family still around Thanksgiving and Christmas, Black continues.

Family size birds are usually the 12 to 15 pound hen, and the 25 to 30 pound toms are largely purchased by the hotels and large eating places all the year round.

There are two breeds of turkeys, differentiated by their feather color. One, the broad breasted white is preferred by the processing plants over the broad breasted brown because they are easier to clean, Black explains.

A new variety on the market is the Small White Beltsville, developed at the U. S. D. A. research center laboratories at Beltsville, Maryland. These weigh from 5 to 10 pounds and are ideal for the small family.

Black concluded with: "Another fairly recent variety is a turkey fryer, which weighs from 4 to 6 pounds."

HUNTERS SWARM!

The local big game season opened Saturday morning, October 29 — and did the hunters swarm into the territory.

Said one local hunter: "Cars, pickups and trucks were so thick you could hardly find a place to pull off the road, let alone park. I thought

I was at the 'Homecoming Festivities at the University of Idaho'."

It was a beautiful day — and being Saturday, everyone for hundreds of miles around apparently was trying for a deer or an elk.

Starting Thursday, and continuing through Friday, the outfits rolled in an almost steady stream through Kendrick. There were big cars, little cars, foreign cars, jeeps, pickups, pickups with campers, pickups pulling small trailers, and truck of every description — some with horses, going out for a try at big game.

The rain of Wednesday and Thursday made dirt and logging roads mighty slick and dangerous, but they did cut down the fire danger and did away with the snapping and pop-

Good for IDAHO TAXPAYERS Good for YOU

The Brewing Industry is an important part of Idaho's growing economy. In one way or another about 4,000 Idaho families receive a substantial portion of their wages from the beer business, agriculture or manufacturing of products used by the Brewing Industry. This includes wholesalers, retailers, hop growers, malting barley growers, etc. Income tax and other taxes paid by this sector of the Gem State's economy are a big boost to the general income of Idaho.

Of added importance to Idaho's economy is the nearly $3.5 million paid annually by the Brewing Industry in Idaho to local, state and federal governments in taxes and license fees; indeed a fair share in support of the Gem State.

PARK PATTERN

By Mrs. Ben J. Smith

HUNTING SEASON — Hunting season opened "with a bang" and then some in and around Park Saturday. The weather was dark and rainy, but that didn't discourage the hunters too much. Many car and pickup loads of red-clad men cruised the roads in the area. Probably the two happiest young men in the area Sunday were Bruce Baumgartner and Paul Kirk, cousins from Deary. Each one killed his first elk. Bruce getting a large cow and Paul bagging a bull with a near-perfect four-point set of horns.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY — The children of Park and their mothers were entertained Sunday afternoon at a Hallowe'en party hosted by Mrs.
Glenn Fox and Maxine, and Mrs.
Jerry Smith and Barbie. Instead of playing the usual games, the time was used in making favors for the Hallowe'en lunch trays at Gritman Hospital in Moscow. The favors were pipe cleaner figures dressed to resemble spooks with small nut cups at one side. Those attending besides the hostesses were Mrs. Mickey Baumgartner, Joy and Jimmy; Mrs.
Helen McKinney, Doug and E. uce;
Kathy Enger, and Mrs. Katey Lord, Patty, Stevie and Lenny.

OTHER ITEMS — Mrs. Charles Gudmunson was in Deary Tuesday to visit Mrs. Harold Mael. On Saturday her grandchildren visited with her while their mother, Mrs. Clariss Ireland and her brother, Melvin Gudmunson, went hunting.

ine were in Moscow Friday to consult a doctor, after Mr. Fox burned his eyes on a flash from an arc welder.

Lewiston on business Friday.

Deary visited his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ted McKinney and family, Sunday evening.

and children were in Lewiston on business Thursday.

When Charles Jelleberg dined with the Jerry Smiths, Sunday evening, he told of bagging a yearling bull elk the day before.

Mrs. Dorothy Lancaster and son John visited the Enger family Sunday evening.

livestock shows that the Idaho team has won this event," said C. W. Hodgson, associate professor and team out of first place. In addition to the first place in swine, the students placed second in horses and third in beef.

TO TEACH USE OF
WHEAT IN DIET

The Japanese Dry Noodle Association and Western Wheat Associates have concluded a formal agreement to provide a training program for Japanese noodle manufacturers in the art of making better noodles with white wheat from the United States, according to Rex Ard, Rexburg, the president of the Idaho State Wheat Growers Association.

Ard, who is touring Japan and Korea with Idaho Wheat Commission administrator Harold West, to inspect U. S. wheat marketing activities in the Far East, said the training of noodle makers was a program which could promote the use of much more Idaho wheat in Japan.

"Dry noodle manufacturers in Japan use white wheat almost exclusively," he explained, "and of course this white wheat comes mostly from the Pacific Northwest."

He noted that Japan was a traditional rice eating country, and that noodles made from wheat have not been common in the Japanese diet.

HELLO, FOLKS:

Well, by golly, it was "frost on the punkin" alright Friday night, wasn't it? And that calls to mind — have you checked your fuel oil tank lately? If not, better do it right now, and then give us a call at 4251 for that hot, clean-burning Union Heating Oil. We'll hurry.

Arrested at passing a car ahead at excessive speed, the defendant was asked if he was guilty or not guilty.

"Your honor, I plead not guilty. It was a case of self defense."

"Self-defense? What do you mean?"

"Your honor, the driver of the car ahead of me was a woman. At a crossing she put out her hand for a left turn, turned on her turn lights for a right turn, and then went straight ahead! What would you have done?"

"Case dismissed," said the old judge.

FOLKS — We don't know a thing about your politics — nor does it matter — just so you turn out and vote next Tuesday, Nov. 8. But when you come into town to vote, leave your car, truck or pickup here with us for a thorough winter servicing. Grease job, oil change, "the works." Better be safe than sorry, with winter just around the corner.

Steno (to a window cleaner): "Do you see many strange and wonderful sights?"

Window Washer: "And how! I just saw an office on the fourth floor where everybody's working!"
